Invaders Forced to Fall Back.

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

ADDIS ABABA, Jan. 12.—Dripping skies came to the aid of Ethiopia's fighting men—far ahead of time.

There no longer is any doubt that the "little" rainy season is in full swing. Sheetlike rain has fallen since New Year's eve from Tigre province, in the north, to Arussi, south of Addis Ababa, wiping out roads in many sections of the north.

This means, in the opinion of veteran foreign observers, that all fighting must cease in the north, and, possibly, in the south.

Italians Fall Back.

Mussolini's Italians have retreated from the Tembien mountain region, north and west of Makale, before deluges which forced them to fall back in order to maintain their communications more easily.

There even was a rumor yesterday that Makale itself had been retaken by the Ethiopian northern armies, but it was wholly unconfirmed.

However, the foreign observers here feel the Italians not only will have to halt all operations, but their communications will be so badly disrupted that they may have to retreat eventually to Adowa and Adigrat in the north and to Ualual in the south.

Since the Fascists have been unable to penetrate the country in force for more than 60 or 70 miles on either front, the Ethiopians feel the rains mean the only real victory of the war since it began in early October.

Tribesmen Are Jubilant.

The "little" rains last for at least six or eight weeks, and the tribesmen are jubilantly arranging Thanksgiving celebrations in churches throughout the land. Not since 1930 has the "little" season started so early.

With the so-called "big rainy season" beginning in May or June, depending on the section of the country, Mussolini's widely heralded campaign "to spread Italian culture" in the black empire will be at a virtual standstill until at least next October.

Even in the vicinity of Addis Ababa, where there are some of the best roads in the country, a one hour rainfall frequently makes highways virtually impassable.

Roads Washed Away.

The downpours of the "little" season, which is shorter, but just as destructive as the summer season, are inevitable in all northern provinces. Whole sections of roads are washed away and numerous mountain slides occur in towering passes between Makale and Dessye.

Due to a southeasterly current from the Red sea, rains are frequent in the Danakil country all through the winter, and in the Ogaden unseasonable rains have already had a detrimental effect on the Italian attempt to push a wedge northward from Ualual. Malaria has been especially serious in the Ogaden.

Loyally obeying Emperor Haile Selassie's strict command to kill time and avoid being drawn into battle by the Italians, the Ethiopian chieftains now are realizing the wisdom of their little ruler's strategy.

For a time many rases and chieftains openly proclaimed their chagrin and humiliation because they were ordered to keep their troops at home. Those in the frontier provinces were the hardest to keep in leash.

"Battles" Called Fakes.

Thus far, say military observers, there have been few battles worthy of that name. Many reported engagements later proved to be downright fakes.

The late Dr. Robert Hochman of Wheaton, Ill., American Red Cross worker, who was the foreigner closest to any fighting in the south before he was killed by the accidental explosion of a bomb, wrote a humorous description of a battle at Anele, in the Agaden. He said it consisted of several minor skirmishes until the two main armies crept within sight of each other. Then both sides fled.

ALL HANDS LOST IN RAGING SEAS; RESCUE BALKED

(Picture on Back Page.)

Portland, Ore., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—All hands, numbering 34 officers and men, were drowned today when the States Line freighter Iowa foundered at the mouth of the Columbia river. It was the north Pacific's worst disaster in many years.

Pounding seas, whipped by a storm that has lashed the coast for two days, prevented coast guard crews from Astoria and Cape Disappointment from reaching the vessel, which was smashed to pieces on treacherous Peacock spit.

Fear for Other Vessels.

During the day there were various reports from coast guard and lighthouse sources that one or two other vessels had piled up on the sands. As the day wore on these reports lost credence.

Mountainous waves, churned by a mile wind, prevented coast guard boats from approaching closer than a mile to the Iowa, which went on the rocks at about 1:30 a. m.

At 4 a. m. the freighter sent out a distress call, but no further message was heard. Shortly after daybreak the Iowa raised two sets of flags, apparently distress signals, but poor visibility prevented their being read ashore.

Seas Hammer Freighter.

Roaring seas carried away the freighter's bridge and stack as the first rescue crew approached.

They reached the stricken vessel after seas had quieted somewhat, circled it several times, and saw no sign of life.

Everything had been swept by the board save one mast. Lumber, shingles, canned fish, flour, and cases of matches littered the shoreline and were eagerly salvaged by hundreds of spectators.

Six bodies washed up on the Washington shore bore evidence of the terrific pounding the freighter had undergone. The clothing on the bodies was torn, and one man had suffered a gaping wound in the neck and was scarred from contact with the wreckage which was floating ashore.

The bodies, wearing lifebelts, were washed ashore near Klipsap Beach, Wash., about 4 p. m. today. Two were identified from seamen's papers as those of Marion J. Perick, 28, of New Orleans, ship's carpenter, and O. A. Meyers of Portland. The others were unidentified.

Rescue Ship Damaged.

When the coast guard cutter Onondaga returned to port this afternoon after an unsuccessful attempt to reach the Iowa its crew reported that only a portion of the vessel remained in the roaring breakers.

The Onondaga itself took a severe buffeting in its efforts to reach the Iowa. Mountainous seas carried away the cutter's rigging and stove in a motor lifeboat on the deck and swept it into the ocean.

The coast guard crew attempted to place a line on the freighter, but so heavy were the seas that the rescue boat was unable to hold its position.

IT LOOKS MIGHTY BAD FOR MINOOKA'S CHIEF TOBACCO CHEWING FAN

Detectives have been busy theorizing about the identity of the burglar who broke into Seemen's general store at Minooka, in Grundy county, early yesterday. This was made known in a message from Grundy county authorities to the Chicago police.

"Please arrest former resident of Minooka wearing 9½ shoes 14½ shirt, probably carrying a lead half dollar with teeth marks on it and chewing North State tobacco," was the tenor of the request.

The coin, it was said, acquired the teeth marks when Minookans tested it in its rounds. It was taken in the burglary, as were the shoes, the shirt, some cheese, bacon, corned beef, sardines, men's socks and women's stockings, also Seemen's entire stock of North State tobacco.

The former resident of the village is suspected because he was Minooka's principal user of that particular brand of tobacco and sales have fallen off since he came to Chicago.

FIND WOMAN, 86, STARVING IN HER EVANSTON HOME

Mrs. Mary Waterous, 86 years old, was found nearly starved late last in her 15 room house at 2447 Ridge avenue. She had been alone for about a week and was too feeble on account of her illness to summon aid.

Policemen who broke in found her lying on a bed and covered with several blankets. All the water pipes in the house had frozen and burst and water had leaked through the ceilings of nearly every room.

The plight of Mrs. Waterous was disclosed to the police by Mrs. Julia Fick, 2049 Maple avenue, Evanston, a relative of Edward Procknow, who lived in the Waterous home. Procknow broke an ankle a week ago and has been in a hospital. He expressed fears Mrs. Waterous was suffering and Mrs. Fick immediately asked police aid.

Mrs. Waterous refused to leave her home in which she has lived 35 years, and neighbors, knowing that her ownership of the place was an obsession, announced they would tend her for the present. It was said title to the place was about to be taken from her. Mrs. Waterous is the widow of John Waterous, who was in the book business in Chicago for many years.

Nazis Revive Pomp of Kaiser at Berlin Ball

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—Old and new Germany mixed in the most sumptuous fête celebrated in Berlin in a decade last night and early today when Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, minister of air and premier of Prussia, summoned officials, diplomats, friends and would-be friends to the annual opera ball. The traditional event was held on the eve of Goering's 41st birthday.

It was the most brilliant assembly of princes, military officers, Nazi officials, and diplomats in gala attire, and splendidly dressed women seen in Germany since the days of Kaiser Wilhelm II. About 3,000 persons attended the ball.

A floor was constructed across the opera auditorium from the stage to the broad steps leading to the former imperial box. Corinthian columns as high as the huge stage were set against light tangerine colored silk which was spread from the floor to the ceiling.

Men in Gold Braid.

The lights were reflected in the spray of fountains, in the jewelry of the women and the gold braid of the men. Tables were set for the guests of honor in the boxes and on the gallery.

Waiters wore silver coats. Butlers in scarlet coats, black breeches, white stockings, and black pumps lined the marble lobbies. Each held a yellow candle burning in a fluted glass, which was mounted on a staf of scarlet.

Officers of the air force in their trim gray-blue uniforms formed the majority of the guests. Gen. Goering wore this uniform as well as all his medals. He was greeted with fervent "heils" by friends and with bows by princes and diplomats as he stood in his box. He accepted the cheers in a truly regal manner.

In a small box opposite his impressive one the Hohenzollern princes were packed closely. Former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, in the uniform of the Hussars, never twitched an eyelid as the triumphant Goering stood in the box from which Friedrich Wilhelm, as a young prince, frequently accepted and returned the dignified bows of his father's subjects.

Former Crown Princess Cecilie, resplendent in diamonds, whispered to her husband and to Princess Oscar, wife of the former kaiser's fifth son. Prince Eitel Friedrich, Wilhelm's second son, in an old army uniform, sat in the rear of the box with other Hohenzollerns.

In a large box opposite Goering sat the former czar of the Bulgarians, Ferdinand. Duke Edward of Saxe, Coburg and Gotha was host to members of the British delegation sent to Germany by the Anglo-German fellowship and the German-English society.

Princess Mafalda of Hesse, daughter of King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena of Italy, and wife of Goering's aid, Prince Philip of Hesse, sat beside the Prussian premier.

Tickets Cost $20 Each.

Prince "Auwi"—August Wilhelm, the former kaiser's fourth son—did not sit with his brothers. He is a Nazi dignitary and sat in a separate box enjoying champagne with Joachim von Ribbentrop, Reichsfuehrer Hitler's ambassador extraordinary.

Official tickets cost $20 each. They were obtainable only through special recommendation. Persons who failed to obtain them by the regular channels offered as high as $50 for them yesterday.

COSTA RICA TRACES COUNTERFEIT NICKELS TO PRISONER IN CELL

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Jan. 12.—The police have at last found the source of the counterfeit nickel coins flooding the country since new coins, minted for Costa Rica in the United States, were put into circulation several months ago. The counterfeits have come from cell 40 in the national penitentiary. José Angel Solano, occupant of the cell, had molds of metal and other equipment when investigators visited him. He insisted he had manufactured the coins only as a means of passing the time more quickly, for he had found prison life boring.

Two Mistake Ammonia for Wine and Lose Lives

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Haynes Gibson, son of a Bristol, Va., family, and Marshall Rensenhausen, Pasadena youth, died late last night after accidentally drinking ammonia. Police, after questioning a witness, said the two men, both of whom were intoxicated, took the ammonia, believing it was wine.

See New Move to Block Death of Hauptmann

New Defense Aids

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 12.—(AP)—The addition of a Washington, D. C., law firm to counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann was announced tonight, indicating a new move before the United States Supreme court to save the man scheduled to die Friday night for the Lindbergh baby kidnap murder.

C. Lloyd Fisher, of counsel for Hauptmann, announced that Nugent Dodds and Neil Burkinshaw, of the Washington law firm of Dodds & Burkinshaw, had been engaged as associate counsel.

New York, Jan. 12.—[Special.]—While lawyers for Bruno Richard Hauptmann sought desperately today for a way to save him from execution at Trenton, N. J., next Friday night, Gov. Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey was reported ready to grant the slayer of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's baby son a reprieve in spite of legal obstacles.

Both the governor and C. Lloyd Fisher, chief of defense counsel, were at a New York hotel this afternoon. While it was reported from Trenton that Gov. Hoffman and defense attorneys would confer at the hotel, the governor insisted his visit to New York was purely of a "social nature," having no connection with the Lindbergh case. He said he had come to attend the Lambs' Gambol.

Companion Unidentified.

A few minutes after his arrival at the hotel Gov. Hoffman brushed through a group of reporters with an elderly man who refused to reveal his identity.

Four floors above the one on which the governor's suite was situated Mrs. Fisher spent the afternoon alone in their suite. She declined to discuss the business which had brought her husband to New York, but from other sources it was learned that he had come here chiefly to consult authorities on constitutional law in the hope of finding some means of invoking the intervention of the federal courts to stay the execution.

It was reported that the defense attorneys were studying the possibility of obtaining a writ of habeas corpus either from the United States Circuit court in Philadelphia or by direct application to a justice of the Supreme court of the United States.

PINS HOPE ON HOFFMAN

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, condemned to die in the electric chair next Friday, placed his last hope for clemency today upon the sympathy of Gov. Harold G. Hoffman, who has openly expressed the opinion that Hauptmann did not kidnap and murder the Lindbergh baby without the help of confederates.

To the prison warden, Col. Mark O. Kimberling, the prisoner today, with the lack of emotion that has characterized his behavior throughout his sixteen months' incarceration, commented:

"I am innocent. The governor

PARTY LEADERS TOSS GOVERNOR OUT IN THE COLD

Stelle Slated to Get Donovan's Place.

BY STANLEY ARMSTRONG.

The Illinois Democratic organization returned a formal verdict last night against the second term aspirations of Gov. Henry Horner.

Downstate leaders united with those of Cook county in ignoring the governor's efforts to win renomination. Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago board of health, was indorsed as the Democratic organization's candidate.

That action means that Dr. Bundesen will have the support of the party machinery in the primary as the regular candidate and that Gov. Horner, if he stays in the race, will have to run without backing except such as may come to him personally.

Critical Meeting Held Here.

The final blow to the governor's hopes was delivered in the bungalow on the roof of the Morrison hotel at a session in which Cook county and downstate leaders were represented. This large group on Saturday appointed two subcommittees of eight members each, one for Cook county, and the other for downstate.

These two subcommittees met separately yesterday, but Horner's name was not mentioned in either session. Then they joined in a single meeting and again Horner's name was not spoken. The joint subcommittee report went to the parent group later and was officially confirmed, and again the governor was ignored, according to reports from the conferees.

Result of Months of Effort.

Yesterday's action completed a movement begun months ago by party leaders to eliminate Mr. Horner in the Democratic primary next April 14, if he could not be influenced to withdraw beforehand. Early in December a group representing downstate elements of the party called on Mayor Kelly and on P. A. Nash, chairman of the Cook county central committee and national committeeman, and agreed that Horner could not be reëlected. In further meetings of the Cook county committee and of downstate leaders that decision was indorsed.

The organization agreed yesterday to support James Hamilton Lewis for reëlection to the United States senate.

Stelle for Donovan's Job.

State Treasurer John Stelle of McLeansboro, who is debarred by law from succeeding himself in that office, was the organization's choice for lieutenant governor. Prior to 1934, when he was elected treasurer, Stelle held a position in the office of state auditor to which he was appointed by Auditor Edward J. Barrett. Thomas F. Donovan, Joliet, the present lieutenant governor, is reported to be slated for a seat on the federal court of claims. Others chosen on the organization slate for state offices are:

SECRETARY OF STATE—Edward J. Hughes, Chicago, incumbent.

TREASURER—John C. Martin, Salem, who was state treasurer before Stelle. Martin now is chairman of the state tax commission and of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission.

AUDITOR—Edward J. Barrett, Chicago, incumbent.

ATTORNEY GENERAL—Otto Kerner, River Forest, incumbent.

Selection of two candidates for congressmen at large had not been made at a late hour. It was reported from the conference, however, that Martin A. Brennan of Bloomington, Illinois' only congressman at large, would not be the organization's choice. Michael L. Igoe was the other congressman at large until he became United States district attorney.

Candidate Evinces Surprise.

Dr. Bundesen, who arrived at the bungalow shortly before midnight with Mayor Kelly and James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, said that the organization's choice of him as its gubernatorial candidate was unexpected. In a formal typewritten statement he said:

"Word that the Democratic leaders of Illinois have designated me as candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor comes to me as a complete surprise.

"I had not sought this great honor and I was not advised that the leaders of our Democracy were seriously considering me for it. However, I am grateful over the action, for it is an opportunity no man may refuse. Especially is it deeply appreciated by me, for I owe to my state and country everything I possess."

Through most of the afternoon session the choice had been between Dr. Bundesen and Bruce A. Campbell, of Belleville, chairman of the Democratic state central committee. When the subcommittees recessed about 7 p. m. for dinner, the members reported that Cook county was standing firm for Bundesen and downstate for Campbell.

The decision apparently came with the food. On returning to the bungalow, the members said that Bundesen was the victor. Downstate had been won over, they said, by lengthy expositions of Dr. Bundesen's previous vote getting record—over one million votes for coroner in 1928—and statements of his popularity among mothers of all political faiths who have received his baby books.

Father Killed in Boy's Infancy.

Dr. Bundesen was born 53 years ago in Berlin, Germany, the son of a Danish farmer and a German mother, who had been educated in France. When he was 6 months old, an accident left his mother a widow, nearly penniless. She concluded to bring her baby boy and his elder sister, Hermine, to America.

The hard pressed family settled in Wisconsin but within a few months came to Chicago. The mother made a scanty living tutoring in French and was obliged to leave her son in an orphan asylum for six years.

Reunited with his mother while still a very small boy, Herman Bundesen sold newspapers to help keep the family going. By doing odd jobs he helped maintain the household while he attended the old South Division High school, from which he received his diploma when he was 18 years old.

Works Way to Degree.

Still working his way, he entered Northwestern university, completing premedical and medical work there. He obtained his well earned degree of doctor of medicine in 1909, and that year he married Miss Rega Russell of Chicago.

The next year he won a lieutenancy in the army medical corps, in which he began work that was to gain acclaim in the study of epidemics and the control of disease. His ability got him a year's advanced training in the Army Medical school at Washington.

In 1912 Dr. Bundesen became a Chicago health officer. Two years later he was named city epidemiologist.

In 1922 Dr. Bundesen was appointed health commissioner, holding that post until 1928 when he was elected coroner. This office he relinquished early in 1931 to head the city health department a second time.

His club memberships include Iroquois, Steuben, South Shore, German, and Acacia. He lives at 7414 Oglesby avenue. The Bundesens have six children.

U. S. BAR CHIEFS TO STUDY TRIAL OF HAUPTMANN

Legal intricacies of the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann will be discussed by the executive committee and general council of the American Bar association which are to open in the Palmer house a week of joint sessions.

More than 150 outstanding attorneys from every part of the country will consider a report on the Hauptmann trial, which is to be submitted by a special committee appointed to make a complete study of the case. Former Judge William L. Ransom of New York, president of the association, declared yesterday that the committee would not deal with the evidence presented during the trial, but would consider the "atmosphere" surrounding the trial.

"The important question," he asserted, "is whether a trial so conducted was in accord with a public sense of justice and propriety."

Committees held informal meetings yesterday afternoon to draft reports. One subject which they will lay before the gathering is the matter of uniformity in state laws.

Governor Also Reported Ready to Grant Stay.

seems to realize that the evidence against me is not convincing. I am sure that he will take some action to postpone the killing of an innocent man."

Speculate About Plans.

From Gov. Hoffman's press representative came the brief statement that no action would be taken by the state's chief executive today. The wording of this official statement caused speculation concerning whether the word "today" meant that the governor had not yet decided against a move for some lightening of Hauptmann's sentence before next Friday.

For a man who has only five days to live, Hauptmann displayed an extraordinary state of mind. The keepers who pace back and forth in "death row" reported that he slept soundly until 11 a. m. He then ordered a substantial breakfast.

Clemency Refused by Board.

Hauptmann's hope that Gov. Hoffman could grant him a reprieve was based upon the opinion of some lawyers that the governor of New Jersey has the power to reprieve condemned men despite the action of the state board of pardons, which yesterday refused clemency to Hauptmann after listening for nearly six hours to the arguments of attorneys and the presentation of so-called "new evidence."

Several governors of this state have ignored the legal ruling that they may reprieve a sentenced man only if action is taken within 90 days of the date when sentence was imposed by the lower court.

MOTHER COLLAPSES.

KAMENZ, Germany, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Frau Pauline Hauptmann, the mother of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, collapsed in her chair today when she heard that the New Jersey Pardon court had refused to commute the death sentence of her son for the kidnap-murder of the Lindbergh baby.

"That's terrible," she moaned. "How can it be?"

"Col. Lindbergh will take a terrible responsibility upon himself if he permits the execution," Frau Hauptmann declared.

Her only ray of hope came in a cable from her daughter-in-law. It said:

"Beloved mother, don't despair. There still is hope. The truth will come to light before it is too late, for Richard is guiltless. With love, Annie."

BUTLER OPPOSES SENATOR BORAH AS REACTIONARY

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, today stated he was opposed to Republican nomination of Senator William E. Borah for the presidency on the ground that in many respects the Idaho senator was a "hopeless reactionary."

He said, however, that Senator Borah "is much the ablest and has by far the best understanding of fundamental principles and policies which are at stake" than all of those who have "more or less coyly proposed their own names for the nomination."

Dr. Butler's statements were made in a letter to a New York Republican whom he did not identify.

HAUPTMANN'S LAWYER HEARS CHICAGOAN'S TALE OF RANSOM CASH

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Attorney Bernard M. Finnigan of 9226 Commercial avenue, Chicago, arrived in Trenton tonight after an airplane journey to lay before Gov. Hoffman what he considers important information about the Lindbergh ransom money.

The governor, from whom the convicted Bruno Hauptmann hopes to obtain a reprieve, was in New York and Attorney Finnigan conferred with C. Lloyd Fisher of the Hauptmann defense forces.

His story was the same he had told in Chicago last night. A prisoner now in the Chicago Bridewell, he said, knew three men who possess $22,000 of the ransom money paid by Col. Lindbergh. This prisoner is said to be Steve Spitz, 52 years old, arrested last March on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Mr. Fisher told the Chicagoan that he was interested in the story, but "would rather see some of the money."

GIRL TRIES TO DIE IN LAKE; SCREAMS BRING 6 RESCUERS

A girl's cries for help half a block out in the lake off Bellevue place early last night sent half a dozen men over the treacherous shore ice to her rescue. Directed by the cries, the men found her clinging feebly to an ice ledge.

Forming a human chain to prevent slipping on the ice, and using a coat as a lifeline, the group lowered one of their number into the water. He grasped the struggling young woman and the two were pulled to safety.

Police took the woman to Henrotin hospital where, after being given restoratives, she identified herself as Alberta Taylor, 23 years old, 1242 Wesley avenue, Berwyn. She said she tried to drown herself.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Taylor, came to the hospital at once. They said she had been nervous since the breaking off of an engagement a year ago and that she frequently became hysterical when she thought she was being criticized in the household. She left home yesterday after a scene of this nature.

Police learned the names of only three of the rescuers. The one who went over the icy ledge into the water was Mario Sowa, 20 years old, 1529 South 51st avenue, Cicero. Two of the others were brothers, Ralph and Howard Clemens, 999 Lake Shore drive.

DIES OF SHOOTING WOUND.

Alfred Evans, 40 years old, colored, 4331 Vincennes avenue, died in the Provident hospital Saturday night after he had been shot by another colored man, who escaped, at 4136 Calumet avenue.

SECRET FORTUNE REVEALED AFTER ROOMER'S DEATH

Evidence to indicate that John J. Murphy, 55 years old, who died yesterday of heart disease in a rooming house at 507 North Wells street, was possessor of a fortune of about $50,000, was discovered last night by the police.

In his room were bankbooks showing that Murphy had $12,853 in the Continental Illinois National bank and $12,649 in the First National bank. Thomas Fenton, a friend of Murphy residing in the same house, said that he also had a safe deposit box containing securities valued at perhaps $25,000.

"Murphy," Fenton said, "was formerly a stationary engineer for the Raymond Lead company. He retired five years ago. He was always frugal, never spending more than a few dollars a week. Of late he had been even more careful of his money."

The same informant said he understood that Murphy had a sister.

$30,000 GIFT FROM MRS. ROOSEVELT GOES A-BEGGING

Hyde Park, N. Y., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—The offer of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt of $30,000 from her journalistic and radio earnings to help finance some new industrial venture here, and thereby employ the town's jobless, hangs today upon the inability of the town's best minds to discover any practical investment for her money.

There has been diligent research into some 200 suggestions for spending the money. Propositions have been advanced for the manufacture of shoes, rag carpets, vaporizers, toys, safety belts for window cleaners, and numerous other commodities, but not one has met the approval of the coordinating committee of the Hyde Park association, which has the matter in hand. A meeting of the committee has been called for Thursday, to be followed by a massmeeting Saturday.

Tired, Worn-Out Men Need Strength-Building Iodine In Blood and Glands

Science Says Regular Ration of NATURAL IODINE Is Best Way to Build Up Weak, Rundown, Tired-Out Folks—Give Them New Energy, Endurance and Pep!

If you are overworked, nervous, tire easily and lack of ambition because you haven't got the strength and energy to fight for success, don't be discouraged. The chances are your blood is thin, pale and watery and lacks the nourishment needed to build up your strength, endurance and the solid pounds of new flesh you need to feel right. Science has at last got right down to the real trouble with these conditions and explains a new, quick way to correct them.

Food and medicines can't help you much. The average person usually eats enough of the right kind of food to sustain the body. The real trouble is assimilation, the body's process of converting digested food into firm flesh, pep and energy. Tiny hidden glands control this body building process—glands which require a regular ration of NATURAL IODINE (not the ordinary toxic chemical iodine, but the iodine that is found in tiny quantities in spinach, lettuce, etc.). The simplest and quickest way to get this precious needed substance is Kelpamalt, the astonishing new mineral concentrate from the sea. Kelpamalt is 1,300 times richer in iodine than oysters, hitherto considered the best source. With Kelpamalt's iodine, you quickly normalize your weight and strength building glands, promote assimilation, enrich the blood and build up a source of enduring strength. Kelpamalt, too, contains twelve other precious, vitally needed body minerals without which good digestion is often impossible.

Try Kelpamalt for a single week. Notice how much better you feel, how well you sleep, how your appetite improves, color comes back into your cheeks. And if it doesn't add 5 lbs. of good solid "stay-there" flesh the first week, the trial is free. Kelpamalt costs but little.

JURORS CONVICT CUNNIFF OF FILM UNION BOMB PLOT

Sentenced to 1 to 5 Yrs.; Atkinson Acquitted.

Peter [Dynamite Pete] Cunniff, professional labor organizer who once admitted complicity in 200 bombings, was sentenced to one to five years in prison yesterday by Judge Joseph Burke of the Criminal court after a jury had found him guilty of conspiracy to bomb. Eugene Atkinson, a co-defendant, was acquitted on the same charge.

The jury, which began its deliberation at ten o'clock Saturday night, returned its verdict shortly after noon. Cunniff's guilt was determined on the second ballot, according to Martin J. Powers, foreman of the jury, but seven ballots were required to reach a decision on the release of Atkinson.

Outgrowth of Union Rivalry.

Cunniff was an organizer for Local 101 of the Independent Motion Picture Operators' union, an insurgent group, a rival of the regular Motion Picture Operators' union, Local 110, founded by the slain Thomas Maloy.

The bombing conspiracy for which Cunniff was convicted was that intended to wreck the Bobby Burns school for movie operators, 404 North Wells street, established by Maloy.

The conspiracy was the outgrowth of a long series of acts of violence laid to the rivalry of the warring union factions, and resulting in the slaying of Maloy last Feb. 4 and the subsequent murder of Clyde Osterberg, head of the insurgent group, on May 13.

After Judge Burke had passed sentence and had overruled motions for a new trial Cunniff was taken to the County jail when he was unable to provide the $10,000 bond set by the court. Sidney Block, Cuniff's attorney, was granted a stay of thirty days in which to file appeal action. Atkinson was represented by Attorney James M. Burke.

Aid Testifies Against Him.

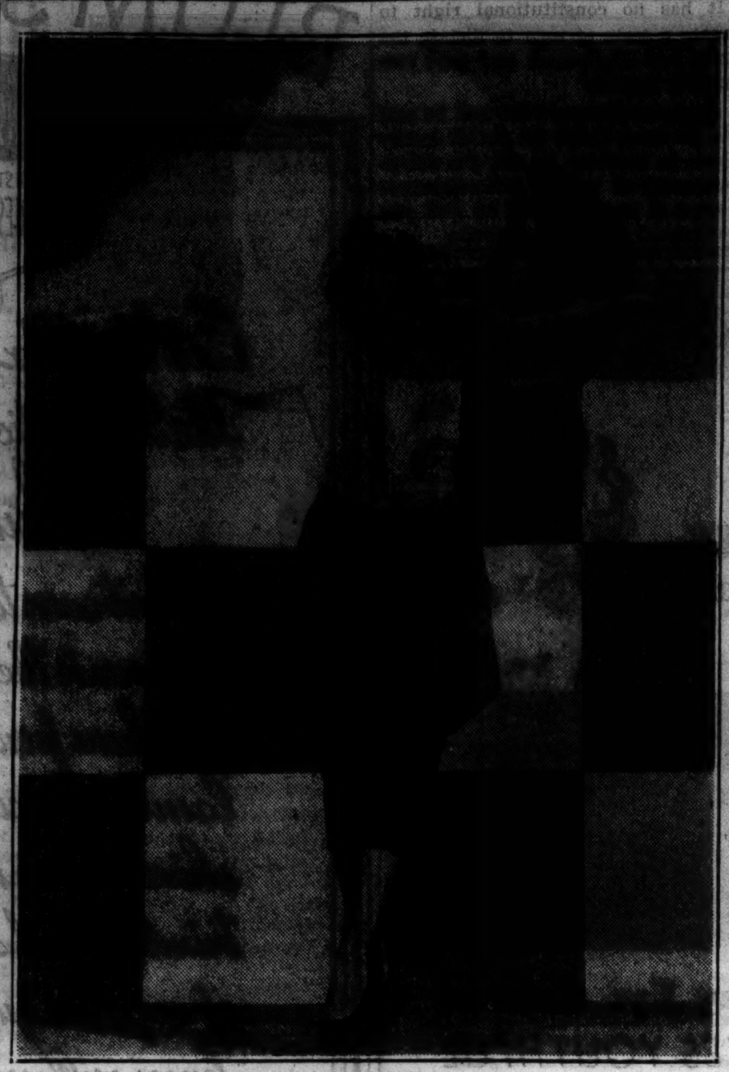
According to testimony introduced by the state the bombing was scheduled to take place May 13. The plot was thwarted by the killing of Osterberg.

The conspiracy was exposed by the arrest and confession of Thomas Kohler, member of the insurgent union, who was the state's main witness. Kohler's testimony at a previous trial resulted in the conviction of George Hall, business agent for the independents. Hall also was sentenced to one to five years.

Cunniff is a graduate physician, but he has not practiced for more than twenty years. He is well known as a professional labor organizer and once worked for Maloy and the regular union.

Court battles, sluggings, and shootings marked attempts of the rival union leaders to gain and hold dominance over the operators' groups. It was a profitable field for exploitation. The bombing of the operators school was planned as a coup to strike at Maloy's power and to gain recognition of the insurgent group by force, the state contended in the trial.

ACTRESS DIES IN AUTO CRASH



Margaret Ehrlich, 18 years old, known on the screen as Margot Early, was killed yesterday in an automobile accident near Santa Monica, Cal. She was a former resident of Milwaukee. [Acme Photo.]

MARGOT EARLY OF FILMS DIES IN AUTO CRASH

Santa Monica, Cal., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Margaret Ehrlich, 18, motion picture actress known on the screen as Margot Early, was killed today in a motor car crash as she was returning from a party at the home of Marion Davies, actress.

Mary Grace, also 18, an actress under contract to Warner Brothers' studio, who was driving the car, suffered a probable skull fracture and internal injuries. She still was unconscious late today.

The car in which the girls were riding struck an abutment on a highway. Witnesses told police an approaching car apparently forced them from the road.

Miss Ehrlich, a graduate of Santa Monica High school, appeared in "Operator 13" and "Naughty Marietta." She recently was placed under contract by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

PISTOL CARRIED BY DR. PEACOCK IN CAR MISSING

Revolver Always in Auto, Relatives Say.

Police investigating the murder of Dr. Silber C. Peacock, specialist in children's diseases, learned yesterday from his brother that the slain pediatrician usually carried a revolver in his automobile.

This weapon, believed to be of .38 caliber never has been found. It was even considered possible that Dr. Peacock was shot with his own pistol in resisting his attacker.

According to the brother, C. J. Peacock of Casper, Wyo., Dr. Peacock carried the revolver in a specially constructed holster in the right front door of his automobile. On the night of Jan. 3, when police discovered the murder—21 hours after Dr. Peacock was lured from his home in the Edgewater Beach apartments, 5555 Sheridan road, by a fake telephone call—the door holster of the car was empty.

Details of the Discovery.

The automobile with all the lights burning was parked in the 6300 block on North Francisco avenue, a few blocks from 6438 North Whipple street, the address to which Dr. Peacock was summoned. His body, with a bullet wound in the head, lay crumpled on the rear floor of the car.

If Dr. Peacock had his revolver on the night of the murder, the discovery of its disappearance lends support to the theory that he was slain by robbers. His wallet, containing at least $20, also was missing.

Mrs. Ruth Peacock, the widow, who is staying at the home of her mother in Bowen, Ill., continues to hold to the robbery theory, despite suggestions by investigators that some other motive might lie behind the murder.

Investigators Rest a Day.

Because the investigators seemed yesterday to have reached the end of their trail, still without a clew, they gave increasing credence to the widow's belief. Having followed without success every lead which might point to some reason for the murder, investigators in charge of the case took the day off to rest.

DIES OF AUTO INJURIES.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Wesley Boys, 17, Pana High school student, died in a hospital today of injuries received a week ago when an automobile, carrying the Pana basketball team, collided with a truck, near Mount Olive, Ill.

NEW DEAL BOWS TO AUTHORITY OF SUPREME COURT

Three More 'Pillars' Face Constitutional Test.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—The Supreme court has triumphed, for the time being at least, in the contest with the executive over the constitutionality of the New Deal.

This is the opinion in official Washington on the eve of another Supreme court decision — tomorrow, which may bring the invalidation of additional New Deal legislation.

There are three New Deal cases, decisions in one or more of which are due tomorrow or a week hence. One is the Bankhead compulsory cotton control, the doom of which was sounded by the decision that knocked out the AAA last Monday. Another is the sale of electric power by the Tennessee Valley authority. The third involves the payment of processing taxes under the amended AAA.

Bows to Court Authority.

The court has invalidated the NRA and the AAA, twin pillars of the New Deal edifice. The President has bowed to the authority of the court, though not without a resentment that in the case of the NRA he did not attempt to conceal.

He has abandoned the notion of reviving the NRA and he now has undertaken to construct a new system of restriction of agricultural production by other means than that held unconstitutional in the AAA case. The new plan is based on the principle of promoting the general welfare by conservation of soil fertility. It will provide for the distribution of about 500 million dollars annually to the farmers, approximately the same amount they received under the AAA.

Bid for Farmer Vote.

The new project will go eventually to the Supreme court for determination of its constitutionality, but it cannot possibly reach the court until after the presidential election in which the support of the farmers is essential to the reëlection of Mr. Roosevelt. This subsidy is relied upon to hold the west in line for the President.

Thus Mr. Roosevelt is proceeding at present with an attempt to bring the New Deal into conformity with the constitution as interpreted by the Supreme court. But there is no end of speculation on what he will do if the court invalidates many more New Deal innovations as apparently foreshadowed by the views of the majority of the court in the AAA decision.

Future Policy in Doubt.

There is reason to believe that the President has been restrained from challenging the court in dramatic fashion by the abundant evidence that popular sentiment up to date sustains the court and frowns on Mr. Roosevelt's suggestions of circumvention of its decisions.

Whether eventually he will take steps to curb the court or will propose an amendment of the constitution to implement the New Deal through an aggrandized federal power is believed to depend upon the extent to which the court destroys the remainder of the planned economy and upon public sentiment with respect thereto.

The only alternative methods imaginable are two. One is enlargement of the membership of the Supreme court to enable the President to pack it with a New Deal majority. The other is curtailment of the Supreme court's power to invalidate laws.

Move Afoot to Curb Court.

Led by Representatives Fred J. Sisson of New York and David J. Lewis of Maryland, both Democrats, the house advocates of restricting the Supreme court are engaged in formulating a bill designed to deny the Supreme court the right to declare invalid certain acts of congress, except in cases brought under the jurisdiction conferred on the court specifically by the constitution.

Authority in Constitution.

Authority for this contention is taken from the constitution, which, in the second paragraph of section 2, article III, after citing certain fields in which the court has original jurisdiction, asserts that "in all the other cases before mentioned, the Supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations, as the congress shall make."

INCOME TAX CHARGE IS CHEAP POLITICS, J. J. RASKOB ASSERTS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—(AP)—John J. Raskob, former chairman of the Democratic national committee, today accused "high administration officials" of "tyranny and cheap politics" in income tax litigation involving him and Pierre S. du Pont, of Delaware.

In his first comment on a government brief filed Friday with the board of tax appeals charging that du Pont agreed with Raskob to create fictitious losses in 1929 security sales, Raskob asserted:

Raskob explained that the reason for the sales to each other was that "neither of us had any desire to dump securities on the market and thus add to the fears and uncertainties of the panic and depression then existing."

BEHR EXTORTION LETTERS STUDIED BY OPERATIVES

Letters seeking to extort $5,000 from John W. Behr, athletic director of the Illinois Athletic club, under a threat to kidnap his daughter, Barbara Ann, 18 years old, a student at Lake Forest university, were the object of study by police and federal investigators yesterday.

A theory that some high school or college student may have sent the letters was advanced by Chief of Police Cloyd McGuire of Wilmette, who assigned a police guard to the Behr home at 1627 Forest avenue. He pointed out that the writer used ruled paper similar to that which schools issue for examinations. He conceded that similar paper can be purchased at most stationery stores.

The three threatening letters were mailed last week. The final one gave directions for payment of the money. This transaction was to have taken place Saturday in a loop hotel. The author of the letters failed to appear, although policemen and federal agents were on hand to seize him if he did.

Shotgun Blasts Through Wall; Mother and Son Hit

Joseph Goracio, 17 years old, 356 West Slade street, Palatine, returned home from hunting yesterday afternoon and started to clean his shotgun in the kitchen. It was accidentally discharged and the shot tore through the kitchen wall into the dining room, wounding his brother, Anthony, 14 years old, and their mother, Mrs. Mary Goracio, who were sitting there. The mother and son were taken to the County hospital.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Representative Hamilton Fish Jr. [Rep., N. Y.] charged today that President Roosevelt has violated the law in extending the secret two billion dollar stabilization fund for another year. He said he would move an investigation by congress of the use of this fund, of which no accounting has ever been made.

The New York congressman also accused Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau of entering into secret silver agreements with Mexico and other countries in violation of law and of the constitution.

"The President of the United States," said Mr. Fish, "has seen fit to extend the secret two billion dollar exchange stabilization fund for another year. The law specifically provides that this stabilization fund shall expire on Jan. 30, 1936, unless the President issues a proclamation that the emergency still exists and that there is a necessity for its continuance for one more year.

Fails to Show Cause.

"The President has failed to show cause where an emergency exists or the necessity for the continuance of the fund as required by law. Nor has he made any accounting to the congress of the use of this fund or the amount still on hand.

"As a member of the house committee on foreign affairs and on banking and currency, and of the minority party, I protest turning over to any one man, such as the secretary of the treasury, a fund of two billions of dollars without any accounting whatever to the congress. No member of congress has any information as to the disposition of the funds, whether they have been depleted or dissipated or grossly mismanaged.

"I propose to offer a resolution within the next few days asking for an accounting of this secret stabilization fund, and particularly as to the amount on hand as of Jan. 30, 1936, which completes the two year period for which the fund was authorized.

Ten Billions in Gold.

"Certainly with ten billions of gold in the federal treasury and one billion of silver, there is no necessity of giving the secretary of the treasury the power to stabilize the American dollar on foreign markets, as our government owns practically half of the gold in the world. No nation would be so unwise as to try to sell the dollar short when we have such tremendous gold and silver reserves.

"The gold stabilization bill was originally an emergency meaure, and if the mergency no longer exists, the President should, according to the law, show the necessity of the continuation of the stabilization fund for another year. The continuation of such a secret fund is so un-American and dangerous, without any control or accounting to congress, that it should be put an end to immediately.

Proposes Use to Pay Bonus.

"I endeavored, a few days ago, to apply the fund for the payment of the adjusted service certificates to world war veterans, which means that the bonus could be paid without any more taxes or appropriations or additional burdens on the already overburdened taxpayers and wage earners who indirectly will suffer through lower wages and idle factories and further increase in the already excessive taxation."

Pickets Storm Kentucky Mine; One Dies in Battle

Central City, Ky., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Accidentally shot through the back of the head, Everett Green, 23 years old, of Graham, Ky., was killed when he and about 150 other pickets stormed the Holt coal mine, three miles south of here, early today. The mine was scheduled to reopen tomorrow, employing nonunion labor. The pickets beat the mine superintendent, Charles Jenkins, over the head with a flashlight.

SEIZED IN CAR THEFT.

Danville, Ill., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Carl Sister, 18, of Flint, Mich., was under arrest here today charged with automobile theft. He was captured after a chase of several miles.

REV. COUGHLIN HOLDS FEDERAL BANK ACT 'VOID'

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 12.—(AP)—The Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin said today he believes the federal reserve bank act is unconstitutional, on the same basis of reasoning by which the Supreme court invalidated the NRA and the AAA.

"Congress has no constitutional right to delegate its power without specification," the Detroit priest said in his Sunday afternoon broadcast. "It has no constitutional right to create a body of men to dictate the rules and regulations and laws concerning finance."

Coughlin discussed the suit he said his National Union for Social Justice plans to institute to test the constitutionality of the act and announced names of three persons he said will participate in the legal action.

LIBERTY LEAGUE ASSAILS WASTE IN 1937 BUDGET

Message of President Is Branded "Deceitful."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's budget for the fiscal year to begin July 1 was assailed tonight by the American Liberty league as providing for "the greatest orgy of peacetime spending by any nation in the history of the world."

The league recommended a congressional investigation of the entire governmental structure with a view to the attainment of the economy in government pledged by the President in the 1932 campaign. It asserted the spending program of the budget message discloses a riot of extravagance on every hand and is without the slightest trace of purpose to adopt the pledged economic policy.

It was pointed out that under the securities exchange act, the government compels private corporations to file unequivocal and complete information as to their fiscal affairs.

The league, after its study of the budget, concludes that if any corporation should offer a statement "as deceptive and confusing as the President's budget message, it would be prosecuted under the penal sections of that statute."

"No amount of sophistry can justify a continuance of enormous expenditures on the existing scale," the league continued. "The 'spending' method of promoting recovery has proved wasteful and has involved an undue burden upon the taxpayers. Policies designed to stimulate private industry rather than to restrict and harass it will be most effective in assuring a continuance of the upward trend which has been in progress since the decision of the Supreme court in the NRA case.

"The budget can be balanced at an early date, but no disposition to do so is shown. The increase in expenditure at a rate almost as great as the increase in revenues has become a national scandal. The President has failed to provide a balanced budget for 1937 and his policy offers scant hope for 1938."

Asks Halt in Work Relief.

The league held the first step toward budget balancing to be abandonment of work relief and temporary substitute of relief. The next step was offered as the congressional investigation of the governmental structure for the purpose of budget balancing through an end to extravagance.

The league charged that the President's budget message gives misleading and even deceitful interpretations of the fiscal situation. It asserted that the message and voluminous accompanying statistical data are designed to gloss over and conceal the true picture.

"The President stresses decreased appropriations [not expenditures] and a smaller deficit, but the budget points to greatly increased expenditures [including funds from the gigantic two year work relief appropriation of last year] and an almost stationary deficit in the face of much larger revenues," the league said.

Long Beach Pastor Held on Charge of Girl, 16

BIRTH RATE FALLS IN BRITAIN; FEAR POPULATION DROP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Great Britain faces the prospect of an early decline in population unless the birth rate takes a sharp upward swing. This was disclosed in the registrar general's statistical review for 1933 which was published tonight. It shows that despite the fact more people were married in England and Wales in that year than ever before in normal times, the number of babies born was the fewest on record.

The total of births was 580,413, equivalent to 14.4 per thousand population. This was 33,559 less than in 1932 and the lowest in Europe with the exception of Austria and Sweden. Commenting on the drop, the registrar warned:

"A reduction in population inevitably will take place in the near future if the current trend persists."

The drop in the birth rate corresponds to the increase in divorces, which reached a record high of 3,934. Divorcées who remarried numbered 5,068. This also is an all time record.

GERMANY JAILS PRIEST; URGED NAZI PAPER BAN

Fought Pagan Theories of Hitler's Friend.

STUTTGART, Germany, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The Catholic parish priest, Adolf Staudacher, today was sentenced to three months' imprisonment for admonishing his congregation to throw all non-Catholic newspapers out of their homes and for misrepresenting the so-called neo-pagan theories of Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, who is a close friend and adviser to Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

Refuse to Disband.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—Confessional pastors of the "Old Prussian union" read a proclamation in Protestant churches today refusing to obey the orders to disband issued by Hans Kerrl, reich minister of church affairs.

"The Confessional church has to assume responsibility to defend the church against the falsification of teaching and the destruction of order of the church. It knows it is called upon to preach salvation in Christ alone. The government appointed church committees in the reach states and provinces and entrusted the administration of the church to them.

"The Old Prussian Council of Brethren sees a danger to the church in the appointment of such committees. Therefore it rejects them and continues in office.

Too Mild for Niemoeller.

The proclamation ended with the words of the Apostle Paul to the Corinthians in Second Corinthians, the sixth chapter, verses 9 and 10:

"As unknown, and yet well known; as dying, and, behold, we live; as chastened, and not killed;

"As sorrowful, yet always rejoicing; as poor, yet making many rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing all things."

In Berlin it was expected that the proclamation would be read by the Rev. Martin Niemoeller, former submarine commander who leads the Confessional movement, but he found it too mild and entrusted the reading to the Rev. Mr. Asmussen, a Hamburg pastor. The Rev. Mr. Niemoeller left Berlin to lecture in Koenigsberg.

As another defiant gesture, it was learned the oppositional groups are preparing for their fourth major convention about Jan. 18 when, it is expected, they will draw up new battle lines against Nazi church domination.

NEW GRAND JURY TO PUSH MINNEAPOLIS VICE, CRIME INQUIRY

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—After a week spent studying the report of the grand jury which closed its term Jan. 4, with a warning to Minneapolis citizens that this community is in danger of being dominated by organized crime, a new jury tomorrow will take up the investigation.

The previous jury was the one that indicted Isadore Blumenfeld, alias Kid Cann, for the murder of Walter W. Liggett, crusading publisher of a weekly newspaper, which for months exposed vice, gambling, and liquor conditions in Minneapolis.

The new jury will look further into the liquor license situation, particularly into the alleged granting of licenses to persons ineligible under state laws.

It was the intention of the new grand jury to extend its investigations into a reported political-criminal alliance.

RAILROAD BLAST LAID TO STRIKE IN NORTH CHICAGO

Detectives for the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroad declared yesterday they believe the dynamiting of a section of track south of Mundelein early Saturday is part of the violence and unrest which has marked the strike of 80 metal polishers employed at the Oakes Products company, manufacturers of automobile accessories, in North Chicago. The company uses the railroad exclusively for shipment and receipt of merchandise.

Additional strike violence occurred early yesterday when windows in the homes of four workers in Waukegan and North Chicago were broken. Because of similar window smashing and intimidation of truck drivers, eighteen members of the polishers' union, including the president, Charles White, will appear this morning before Circuit Judge Edward D. Shurtleff at Waukegan to face contempt of court charges.

They are accused of violating an injunction which permitted only peaceful picketing. Officials of the company said they would ask for jail sentences.

Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan Declines Pinball Job

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan, former police commissioner, announced today he had declined to serve as "czar" of the pinball industry at a salary estimated at $25,000 to $50,000. The offer was made by four pinball organizations after Mayor LaGuardia banned pinball games offering prizes, effective tomorrow.

ITALIAN ARMIES TIED UP BY RAIN; ETHIOPIA CHEERS

Mussolini's Troops Forced to Fall Back.

ing driven out. The Ethiopians captured a front line dump of 10,000 sacks of rice and flour. This was an important addition to their food supplies.

Messages received from Ras Desta Demtu, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie, reassured authorities that he is able to hold the Dolo front, which is south of Addis Ababa on the border of Italian Somaliland. He advised, however, a general mobilization order for the southern provinces. The emperor has approved this, and it is anticipated that 200,000 more soldiers will be available to reënforce the army.

A proclamation read to church congregations today warned them it was probable Italian flyers would bomb Addis Ababa between Jan. 20 and 22. These are the days of the Ethiopian Epiphany celebrations which bring thousands of people to the capital. Inhabitants were warned to construct shelters. Persons who do not obey the order within a week will be fined.

SEE POPE AS PEACEMAKER

PARIS, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Some French circles today envisaged an attempt to exert "moral influence" on league of nations powers to avoid war in Europe by doing something to end the Italo-Ethiopian conflict in the broadcast "Christmas message" of Cardinal Jean Verdier, archbishop of Paris.

In the message, delivered yesterday, Cardinal Verdier said the pope had told him of his "anguished anxiety," adding his "greatest hope" lay in France's "peaceful policy." He did not indicate whether the Vatican had a plan to settle the war.

The Catholic church "loyally and earnestly offers its previous help for the crusade of peace," said Verdier.

Defines "Legitimate Defense."

Calling for support of Premier Pierre Laval in his "super human work" of attempting to keep the peace, the cardinal said self-defense was the only "legitimate" excuse for war recognized by the church.

He defined as a "case of legitimate defense" when:

1. A country is unjustly attacked.
2. An unjust attack involves possession, the loss of which would mean physical or mortal degradation.
3. There is no other means of defense.

Responsible French quarters, however, declared the chances of either stopping hostilities in Africa by more drastic sanctions against Italy or by starting peace negotiations at Geneva were equally gloomy.

The newspaper Temps, which frequently reflects the views of the foreign office, said confirmation was lacking for reports that the league's committee of 18 automatically will consider an early extension of sanctions to include the controverted oil embargo.

The French are not convinced that further sanctions will succeed in forcing Premier Mussolini to halt his campaign, and they fear such sanctions might result in an Italian attack in Europe.

Consequently, the committee of 18 is expected in most quarters here to wait until the American congress decides if the United States will limit exports to Italy, a step considered essential to the success of any embargo.

Pope Predicts Peace.

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Pope Pius told the pontifical academy today he had the "comforting optimism" that peace would come like a rainbow out of "the dense black and menacing clouds everywhere on the national and international horizons."

THREE ITALIAN FLYERS KILLED AS BOMBER CRASHES IN AFRICA

ASMARA, Eritrea, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Three Italian airmen were killed today when their bombing plane crashed on a hillside near Asmara. The dead were Lieut. Lanza, the pilot; Sub-Lieut. Baron Ostini, the assistant pilot, and Sergt. Barino, a mechanic.

Lieuts. Lanza and Ostini previously were members of a plane crew with Sergt. Dalmazio Birago, Italy's first air force casualty of the war. Birago was wounded fatally in November during a raid on an Ethiopian encampment. Each of the three was given a silver medal for valor after that flight.

It was believed the plane that crashed was the same in which the Ethiopian raid was made.

3,500 More Italians Sail for War in East Africa

NAPLES, Italy, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Two steamers, laden with 3,500, troops and officers, sailed for East Africa today.

WRITER OF THREAT TO ROOSEVELT WILL BE ARRAIGNED JAN. 24

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—At liberty on bail of $2,500, Austin Phelps Palmer, one time millionaire, tonight awaited arraignment Jan. 24 before a United States commissioner on charges that he sent two letters threatening bodily harm to President Roosevelt.

Before that date the case will be laid before a grand jury.

Secret service operatives arrested Palmer in his Park avenue apartment Saturday. William H. Houghton, chief of the secret service here, said Palmer admitted he had written the letters.

Authorities said he blamed the President for the loss of a considerable part of his fortune in the stock market.

CCC WORK WORTH 579 MILLIONS AT COST OF BILLION

Washingon, D. C., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Robert Fechner, Civilian Conservation Corps director, reported today that the work value of the corps since its inception on April 5, 1933, to Sept. 30, 1935, was $579,000,000, while its cost was $1,006,500,000.

Work has been provided for 1,500,000 persons, he said in his report to the President for the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1935.

In listing the accomplishments, Fechner said 405,402,000 trees had been set out, 62,593 miles of forest roads and trails built, 30,121 miles of telephone line strung to aid in fire protection, 155,000 miles of trails and 75,000 miles of line maintained, 1,635,000 small dams built to reduce soil erosion, 26,251 vehicle bridges built.

The corps attained its peak strength at 519,920 on Aug. 31, 1935, but is being reduced to a permanent strength of 300,000.

AUTO ACCIDENTS RUN UP TOLL OF 9 DEATHS IN DAY

Icy Street Costs Lives of Two Women.

Nine persons died yesterday as a result of trafic accidents in Cook county. Eight of the victims were fatally injured in Chicago, and the deaths of two of these were directly attributable to slushy and slippery pavements which made driving perilous in the metropolitan area.

Mrs. Hannah Edwards, 68 years old, 609 East 89th street, was struck by an auto and killed last night as she was crossing 89th street at Cottage Grove avenue.

Driver Blames Icy Street.

The driver of the car, Fred Phillips, 23 years old, 617 East 91st place, was held by police after witnesses testified that he was driving at a speed of 45 miles an hour and was unable to stop his car for half a block after striking Mrs. Edwards. Phillips denied he was speeding and said he was unable to stop the car immediately because of the slick pavement.

Miss Golda Day, 21 years old, 816 West 50th place, died last night in the Woodlawn hospital of injuries incurred early in the day when an automobile in which she was riding skidded on the icy pavement and crashed into a southbound State street car at 61st street. The driver, Ray Crawford, 21 years old, 7006 Emerald avenue, was hurt.

Injured Pedestrians Die.

Three pedestrians who were struck by automobiles died yesterday of their injuries in the county hospital. They are:

Samuel Senor, 47 year old, colored, 4230 South State street. Injured Dec. 20 while walking in front of 9724 South Park avenue.

Samuel Cohen, 70 years old, 1805 South Hamlin avenue. Struck by a hit and run driver on Dec. 30 at Douglas boulevard and Millard avenue.

Vincent Petrone, 58 years old, 515 West 115th street. Injured Thursday at 115th and Halsted streets.

Other trafic victims yesterday were:

Joseph Zimmer, 65 years old, 6812 North California avenue. Struck and fatally injured last night by an automobile after he had gotten off a bus near his home. The accident was witnessed by Mrs. Zimmer, who was accompanying her husband. The car was driven by Albert Schulke, 2641 Estes avenue.

Fred Weber, 70 years old, 1156 North La Salle street. Died in Henrotin hospital of injuries incurred when he was run down at La Salle and Division streets by a cab.

William J. Gibson, 48 years old, 272 150th street, Harvey. Died in Ingalls Memorial hospital, Harvey, of injuries incurred Friday in collision at 147th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

Frank Dubicki, 54 years old. Died in County hospital of injuries incurred Saturday when struck at 93d street and South Chicago avenue, by auto driven by Albert Hodge, 29 years old, 7455 Merrill avenue.

At 4 p. m. yesterday, 40 persons had been killed in trafic accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. In the same period 33 had been killed and 478 injured within the Chicago city limits.

GARBO DENIES SHE PLANS TO MARRY NOEL COWARD

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 12.—(AP)—A source close to Greta Garbo announced today the movie actress had authorized a statement that reports of a romance linking her name to that of Noel Coward, British playwright and actor, were "pure fabrications."

The Hollywood star and Coward met only "casually" during Coward's recent holiday visit to Stockholm, this source said. Friends of the pair asserted that neither showed the slightest interest in the other after this casual meeting.

[The Sunday Chronicle of London reported that rumors of a romance between Miss Garbo and Coward arose after the couple met at a party given by Count and Countess Wachtmeister, friends of the actress. Coward's secretary in London denied that Coward had even met Miss Garbo in Stockholm.]

PWA SUPERVISOR OF WORK SLAIN; FIVE ARRESTED

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Daniel McKinley, 47 years old, of Mishawaka, Ind., a supervisor of PWA work, was found dead late tonight in a woodshed behind a restaurant patronized principally by colored people.

Circumstances indicated that McKinley had been beaten or strangled to death and the police arrested five colored men for questioning after a taxicab driver had reported seeing the supervisor, apparently intoxicated, in the restaurant early in the evening.

McKinley formerly was a street foreman employed by the city of Mishawaka. Members of his family at one time conducted a chain of filling stations in northern Indiana.

Hangman Seeks Cash for 'Losses' Due to Amnesty

WARSAW, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Hangman Braun appealed to the ministry of justice today for an extraordinary subsidy to compensate him for "losses" due to the fact that the recent amnesty law commuted death penalties for crimes committed before November, 1934, to life imprisonment. The hangman pointed out that he receives 50 zlotys [about $9] for each death sentence he executes and that he considers himself wronged since no hangings are foreseen "for some time."

20% INCREASE IN SOVIET OUTPUT PREDICTED IN '36

MOSCOW, Jan. 12. — (AP) — Vice Premier Valeri Mezhlauk, addressing the central executive soviet committee, said today 1936 would be a "Stakhanovite year" when industry, agriculture and construction in the soviet union would be greatly increased.

Repeating Dictator Joseph Stalin's recent statement that workers would be required to turn out more products, the vice premier said the productivity of labor must be increased 20 per cent. In return, he promised a distinct improvement in the soviet standard of living.

To the prices of our merchandise will be added an amount equivalent to approximately 3% on account of the Illinois Retailers' Occupation Tax.

JAP ARMY CALLS CHINESE LEADER TO 'SHOWDOWN'

Tientsin Parley to Settle North China Issues.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING, Jan. 12.—Two high Japanese military officers came to Peiping today to escort Gen. Sung Cheh-yuan, Chinese chairman of the Hopei-Chahar political council, to Tientsin tomorrow for an important military conference.

The Japanese are determined to get decisions on several outstanding issues including recognition of Manchukuo, a Chinese-Japanese alliance against the Soviet union and amalgamation of the Hopei-Chahar council with Yin Ju-keng's independent "government" within the North China demilitarized zone. In addition there are numerous issues involving finances of the North China provinces which are in the process of securing independence from Nanking.

The Japanese will present a number of demands concerning an accumulation of so-called minor incidents which the Japanese attribute to Gen. Sung's "insincerity." It is frequently asserted that the Japanese intend a showdown to compel Sung's submission or elimination.

Mongolia Issue Up.

Among Chinese at the conference will be Mayor Hsiao Cheng-ying of Tientsin and Pao Yueh-ching, a representative of the Mongolian political council. This indicates the Japanese hope to settle the Inner Mongolian issue which is now critical due to the Japanese instigated drive from Manchukuo across Chahar and into Suiyuan province.

Japanese at the conference will include Maj. Kenji Doihara, special service officer of the Kwantung [continental] army; Maj. Gen. Hayao Tada, commander of the North China garrison; Col. Hiroshi Nemoto, chief of the information section of the war office at Tokio, and numerous staf officers.

With Chuichi Ohashi, Japanese vice minister, but actual chief of the Manchukuan foreign office, among the Japanese contingent, this will be the first time Chinese officials have participated in a conference with officials of the hitherto unrecognized puppet government. Two other important Japanese are Commander S. Kunabara, naval attaché, and Capt. T. Kubota, head of the naval mission recently established at Tientsin.

Seek Army Expansion.

Aside from fundamental issues involving Japan's relation with China, the Japanese are laying a foundation for a legislative campaign in their own diet, now in session, to get appropriations for immediate expansion of the Japanese army in North China. They want the force increased from 2,500 men to a full division.

The Japanese force within the demilitarized zone already is greatly increased, coöperating with Yin Ju-keng, but the troops were supplied from the Kwantung army in Manchukuo. The Japanese want a North China command second only to the Kwantung army.

It is reported the situation in Shantung province is critical due to Japanese pressure to force the War Lord Han Fu-chu to cast his lot with the Hopei-Chahar council. One report said both Gen. Sung and Gen. Han have wired Dictator Chiang Kai-shek, pleading their inability to resist unless Chiang is willing to render military aid.

HELD ON RAPE CHARGE.

Mishawaka, Ind., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Frank Martino, 23 year old transient, is under arrest here today on a charge of having raped Lucille Woods, 8.

JAPS ARE TOLD TO TRY TO AVOID BREAKUP OF NAVAL CONFERENCE

TOKIO, Jan. 13 [Monday.]—(AP)—Foreign Minister Koki Hirota cabled instructions today to the Japanese delegation at the London naval conference to attempt to avoid an abrupt breakup of the naval talks or the creation of a situation necessitating a walkout of the Japanese.

The instructions, approved by the cabinet and the emperor, did not authorize the delegates, however, to make any concessions on the Japanese principle of a common upper limit for fleet strength. The delegation was instructed to stress Japan's desire to abolish or drastically limit offensive types of warships, such as capital ships and aircraft carriers.

The orders were cabled to London after a deadlock had developed in the naval conference because of Japan's failure to yield on her demands for parity and the opposition of other powers. Some sources had predicted the Japanese delegates would walk out of the conference, possibly remaining as observers if the sessions were continued, when the talks are resumed Tuesday.

16 Die as Storm Capsizes Boat in Gulf of Finland

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Sixteen persons were drowned today in a ferry boat disaster off the coast of Hango, in the Gulf of Finland. Onlookers ashore saw the vessel capsize and founder in a raging sea. The victims were trapped below decks. Eight were saved by a motorboat.

34 LOSE LIVES AS VESSEL HITS PACIFIC REEF

All Hands Lost; Other Shipping Damaged.

Driven away, the Onondaga anchored outside the bar.

A motor lifeboat from the coast guard rescue station at Point Adams also braved the pounding surf in an effort to reach the wreck, but failed. An attempt to shoot lines from a breeches buoy from shore likewise was fruitless.

Commander R. Stanley Patch of the Onondaga said that his first look at the stricken freighter convinced him none aboard it could live.

Commander Tells of Wreck.

"A few minutes after we sighted the wreck," he said, "the stack and bridge went over the side. We tried to draw near enough to shoot a line, but a big wave hit us, bending the stanchion flat to the deck and crushing a ventilator."

For many hours the identity of the Iowa, a 410 foot 8,800 ton vessel, remained in doubt. Finally she was identified by the Swastika emblem of the line on her stack.

Hundreds of persons lined the shore near Seaview, Ore., as the freighter's wreckage floated ashore. Lumber, flour, matches and other articles aboard her were strewn along the beach.

The board bearing the ship's name on the bridge also floated to the beach as one of the last tragic reminders of her fate. Several bodies also could be seen bobbing in the heaving waves.

Bound for New York.

The Iowa, commanded by Capt. Edgar L. Yates, 68, of Portland, was brought down the Columbia river about midnight last night by Capt. Stewart V. Winslow, river pilot.

He reported that when he left the vessel on reaching Astoria she was in apparent good condition.

The freighter was about two-thirds loaded with lumber and general cargo and was en route to New York via San Francisco.

Capt. Yates had been a mariner for 40 years and had held master's papers for more than half that time, first in Great Britain, and since 1916 in the United States. It was his first voyage on the Iowa.

Other Shipping Damaged.

To the south the Canadian vessel Rochelie damaged her steering gear 15 miles off Cape Arago, but made repairs and proceeded southward after losing part of her deck cargo.

Originally the ship was mistaken for the Norwegian freighter Romulus. The merchant ship Lumberman stood by the Rochelle while repairs were made.

The freighter Vinland also was reported to have lost deck cargo in the same area.

Astoria had only intermittent communication with the rest of the Pacific coast. Telephone and telegraph lines were down and wireless communication was halted by distress call regulations.

The weather bureau reported still another storm was on its way from the north Pacific.

38 South African Students Here on Mine Study Tour

Thirty-eight mining students from Johannesburg, Transvaal, arrived in Chicago yesterday for a two day visit as a part of an American tour to study industrial and mining conditions. The South Africans are at the International house of the University of Chicago and will make a sightseeing trip of the city today under the guidance of T. F. Mayer-Oakes of the International house. Tonight the students will depart for the west.

MINERS BATTLE WITH BUCKETS TO STEM FLOOD

Bail Out Old Ben No. 18 as Seepage Spreads.

Johnston City, Ill., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Mud-mired workers today resorted to primitive bailing with hurriedly constructed giant buckets in a final desperate attempt to stem flood waters threatening the three million dollar mine around which the economic life of this small coal community centers.

A grim audience of 6,000 townspeople watched silently as the men, weary with a 6 week fight against seepage from abandoned workings, plunged the ungainly vessels down the flooded shaft and drew them brimming to the surface.

Indications were that the improvised buckets, welded to the bottom of the elevator cages and hoisting 4,000 gallons of water a minute, would succeed where some scientific equipment failed.

The mine—Old Ben No. 18—has been operated since 1918 and in normal times gives employment to 1,000 men.

SEIZED IN TRAP

[Acme Photo.]

E. E. (Jack) Deegan, arrested in Kansas City when he tried to obtain dummy package in extortion plot against T. J. Pendergast, Democratic boss of Missouri.

DUNGAN IS FREED, 2 STILL HELD IN HENNEMAN CASE

The police investigating the slaying of Mrs. Elsie Henneman on Jan. 3 continued last night to hold in custody her husband, George Henneman, painters' union official, and William Schaaf, former member and official of the same union. James Dungan, business agent for the union and ally of Henneman, was released yesterday.

Just after the shooting, Henneman told police that Schaaf fired the shotgun which killed Mrs. Henneman as she sat in an automobile at 333 Root street. Henneman, who was driving, said he escaped by falling to the floor of the car. Schaaf denied the accusation, asserting that the enmity over a union factional row prompted Henneman to identify Schaaf as the assailant.

RULING EXPECTED TODAY ON DRAKE ACQUITTAL MOVE

Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan is expected to rule today on a motion for a directed verdict of not guilty for the forty-one defendants in the Drake estate mail fraud trial as the case is resumed in federal court. If the ruling is adverse, the defense will begin presentation of its testimony.

Defense Attorney George Crane in making the motion, put emphasis on the cases of twenty-eight defendants who were not shown by the government to be active in the campaign for funds to recover a mythical estate of Sir Francis Drake. In the case of two others, Mrs. Claire Hartzell of New York City, and Henry Zeltner of Tripp, S. D., the government already has moved for dismissal.

300 FISHING BOATS JOIN TRIBUTE TO LOST COMRADES

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 12.—(AP)—A cortège of 300 blue and white fishing boats chugged out of the Golden Gate today and spread like white caps over the sullen waters of the Pacific in final tribute to two comrades the sea had claimed.

Each of the tiny craft carried a flag at half mast in memory of two good fishermen, two friends.

Over toward Bolinas bay Domenico Passasinisi, 38 years old, was swept from his crab boat by a treacherous wave. Off Devil's point Salvatore Finocchiaro, 32, was lost from his purse seiner.

Onto the swelling waves flowers were strewn. Then the small engines coughed to life and slowly the procession returned to Fishermen's wharf.

Canal Zone Legionnaires to Hunt Redfern in Wilds

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone, Jan. 12.—(AP)—A rescue expedition from Albert S. Waid post of the American Legion sailed today for Trinidad and Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, to join the search for Paul R. Redfern, American flyer lost eight years ago. James Ryan and Arthur J. Farrel, a past commander of the post, make up the expedition. Three other groups are reported to be hunting Redfern in the Guiana jungles.

THE TRUTH ABOUT HAIR and HAIR TREATMENTS!

Charles Nessler, pioneer in hair research... inventor of Permanent Waving.

"IT isn't age that causes baldness," says Charles Nessler, leading hair biologist. "No matter what his age—the normal person can easily retain his hair—can encourage hair replacement merely by following a few simple rules."

"Nor is falling hair the cause of baldness," Charles Nessler goes on to explain. "It's as natural for a human's hair to fall as for an animal to shed. Don't try to stop falling hair. It can't be done! Help Nature to replace the hair that falls."

A NEW SCIENTIFIC TYPE OF HAIR TREATMENT

Charles Nessler's PRO-KER treatment is based on this established law of hair replacement. PRO-KER is working simply and successfully every day, for thousands of men. A few minutes' treatment a day is all your scalp needs.

RELIEVES DANDRUFF, ITCHING, OVER-OILINESS

These are secondary conditions—that are quickly relieved when you start using PRO-KER and your scalp becomes normalized. Get PRO-KER today at any drug counter. With your bottle is a booklet containing simple instructions for use—and important "do's" and "don'ts" for your hair.

Don't neglect your hair when you can help save it. Every day counts. Start today—now on the simple PRO-KER treatment. At all drug counters.

POLICE REPORT REDUCED THEFT LOSSES IN 1935

City's Robbery Toll Cut $926,000 in Year.

Further evidence of crime reduction in Chicago during the last year is indicated in the police department's annual report on property losses, issued yesterday, which showed that $926,810 less property and cash was lost to criminals last year than in 1934. In the same period the police recovered $5,570 more in stolen property than they did in 1934.

The report, submitted to Police Commissioner James P. Allman, shows that $2,799,682 in merchandise was stolen in Chicago in 1935 as compared with $3,499,901 in the previous year, a decrease of $700,219. During the same period there was $1,249,756 in cash stolen, as compared with $1,476,347 in the previous year.

Gain in Cash Recoveries.

The police department recovered less merchandise in 1935, a total of $360,358, as compared with $374,576 recovered in 1934, but there was an increase in the amount of cash recovered and returned to owners, $100,081, as compared with $80,293 in the previous year.

The decrease in the amount of property losses follows a trend which began in 1931 and has continued each year since.

High Mark in January.

The amount of property losses reported to the police reached a high mark monthly peak for the year in January, 1935, when $220,437 in merchandise and $200,406 in cash was stolen. This total, $420,843, is higher than in the peak month of 1934, October, when $375,574 was reported taken.

There were 6,250 men on the Chicago police force during most of 1935, as compared with 5,900 men in 1934. Later in 1935 the force of 6,250 was increased by 500 men.

Couple Robbed of $3,000 in Gems on South Side

Jewelry valued at $3,075 was taken from Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schneider, 5455 Blackstone avenue, last night by two gunmen who held them up when they stopped their car at their home. Mr. Schneider gave up a ring valued at $700 and Mrs. Schneider two rings, one valued at $1,750 and the other at $300, and a $325 watch.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Frank Ridgway

'Ugly Duckling' Mule.

January 12, 1936.

THE mule hunt is ended. A mate has been found for Jen, an odd mule at the Tribune experimental farm near Wheaton.

Kate, Jen's new mate, was found pulling away at a load of yellow ears in the middle of a central Illinois cornfield. She was bought from E. E. Vaniman, a farmer near Verden, Ill., 24 miles south of Springfield. The search which ended with the finding of Kate had been on for several weeks. It extended throughout the middle west. Many TRIBUNE readers including farmers in six states coöperated in locating a mule to go with Jen.

When Kate arrived at the farm late last Thursday night she was wholeheartedly welcomed by workers, but was given a cool reception by Jen. This long-eared Jen had never seen a mule before. She was born on the Wheaton farm and, so far as she knew, was the only mule in the world. Jen has been on the Wheaton farm all her life. She has always worked with big ton sized horses with short ears, long manes and tails.

When this strange creature—Kate—walked into the barn with her long wobbling ears, roached mane, and shaved tail, Jen plainly showed that she had never seen such a queer looking animal. She was scared and said so in unmistakable mule language. Jen backed her ears, turned her heels in Kate's direction, banged away with both feet but missed her mark, then quickly wheeled around and lunged forward with all her might to take a big bite out of the strange mule's side. Again she missed her mark and the mules were separated.

Since that stormy introduction everything has been peaceful in the mules' end of the barn. Kate is a peace loving mule and has won a place for herself on the left side of the wagon tongue. While the wagon is being loaded and unloaded Jen nuzzles her head against Kate's neck, which is her way of apologizing for the ill-mannered reception last Thursday night.

The span of mules was put to work Friday morning and will be kept in harness throughout the winter hauling logs, feed, and manure at the Wheaton farm. Next summer the farm manager plans to use the mules in farm power tests.

The new mule comes from good stock, having been foaled by a high grade Percheron mare in central Illinois, where farmers are using many mules in farm work. Men at the farm say that these two mules are well matched, well mannered, and well trained—they know the meaning of "git up" and "whoa!" Like Jen, the new mule is "quiet and as gentle as a lamb."

In searching for Kate the farm manager found farmers asking from $500 to $700 for spans of good mules. He had no difficulty in finding plenty of mules on Illinois and Iowa farms, but to find a mate to Jen was a real problem. In the section of Illinois where Kate was bought many farmers have been raising mules during the last few years.

In conditioning Jen and Kate for farm power tests to be made this spring and summer the mules will be fed oats and alfalfa hay. Men who feed Jen say that she eats and stays in good condition on much less than the horses she works with. At the present time Jen eats about three quarts of oats daily and 12 pounds of bright green alfalfa hay. She is given two quarts of oats at night and one each morning.

Oats will be fed to both mules. They will be given about all the hay they will clean up while they are standing in the barn.

Gas Heater Explodes in Branch Library Basement

Damage estimated at several hundred dollars was caused last night by the explosion of a gas water heater in the basement of the branch public library at 4536-44 Lincoln avenue. The library was closed at the time and the only person in the building was William Forsyth, 4853 North Leavitt street, a watchman. He was not injured. The blast was heard for several blocks.

$5,000 MACHINE MAKES RADIUM, $40,000 A GRAM

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 12.—(AP)—At a cost of $5,000 Cornell university has a machine capable of making artificial radium as a substitute for the real stuff, which costs $40,000 a gram.

Completion of this machine, a cyclotron, the second of its kind in existence, was announced here tonight. The Cornell cyclotron already is in operation.

The original cyclotron, a machine which uses a $200,000 80-ton magnet to produce 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 volt rays, was made by Dr. E. O. Lawrence at the University of California.

The great expectations for these machines is shown by the fact that, independently, Columbia university and the University of Rochester are both building cyclotrons.

These machines make a good many different kinds of artificial radium. The one best known to the public is radio-active table salt.

In some this artificial radium quality lasts only a few seconds; in others, minutes; in a few, hours. But in one case discovered by Dr. Lawrence at the University of California this artificial radium lasts for months.

The substance which shows this long artificial radium life appears in molybdenum and at least one other metal. But what it is has not yet been fully determined.

1,000 PAY HONOR TO MAX HENIUS AT MEMORIAL

The contributions of the late Dr. Max Henius, noted chemist, to friendly relations between the United States and Denmark were noted yesterday by speakers at memorial services held in his honor in the University of Chicago chapel.

Dr. Henius, co-founder and president of the Wahl-Henius institute at 2374 Lincoln avenue, died on Nov. 15, in Aalborg, Denmark, his birthplace. A thousand persons attended the services.

Attorney Walter F. Heineman presided. Speakers included the Rev. Oswald E. Helsing; F. M. Dupont, vice president of the institute; J. Christian Bay, librarian of the John Crerar library; Dr. Emanuel Nielsen, president of the Society Dania; Carl B. Roden, librarian of the Chicago public library, and Reimund Baumann, Danish consul general.

EVERY MOTHER IN CHICAGO

To Receive Trial Package of Vick Aids to Better Control of Colds

Unusual Campaign to Demonstrate in the Home the Actual Results of a Practical Plan That Helps Millions Enjoy Greater Freedom from Colds

As most mothers have learned by experience, there's only one sure way to judge medication for colds—by actual results, not by "claims." That's why Vicks is sending you—by special messenger—a free trial package containing Vicks Colds-Control Aids, together with directions for following the tested Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds in the Home.

Better Home-Control for Colds

Two generations of mothers have proved—to their own satisfaction—that Vicks VapoRub is best for relieving colds, for both children and grown-ups.

Now they are becoming just as enthusiastic about Vicks Va-tro-nol—for nose and throat—the highly successful aid in preventing many colds.

VapoRub and Va-tro-nol—with simple rules of everyday living to help build resistance to colds—form the basis of the now famous Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. This practical, inexpensive, easy-to-follow Plan is based on common sense and sound medical knowledge. It represents the 30 years' experience of Vicks Chemists and Medical Consultants, specializing in the study of colds.

Vicks Plan has been thoroughly tested in clinics supervised by practicing physicians—and further proved in everyday home use by millions, helping them to have fewer, shorter and milder colds.

Proof in Results—Not Mere "Claims"

The effectiveness of Vicks Plan has been proved for others. For you and your family, the best proof of it is in actual use in your own home. The trial package you will receive contains samples of Vicks Aids to Better Control of Colds . . . and the important information you need for following Vicks Plan. Test the samples—follow the Plan—then watch results!

If you do not receive your sample Colds-Control package within the next few days, write to Vicks, 300 Milton St., Greensboro, N. C., and one will be sent to you by return mail—postpaid.

—AND SAVINGS BANK

Most people think of this Bank as a place to borrow money. It is a good place to borrow. But it is also a good place to deposit your savings.

Save In Safety

Each month this bank receives and safeguards the deposits of tens of thousands of customers. To us they bring their savings in fullest confidence. They know that this bank is a State bank under State supervision. They know it is a member of the Federal Reserve System and also a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and that every savings account up to $5,000.00 in this bank is insured and guaranteed for the full amount by the Government of the United States. Moreover our ratio of invested capital to total deposits is unusually high.

Get Higher Interest

Most important, our customers know that this bank is now paying—and will continue to pay—2½% interest, compounded semi-annually. This is higher than the prevailing rate in Chicago.

Meet Friendly Bankers

Besides its safety and the higher rate your money earns here, this bank offers you many other advantages. This is a personal, friendly bank. We accept no commercial deposits and therefore the officials can devote their entire time and attention to taking care of your individual needs, no matter how small your balance is.

Save Where You Can Borrow

It's a good idea, also, to deposit your savings at the same bank where—if you ever want to—you can borrow money. (Every year we lend millions of dollars to our depositors on liberal terms in amounts ranging from $50.00 to $5,000.00 or more.)

Save Time, Too

You'll find it easy to do business here. Our street-level entrance is right in the heart of the Loop's banking center. There are plenty of receiving and paying tellers so you don't ever have to wait in a long line. Or—you can deposit here by mail.

LOAN DEPARTMENT

We make all kinds of personal loans at low cost and on liberal terms—on collateral, on character and on automobiles—and, of course, we lend money for the repair, alteration and improvement of real estate under the National Housing Act, Title I. In nineteen years of steady growth we have made over half a million loans and Chicagoans in every walk of life endorse our lending policies.

TEST FOR SOCIAL CREDIT LEAGUE IN ALBERTA NEAR

Aberhart Pressed to Pay $25 "Dividend."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

EDMONTON, Alta., Jan. 12.—The testing time for Premier William Aberhart's Social Credit government in this province is drawing near. The Alberta legislature opens Feb. 6. All signs point to strong pressure being brought to bear on the government to take some definite steps toward putting into effect the promises made before the election.

In a recent address at Calgary, Premier Aberhart, acknowledged there is considerable grumbling in the provincial ridings [districts] over the delay in giving the people their promised basic dividends of $25 monthly. He said, "You will have to stop your grumbling, your confounded grumbling. I will put Social Credit into effect when I get a good foundation and not before."

"Sparring for Time."

"The premier is sparring for more time, it would appear," a prominent politician ventured. "At his Calgary meeting he said: 'It is only six months since I got in office and you are impatient. In six months you will have recall legislation in the province and if you want to you can banish me to the tall timbers. You can give me two years or put me out.'"

Previously Aberhart had said he wanted eighteen months to establish Social Credit.

Financial houses and bond dealers here freely predict the government will be out of office in less than two years, but that that will not be before considerable harm has been done to the credit of the province.

"The Alberta government will default before it is ousted," a prominent bond dealer said this week. "And that despite the many times repeated assurance of the premier that default is not being considered as a possibility."

Blocks Spending.

There is considerable criticism by financiers and bond dealers of the course being followed by R. J. Magor, financial adviser to the Aberhart government in its efforts to balance the budget.

"The credit of the province will be damaged seriously by the course being followed by Magor," a member of a brokerage house stated today. "Magor is treating the province exactly as he would a private company whose budget must be balanced. He says: 'We must balance the budget at all costs. Expenditures must be cut down, and the province must live within its income from now on. Not a cent must be expended on new roads for ten years and reductions must be made in social service outlays in order to bring the expenditures within the income of the province.'"

"Alberta is not a private corporation that can be dealt with that way. We are a perpetual corporation that must keep going no matter what happens. It is impossible to live within the income of the province at present and the only way the budget can be balanced is by defaulting on our obligations," this financier declared.

In his first general summary of the financial situation of the province, issued before going east a few days before the holidays, Magor said he still had to find approximately $900,000 to balance the budget.

$2,500,000 RELIEF BILL EXPECTED TO PASS ON WEDNESDAY

Legislative leaders were convinced yesterday that no obstacles would arise in the general assembly this week to block enactment of a $2,500,000 appropriation for relief from the state's general revenue fund. Final passage of the measure will come on Wednesday, they said, the last day the relief stations could keep open unless funds be forthcoming.

Until recently Gov. Horner stood against using the revenue fund for relief, saying that it has been appropriated for other purposes, but in calling the legislature into a second special session on relief problems last week, he implied that he would favor such an appropriation. Immediately after passage, the bill will be rushed to him for his signature.

Today, the Illinois Emergency Relief commission is to meet to allocate among the 102 counties the $2,500,000 fund on an "if and when received" basis. When notified on Wednesday that the governor has signed the bill the IERC will be able immediately to authorize the counties to spend their allocations, which will finance relief for the remainder of January.

SUGAR ESTATES IN PORTO RICO TO BE SPLIT UP: ICKES

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Secretary of the Interior Ickes told representatives of sugar interests today that the New Deal is committed to breaking up great sugar estates in Porto Rico which, he said, are violating a law forbidding the corporate ownership of more than 500 acres of land.

The lands, he explained, will be homesteaded to get thousands of landless persons back to the soil.

Ickes started for home today after a brief Caribbean visit.

MORE LIGHT ON AAA.

The annual report of Armour & Co., made public a few days ago, throws much light on the AAA. Citizens who would like to have facts upon which to base a judgment of the worth of the Wallace experiment can find a good many of them in the report.

The accounting covers the year to Nov. 2, 1935. In that year the company's sales, measured in tons, declined by 3 per cent. The sales, measured in dollars, increased by more than 21 per cent. The company received more money for less meat, but its profits declined. They declined because the lack of volume of business raised unit costs.

The principal shortage was in hogs. In 1934 farmers sent 44 million hogs to market; in 1935 only 29 million hogs were marketed.

The production of hogs, as every one knows, was limited by the AAA. The production of sheep and cattle was not. "Cattle and sheep," says the report, "came to market in something like normal numbers, although cattle were somewhat lighter than usual." The smaller numbers of sheep and cattle in the markets reflected the consequences of the drouth; the enormous decline in the number of hogs sold reflected the effects of the drouth plus the activities of the AAA.

"A decrease in tonnage is a matter of great concern to our industry," the report continues. "Successful packing house operations depend on large volume. Unit costs advance rapidly if output declines."

A decrease in tonnage is of great concern to hosts of others who do not ordinarily think of themselves as within the packing industry. Fifteen million hogs were not sent to market. Therefore an army of railroad employés was laid off. The rise in railroad securities which has followed the AAA decision is a measure of the harm which AAA did to the transportation industry. Therefore, too, another army of truckers joined the unemployed. The railroads used less coal and the trucks consumed less gasoline; therefore miners and men in the oil business were out of work. The railroads had less money with which to buy new equipment and maintain their rights of way; therefore there was less work in the steel mills. Trucks were idle; therefore there was less work in the automobile factories for makers of parts and new trucks. Also, there was less work than there would have been for tire makers.

All of these people and many more were thrown out of work by AAA. Had they been employed they would have had wages to spend for farm products and factory products. They, together with packing house employés, farm laborers, farm tenants, and all consumers, were the forgotten men and women of the AAA.

The Armour report is instructive in another connection. It shows smaller profits, amounting to no more than 1⅝ cents on each dollar of sales, but many of the smaller packing houses were unable to earn profits even at this low rate. To many small packers, in Chicago and elsewhere, the decision of the Supreme court came just in time to rescue them from bankruptcy and their employés from the dole. It is now generally understood that NRA imposed far heavier burdens on small business than on big business, but it is not so generally recognized that AAA worked to the same end. The owners of large farms and plantations suffered relatively little under AAA, while tenants and sharecroppers paid dearly for it. Likewise, the big packers were able to keep their heads above water, though with difficulty, but the small packers found themselves hopelessly squeezed by lack of volume and lack of working capital.

Those who lament the passing of AAA are looking at only one side of the question. AAA should be replaced with a kind of farm relief which will benefit farmers without ruining tens and hundreds of thousands of others.

IMPORTED FROM ITALY.

Among the new friends of the farmer is a representative from New York City who wants the constitution amended so congress "shall have power to establish uniform laws throughout the United States to regulate agriculture and industry; to regulate, limit, and prohibit the labor of persons under 18 years of age; to limit the work time and establish minimum compensation of wage earners; to provide for the relief of the aged, invalided, sick, and unemployed wage earners and employés in the form of periodical grants, pensions, benefits, compensation, or indemnities from the public treasury, from contributions of employers, or from one or more of such sources; to establish and take over natural resources, properties, and enterprises in manufacture, mining, commerce, transportation, banking, public utilities, and other business to be owned and operated by the government of the United States or agencies thereof for the benefit of the people, and generally for the social and economic welfare of the workers, farmers, and the consumers."

The author of this totalitarian substitute for American government is Vito Marcantonio, appropriate name for an ambitious Fascist. We are wondering if Signor Marcantonio wears a black shirt or just keeps a supply ready for the march on Washington.

THE MONEY FOR THE BONUS.

The house has passed the bonus bill by an overwhelming majority. With a majority almost as large the suggestion of Representative Treadway of Massachusetts to pay the veterans from the unexpended balance of the 4 billion dollar relief appropriation was voted down. Plainly the house was in no mood to consider the difficult question of ways and means. The representatives wanted to get the measure started on its way as quickly as possible.

It is to be hoped that the senate will give full consideration to the Treadway proposal. Congress cannot permanently overlook the fact that the money must be found somewhere. Obviously no such sum can be obtained in a year or two by additional taxation. Equally obviously, the addition of more than 2¼ billion dollars to the national debt menaces the nation's credit.

The greater part of the 4 billion dollar fund remains unspent. With prudent management the balance is sufficient to pay all or nearly all the cost of the bonus. The fact that the payment of the bonus will in itself result in a material reduction in the demands for relief is a further point in favor of using the balance as suggested.

THE CONGRESS STREET PLAN.

While public apathy toward the project for an improved Congress street, as proposed by Daniel H. Burnham in 1908, seems fairly general, the various organizations that have been formed to boost the project appear undismayed. The supply of new plans for the construction of what was once visualized as "an axis for Chicago" appears to be inexhaustible.

THE TRIBUNE would be glad to see the property along Congress street improve in value both to enrich its owners and to add to the taxable values of Cook county, but if any money is to be provided by general taxation for the construction of new streets the first consideration should be the building of elevated highways. Enhancement of real estate holdings, no matter how desirable, must yield precedence to methods for checking the massacre.

BRIDGING THE LAKE.

Some six months ago—on July 5, to be exact—an editorial appeared in these columns suggesting automobile ferry service from Chicago to some point on the east shore of Lake Michigan between Benton Harbor and Michigan City. In so far as pleasure cars are concerned, it would enable motorists to or from the east or Michigan's delightful summer resorts to "short-circuit" the congested roadways through the industrial district to the south of Chicago. It would bring Michigan's fruit belt forty miles closer to Chicago because the water distance to Benton Harbor, as an instance, is just that much shorter than the highway route. Transportation companies offering truck service to and from Michigan, or shippers of new automobiles and trucks, could avoid fees or restrictions imposed by the intermediate state of Indiana.

Since last summer's editorial Milwaukee interests have been able to see the advantage of the short cut made available by water transportation. Two separate companies are offering ferry service between that city and Muskegon. The boats have been remodeled for vehicle accommodation, but of course they lack the efficiency that ingenuity could build into a new vessel.

It has been stated that a company has been formed in Chicago to inaugurate such a service as we have outlined. Whether or not it will be successful is for the public to determine, but the proposal has all the earmarks of the answer to a transportation need.

Editorial of the Day

ON CONDITIONS IN IOWA.

[Des Moines Register.]

Sale of a Carroll county farm the other day for $200 an acre was a sort of landmark in the recovery of the Iowa real estate market. It was the first $200 sale in many months. That, however, was a single case; the report issued recently in Washington by the Farm Credit administration provides the first dependable yardstick we have had for measuring the 1935 recovery in land values on a nation-wide basis.

In the first ten months of last year the administration resold more than 6,400 farms which had been surrendered to the federal land banks under defaulted mortgages, realizing 101.2 per cent of the value at which the land had been carried. In all of 1934 only 4,900 such sales had been made, with a recovery of 100.1 per cent; for 1933 the comparative figures were 4,100 sales and 97.5 per cent recovered.

Another distinct improvement is noted in the collection record. Payments up to Dec. 1 were slightly more than 90 per cent of the total maturities up to that date. For the corresponding period in 1934 the payment record was 87 per cent. The encouraging inference from that is that the farmers are not only keeping up the payments on their current maturities but are also managing to pick up some of the older instalments.

To fully appreciate this improvement it is necessary to remember, as to Iowa's share in it, that much of the state's corn crop is still to be marketed, mainly in the form of hogs and cattle now on feed. The full measure of Iowa's recovery after the poor crop of 1934 will therefore not be apparent until later this winter and early next spring.

NO FOOLING.

In an exciting golf match between two English amateurs over a Scottish course one of the players, after studying a tricky shot for some seconds, finally called for his No. 1 iron.

"Naething o' the kind, sir," said the caddie, flatly, taking another club out of the bag; "you play your brassie. I've got a bob on you to win, and you're gaun to win."—American Golfer.

WHEN THE NEWS CROSSES THE STYX.

A first folio edition of Shakespeare's plays has been sold in New York for $28,000. Which proves, poets and book writers, that you should not worry—all in good time your genius will bring in lots of money. Of course, you'll be very dead by that time, but reflect, even if Shakespeare were around now to collect that $28,000, Mr. Shakespeare's heart would simply break when he had to pay the income tax on it. And after all, over on the other side of the Styx Mr. Shakespeare can get a lot of satisfaction out of the sale of his book in New York.

When he runs across Mr. Bacon over at the Styx Cocktaille Shoppe he will probably say genially, "Well, Francis, old cock, I see that down on earth they've paid twenty-eight thousand smackers for one of my books. I haven't heard of anybody down there paying that much for one of your books. It rather looks as though there is no longer any doubt about my writing my own stuff, what, what, what!"

And all Mr. Bacon can do is to give Bill a dirty look and mutter something about people who were so illiterate they could hardly sign their own names and being arrested for poaching and chased out of town and so on and that it would be hard to believe that guys like that could write a book that would sell for twenty-eight thousand bucks.

"And, anyhow," Mr. Bacon will probably add, "I did write Shakespeare; and that's that!" And Henry the Eighth, Alexander the Great, Julius Caesar, Anne Boleyn, Danton, Charlotte Corday, and Queen Elizabeth, who will likely enough be in the tavern at the time, will take sides loudly and vociferously and the old argument will start all over again.

SIMPLE PLEASURE.

In winter time I love to go
Out in the fields, in the world of snow,
Out where the frost has draped white lace
On shrubs and weeds; to the magic place
Where the rabbits danced 'round some silvery tree;
Where the pond is glass and I may see
Crystal treasures in caves, green mossed,
Pearls and diamonds lavishly tossed.

In winter time I love to go
Where cornstalks crumple in drifts of snow;
Where circling quail dangers boldly face
And the field mouse curls in his husk-lined space;
Where the foxtail feasts the chickadee,
Where a pheasant rises, gloriously;
Where dainty footprints lead to a dome,
A snow-topped, grass-thatched hummock—a home

I go every day to the fields a bit,
And tramp about for the love of it.

ROBERTA ROBERTSON.

THEY'RE NOT GOING to call it the AAA any more. No, not since the Supreme court administered the kick in the pants. After this it's going to be the Soil Conservation Plan. But a rose, as old Bill Shakespeare used to say, by some other nomenclature would preserve its sweet and lovely odor. Or speaking of garlic, no matter what you called the thing, it would still smell like garlic.

"'JAFSIE' Sails for S. America on Eve of Plea."—Headline. And as far as I am concerned Jafsie can remain indefinitely in S. America. And I wouldn't worry if he went on to the S. Pole and established a permanent residence. And why? No reason, only I feel towards Jafsie as young Mr. Brown felt towards Dr. Fell:

"I do not love thee, Dr. Fell:
The reason why I cannot tell;
But this I know and know full well:
I do not love thee, Dr. Fell."

"U. OF. MINN. Takes Position that Football Coach Should Be Paid No More than Dean."—Headline. What! Then we might as well close the colleges. Higher education is a failure.

COLLOQUY.

(The Fifth.)

The rapturous inquietude of love
Comes to me as a soft relieving wind
To one penned in a heated abattoir . . .

To me it brings relief from what we know
Haunts specter-like our lives—the dread of being
A dry forgotten reed upon the shore . . .

I seem to see long vistas of delight
Unroll themselves, and offer founts of bliss
Whose jeweled play I did not even dream of . . .

You see at last with eyes open and wide,
Initiated into mysteries
Whose sesame is that thing we call love . . .

O I would ask to glimpse this golden thing
That like the powder of an alchemist
Transmutes the gross of being to filmy air . . .

It is a bubble, iridescent, shy,
That mirrors far more than its depths can hold,
Touch it but once and it is gone, ah where . . .

Strange that the ultimate of bliss is wrapped
In secrecy . . . vouchsafe a blinding glance—
Its face—only the fragrance of its breath . . .

I see two words upon the tapestry
Of night, resplendent in an undimmed glow,
That limn themselves in patterns—love and death.

MR. HOOVER THINKS Harold Ickes, the secretary of the interior, owes him an apology. If one waits for a statesman in a campaign year to apologize to a statesman on the other side it is like waiting for King Haile Selassie to buy a half dozen safety razors.

HARDENING OF THE ARTERIES.

We may compare arteries to an underground tube system designed to carry food supplies. Trafic proceeds in a steady, orderly manner, with the terminals well stocked. Suppose we reduce the diameter of the tubes one-half or one-third and what happens? Way stations as well as the terminals receive less food unless the speed [pressure] is correspondingly increased. If the pressure of trafic rises we have [in the arteries] a higher blood tension [blood pressure or hypertension]. The word arteriosclerosis means hardening and hence narrowing of arteries. The caliber of the blood carrying tubes is reduced and there is a loss of elasticity.

Blood pressure varies greatly. In fact, in the same individual it may fluctuate under different conditions. In normal persons the systolic pressure ranges from 120 to 130 millimeters of mercury, but in those over 50 one would not interpret a pressure slightly under 160 as unduly high. Above that level we ordinarily say that the tension is increased.

There is, unfortunately, a type of high blood pressure in which no detectable disease of the arteries or of the kidneys can be found. This is sometimes called essential hypertension or hyperplesia. In such patients the pressure may be 180 or even higher. By many authors such a condition is attributed to some disturbance of the sympathetic nervous system and good results have been reported through cutting certain sympathetic nerve trunks—those that govern the abdominal blood vessels. Another type of the disease is that which primarily involves the heart and the kidneys, or that springs from slowly progressing destruction of kidney tissue.

In general we often associate hypertension with advancing years. In other words, when it appears in a 40 year old individual it is regarded as a sign of premature aging. In fact, long life is closely associated with the condition of the arteries, that is, the amount of "vital rubber" they contain. Because of excessive demands upon the blood vessels a man of 40 may possess arteries as badly degenerated as the average person of 80. There is no hereditary factor except that each of us has inherited the dominant nervous temperament and disposition of some ancestor. Any one can make a bad use of good blood vessels. We can drink too much alcohol, or expose the body to poisons or to disease and, as a result, blood damage will occur. Poisons in and of themselves do not raise the blood vessel pressure, but they alter the quality of the blood, which in turn affects the vessels.

When the coronary arteries—those that supply blood to the heart muscle—become affected, the nourishment of this important organ is reduced. Sometimes one of these vessels will become so narrowed that it will close off entirely and thus a section of the heart muscle may cease to function. These patients present heart symptoms primarily.

We must look upon arteriosclerosis as the result of disease and not the cause of it. Nevertheless, much may be done for the sufferer. New arteries cannot replace worn out structures but the character of the blood can be greatly improved.

Within recent years the feeding of considerable quantities of calcium has been recommended. At the same time the patients are placed upon a program involving weight reduction, rest, relief from stress and worry, and sufficient exercise to keep the muscles and blood vessels in good tone.

Protein should not be eliminated from the diet, as it has been shown that a rapid increase in symptoms may follow this procedure. Common salt should be restricted and the skin kept active by daily baths. I know of many active business men who are carrying fairly high pressures at times—160 to 180. They are going along unusually well under careful medical supervision which includes a rest period of an hour following a light lunch each day.

Prevention lies in the cultivation of equanimity and in saving the physical body as well as the nervous system all possible strain. A thorough medical examination at least once each year is advisable.

BUNIONS.

S. L. writes: I am suffering from bunions. Can they be removed permanently? Is the operation painful?

REPLY.

An operation performed by a competent orthopedic surgeon will bring relief, but you must thereafter wear properly fitting shoes or the deformity will recur. Do not walk too soon after the operation. There should be but little pain connected with surgical removal.

IRON FOODS.

R. M. writes: What foods are rich in iron?

REPLY.

MORTGAGE RESPONSIBILITY.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Twelve years ago I built a home. There was a mortgage on this home which I had signed for five years. I sold this home and the buyer assumed the mortgage. In the meantime this home has been sold to two different parties. The last party has not paid the taxes for several years and has neglected the upkeep of the house, so it's not worth the first mortgage. Now, after twelve years, the holder of the first mortgage is suing me. Am I, after twelve years, responsible for that mortgage? B. C.

Illinois cases have advanced the theory that after sale and assumption of the mortgage the original mortgage debtor is in the position of a surety and the new owner is in the position of a principal debtor. It would follow that an extension of time granted to the principal debtor without the consent of the surety would release the surety. You should employ an attorney to present this defense.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ESTATE PROBATE.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I was left by will a parcel of land in Idaho. The said will was made and filed in Wisconsin. Every article in said will was probated except this Idaho land and the reason given for this exception was "the land was of little value." I would like to have this probated. What do you think the total cost would be? I realize I will have to employ an Idaho attorney. R. A. P.

It is not clear whether you mean that the Idaho land was not inventoried in the proceedings, or simply that no additional proceedings were taken in Idaho. If the latter, we suggest that you merely file at the county seat of the county in which the land is situated an exemplified treatment of the Wisconsin proceedings. Take this matter up with the clerk of the Wisconsin court.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. What is the statute of limitations for filing suit in Illinois for personal injury? 2. If the party is out of the state and has no connections here [3] what procedure should I use in bringing about a suit? A. M. A.

1. Two years.
2. In general, the Illinois statute of limitations would not run while the defendant was absent from this state.
3. Employ an attorney here to forward to an attorney there for action.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland.—Poland starts the new year with a government radically different from the hard boiled régime of Marshal Josef Pilsudski.

This great Pole died on May 13. During his nine year dictatorship he attempted to teach his countrymen the necessity of compromising their internal quarrels and to present a united front to Europe on questions of foreign policy. With the aid of the small group of men who assisted him to organize his legions which won Poland's independence, he outlawed the political parties that had ruined his country and established a nonpartisan form of government. This rule has just begun to function.

The new government is headed by progressives. Premier Zyndram Koscialkowski and Minister of Finance Eugene Kwiatkowski both are trying to develop public support for their policies and are having some success. A year ago it was impossible for either a local editor or foreign correspondent to obtain information from government officials. Some ministries threatened employés with dismissal for even conversing with newspaper men.

The nation's press suffered under a rigid military censorship. Better trained and equipped to find news than their Polish colleagues, foreign correspondents in Warsaw dug up information to send abroad. This news was immediately telephoned and telegraphed back to Poland to appear in the Polish press. Today, with only one exception, government ministries and institutions are on friendly terms with the press.

When the new policy became known there was much rejoicing. Staid ministers upon meeting their editor friends actually embraced and kissed them in public.

Foreign Minister Josef Beck still forbids his ministry to divulge information. Newspaper men still are forbidden to enter the foreign office club. Beck is one of the most astute diplomats Poland has ever produced, but he is not a politician and has no public following.

Poland is anxiously watching the functioning of her new nonparty parliament. Some members were elected and others appointed by President Moscicki. Under the new constitution the president has wide powers and he has not been afraid to use them. Moscicki, lifelong friend of Pilsudski, is wielding the authority the dead dictator used so energetically. But the secretive methods of the brusk old revolutionary have been modified. Consequently the nation is enjoying more freedom of speech and press than it has had since 1926.

In the old parliament political parties and groups organized what they called "klubs," but no political groupings have yet been noticed in the new chambers.

The activities of parliament during the year will be followed by other countries, especially the Baltic states. They are contemplating forming new governments to replace the French parliamentary system which most countries adopted after the world war and which in the majority of cases proved failures.

Poland's relations with her neighbors also are showing slight signs of improvement. The government's refusal to join the eastern security pact, which was directed against Germany, and Pilsudski's decision to join with Germany in a ten year pact of nonaggression and friendship strengthened Poland's position against Moscow and increased her waning prestige on the Baltic.

Beck has made no announcement concerning his foreign policies for more than a year, but according to the foreign office strong efforts will be made to better Poland's connections with all her neighbors.

Although Poland has repeatedly claimed recognition as a great power, this pretension has been ignored by the great powers and ridiculed by the small countries which would like to see Poland play ball with them. Although numerically Poland is the fourth largest country in Europe, her standard of living brings her much nearer the foot of the list. The tragic poverty of her population also more nearly approximates that of her great eastern neighbor than any other European state.

Poland is trying hard to obtain a large loan abroad. Although she is especially anxious to induce foreign capital to assist in the industrialization of her resources, large foreign concerns, after sending representatives to make a first hand study of conditions, have turned down her offers.

Poland, according to both her own and foreign investigators, has been living far beyond her means. So long as the government refuses to cut expenditures for armaments, which comprise approximately half of the budget, a return to normal conditions will be difficult and foreign capital will hesitate to invest in Poland.

A CANDIDATE ON GREED.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—The majority opinion of the Supreme court declaring the AAA void reflects the greedy wishes of special privilege and standpat Republicanism. The court, in its avid desire to enshrine the god of big business, decreed a life of slavery and gradual starvation for the farmer and city worker. The American tradition of individual liberty in the pursuit of happiness has been set aside by judicial fiat in favor of unbridled license for the rich few. Greed and special privilege have been given judicial sanction to gang up on the rights of the American people. The freedom of our people to legislate for their general welfare shall be no more. So say six judges of the Supreme court.

Shall this doctrin of special privilege prevail in America? Shall the average citizen who toils be obliged to bow down in poverty and shame to the ravenous barons of human exploitation? Most certainly not. America shall free herself of the new bondage arising from this recent judicial veto of individual liberty; sovereignty in the people shall again be restored after the overwhelming Democratic victory this fall.

It shall be my determined pleasure to aid in every possible way to completely annihilate this new judicial god of greed.

J. FRANK LINDSEY,
Democratic Candidate for Congress.

A FARMER'S WIFE ON THE SAME.

Gilbertsville, Ky., Jan. 7.—I wonder why so many people presumed that the phrase "entrenched greed," which President Roosevelt used so glibly in his address to congress, could be applied only to the big moneyed men of the east.

I am the wife of an ex-sharecropper. To me "entrenched greed" means the farmer on whose 400 acres we grew crops on the 50-50 basis for 16 years. He furnished good teams and tools, and a comfortable house. We lived securely and happily. When prices of farm products were low the prices of the things we had to buy were also low and we had no cause to complain.

Then like a scourge out of heaven the AAA descended upon us. The landlord learned that he could get more for not farming than he could get for the half of the crop we paid him for rent, and there was no risk to run. He explained that he would be a fool not to accept the government's offer and told us to get out. We got—we and our five little children. We moved into a leaky shack and went on relief. What else could we do?

I who had always held my head as high as any one and who had never tasted the bitter cup of public charity had to stand in line in our nearest little town, holding out my hand for relief script while my friends, who have known me all my life, looked on pityingly.

Sometimes my husband was given work. During corn gathering time this last fall he was piddling around with a crew building privies—yes, building privies out of scrap lumber and being paid by the federal government, while the land where he should have been gathering corn, had it not been for the same government's meddling, was supporting a crop of withered weeds.

One of my neighbors told me this morning that AAA has been thrown into the discard by the Supreme court. I shouted, "Praise God for the Supreme court!" I am hoping the brain trust will not concoct a substitute for AAA. When I read of some official deploring the state of the farmer without the AAA benefits I long to ram a handful of relief script down his throat or put him to building privies. MRS. LANDO DAY.

OFF THE RECORD.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 10.—A Milwaukee business man attending a directors' meeting in New York at which "the late" Al Smith was present asked of the latter his opinion of Roosevelt. He is said to have replied: "Can you nail a custard pie to the wall?"

CUSTARD PIE LOATHER.

MR. O'BRIAN BEFORE THE SUPREME COURT.

Hammond, Ind., Dec. 31.—On Dec. 26 your paper published an editorial quoting a question and answer occurring in the argument before the Supreme court of the United States in the case of Ashwander vs. Tennessee Valley authority, the quoted remarks being a question from one of the justices to Mr. John Lord O'Brian, who is arguing the case for the government.

It interested me because I have known Mr. O'Brian for thirty years, and intimately for twenty-three years, and knowing him as I do I was satisfied that you put him in a light that was false.

When Chief Justice Hughes was the governor of New York he was a liberal governor, and Mr. O'Brian was the floor leader in the New York assembly for the administration measures. He is a Buffalo lawyer and Theodore Roosevelt appointed him United States attorney for the western district of New York. So ably did he fill this office that successive attorneys general retained him. Mr. O'Brian is a Republican and always has been. In President Wilson's administration Justice McReynolds, then attorney general, retained Mr. O'Brian for special work for the government. President Wilson's attorney general, Mr. Gregory, also retained Mr. O'Brian, and Mr. O'Brian left the government services at his own request in order to become the candidate for the better element in Buffalo for the office of mayor.

I was once an employé of Mr. O'Brian's law office in Buffalo and I count it one of the high spots of my life that I was privileged at one time to have a close observation of the life and work of a true gentleman, an American lawyer of broad culture, with the highest legal, social, and ethical conception of his place as a lawyer in modern society. It therefore pained me to see the editorial. I clipped it and sent it to him and from the answer he made me I quote the following:

> Of course the quoted reply attributed to me is false, as no such remark was made. What Judge Butler was intending to ask about were the activities of the Electric Home and Farm authority, an ancillary corporation which had been organized under the recovery act for the purpose of providing money with which to discount the commercial paper received by dealers in electrical appliances on the sale of appliances to small householders, farmers, etc. Judge Butler seemed to be under the impression that it was a corporation engaged in selling appliances, and he wanted to know if I thought it constitutional. In reply I explained to him that the corporation was a credit discount corporation, not a sales corporation, that it had been dissolved, and that while I had not been the legal adviser of the TVA, I thought its constitutionality was doubtful. There was no discussion as to the extent of its activities and it was not engaged in competing with the manufacturers of electric appliances, but was in fact helping to promote that business by aiding in the purchase of electrical appliances by the public on the instalment plan. The corporation had ceased to exist before I came into the case.

I too am Republican and am in sympathy with much of your criticism of the New Deal, but an inaccurate criticism is like a shot that misses its target and is worse than wasted.

SEES FASCIST PLOT TO WRECK U. S.-REDS AMITY

Moscow Writer Claims Peace Is Menaced.

MOSCOW, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The authoritative soviet writer, Karl Radek, today accused American Fascist sympathizers of plotting to wreck soviet-United States friendship.

Writing in the government organ, Izvestia, Radek charged that the principal aim of these Fascist adherents is to obstruct the stabilization of world peace, which, he said, close soviet-American coöperation would help to bring about.

Radek expressed regret that Vyacheslaff Molotov, president of the council of commissars, in speaking before the central executive committee Friday, was "deprived of the chance" to report a strengthening of friendship with America.

Friendship Aids Peace.

Molotov said only that relations were "developing normally, especially trade and economic trends."

Referring indirectly to the far eastern situation, Radek maintained that the same basis of "nonclashing political interests" exists for soviet-American coöperation as for Anglo-soviet coöperation.

"Reactionary and Fascist sympathizing circles in America understand perfectly well," the writer asserted, "the importance of a soviet-American rapprochement would have for the question of peace—and for that very reason they are resorting to various pretexts to prevent it."

Arms "Not a Threat."

Premier Molotov's statement that soviet military expenditures would be increased, he added, "was not a threat to anybody, but merely intended to show the foolishness of thinking about war against a powerful country like that of the soviets."

Molotov had accused both the Japanese and the Germans of preparing for aggression against the soviet union.

Prime Minister Gen Dun and War Minister Demid of Outer Mongolia, who have been in Moscow for some time conferring with soviet leaders over alleged Japanese threats to invade their country, entrained last night for Ulan Bator [Urga].

U. S. PROTEST RECALLED.

Activities of the Cominteren [Communist International] congress last summer brought a stiff note of protest from the United States, demanding that alleged bolshevik interference in American internal affairs cease forthwith. The soviet government, in reply, refused to asume responsibility for actions of the Comintern.

Speakers before the Moscow congress, some of the Americans, had urged a united front movement in America and other countries to combat Fascism. The American protests alleged that these speeches constituted violations of soviet noninterference pledges made at the time President Roosevelt recognized the soviet union.

OLD REMBRANDT LURES 15,000 TO ART INSTITUTE

Pleasant weather and the "box office appeal" of Old Master Rembrandt yesterday gave the Art institute its biggest day since its exhibition accompanying A Century of Progress. Waiting in line for the doors to open at noon yesterday were 275 persons, and by late afternoon it was estimated that 15,000 people had entered the building. They formed lines five abreast within the lobby and on the stairs awaiting entrance to G-52, the Rembrandt exhibit. "Christ at Emmaus," the Rembrandt painting lent by the Louvre, was the central point of interest.

"The remarkable thing is that the crowd has been attracted by just one painter," said Director Robert B. Harshe.

Harshe extended the closing time an hour to 6 p. m. At that time J. F. McCabe, building superintendent allowed those inside to take their time in viewing the paintings.

Slain Burglar Identified Through Finger Prints

Through finger prints police yesterday were able to establish the identity of the burglar shot to death by Frank Zadny, outside his home at 4026 West 26th street Saturday night as Walter Wajda, 23 years old, 4422 South Richmond street. The police record showed that Wajda was convicted of a larceny charge on July 3, 1934, and sentenced to one year. He also had been fined on a disorderly conduct charge and arrested on suspicion on several other occasions.

HYLAN FUNERAL WEDNESDAY; DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Twice Mayor of New York Passes at 67.

New York, Jan. 12.—[Special.]—The death of former Mayor John F. Hylan early today brought tributes and expressions of regret from many who had been associated with him during his eight years as mayor and from many present-day officials.

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, who was president of the board of aldermen during two years of the Hylan administration, ordered the flags on all public buildings to be put at half staf until after the funeral. He ordered Police Commissioner Lewis Valentine to accord to the late mayor all of the honors befitting his rank. This means an impressive police corps of men and officers at the funeral Wednesday morning.

Services at Church.

The body will remain at the Hylan home, Forest Hills, Queens, until 10 o'clock Wednesday, when the cortège will proceed to the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel, Brooklyn, where a solemn requiem mass will be celebrated.

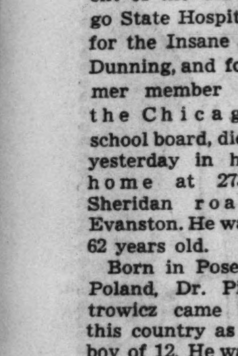
Judge Hylan is survived by Mrs. Hylan, the former Marion O'Hara, and a daughter, Mrs. Virginia Sinnott, who were at his bedside when he died of heart disease in his sixty-eighth year.

Children's Court Judge.

Judge Hylan was a justice of the Children's court division of the Domestic Relations court at the time of his death. He was elected mayor in 1917, reëlected in 1921 and beaten in a primary fight for the Democratic nomination for mayor in 1925 by James J. Walker. In 1930 he was appointed to the Children's court. His last move in the political picture was when he ran independently for governor in 1934.

DR. PIETROWICZ, MEDICAL LEADER FOR YEARS, DIES

Dr. Stephen Roman Pietrowicz, brain specialist, former superintendent of the Chicago State Hospital for the Insane at Dunning, and former member of the Chicago school board, died yesterday in his home at 2730 Sheridan road, Evanston. He was 62 years old.



DR. S. R. PIETROWICZ.

Born in Posen, Poland, Dr. Pietrowicz came to this country as a boy of 12. He was graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1898 and then took postgraduate work at Johns Hopkins university, and in London, Berlin, Vienna, and Rome.

In 1907 he became a professor at the Chicago College of Medicine and Surgery, now the University of Illinois Medical school. Former Mayor Carter Harrison appointed him superintendent of the Dunning asylum in 1911. He held that post for two years, and spent a like term as a school trustee from 1914 to 1916.

Dr. Pietrowicz was chief of staff of St. Mary of Nazareth hospital, a position he had held for many years. He is survived by his widow, the former Katherine Driscoll, and four children, Mrs. W. J. Byrnes, Stephen R., Francis B., and Ambrose L.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday in the chapel of St. Mary's hospital. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery.

FUNERAL RITES TOMORROW FOR CHARLES TAFFE

The funeral for Charles Francis Taffe, 68 years old, a plumbing contractor in Chicago for 45 years, who died Saturday, will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow from his home, 7801 Constance avenue, to Our Lady of Peace church. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

Mr. Taffe was born in Liverpool, England, and came to Chicago as a young man. He is a former president of the Master Plumbers' association of Chicago. He is survived by two sons.

Erik S. Ekstrom, Head of Auto Parts Firm, Dies

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Erik S. Ekstrom, 48, president of the Mechanics Universal Joint company of Rockford, died today. One of the most prominent industrial officials in the city, he had climbed to the presidency of his firm from a post as bookkeeper. He also at the time of his death was a director of the Sundstrand Machine Tool company here. He was a former president of the Rockford Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Marie Petru, Chicago Resident 60 Years, Is Dead

Mrs. Marie Petru, 87 years old, a resident of Chicago for 60 years, died yesterday at her home at 1643 Loeffler court. Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Bohemian School hall, 1126 West 18th street. Burial will be in the Bohemian National cemetery. She is survived by two sons, Frank J. Petru, president of the Cicero board of education, and Lambert T. Petru.

Mrs. Pontius O. Nyberg Dies in Oak Park Home

Mrs. Tula Nyberg, 52 years old, died yesterday of heart disease in her home at 118 South Scoville avenue, Oak Park. She is survived by her husband, Pontius O. Nyberg, an insurance counsel for Sears Roebuck & Co., and a daughter, Margaret. Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

MARY M'DERMOTT HOGAN, NOTED AS ARTIST, IS DEAD

Mrs. Mary E. McDermott Hogan, 68 years old, wife of Anthony P. Hogan, died yesterday at her home, 10735 Drew street. At the time of her marriage to Mr. Hogan she was the widow of Michael J. McDermott, well known building contractor, who died in 1914.

In the early 1900s, Mrs. Hogan was well known in Chicago as a representative type of Celtic beauty, an artist, and a musician. She won prizes for her portrait exhibits at the World's Columbian Exposition of 1893, toured widely as a concert harpist, and was a central figure in pageants and parades. In 1889 she married Mr. McDermott, who constructed the Pullman building, the first elevated line in the city from Congress street to 39th street, and the Fine Arts building at the Columbian exposition.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Hogan is survived by four sons, Michael J., Francis O., Gerald A., and Gerard B. McDermott, all of Chicago, and five daughters, Mrs. Henry Dolton, Mrs. John P. Lynn, Mrs. Marie Moore, Mrs. Anita O'Connor, of Chicago, and Mrs. Isabelle Campbell, of Los Angeles.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow from St. Barnabas church, 101st street and Longwood drive. Interment will be in Mount Olivet cemetery.

METZ, COMPOSER OF "HOT TIME," IS DEAD AT AGE OF 87

New York, Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Theodore August Metz, who ushered in the jazz era half a century ago with his composition, "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," died today in the Bronx. The 87 year old violinist, composer, and minstrel had been in a hospital since Dec. 18.

It was the first time in years that the old Prussian bandmaster had been so long away from his desk. Hundreds of younger associates in Tin Pan alley, who delighted to hear him tell how his song had spurred Theodore Roosevelt's "Rough Riders" at San Juan hill, looked in vain for the bent old figure with the sweeping white mustache, frock coat, and faded black Windsor tie.

"A Hot Time" was written while he was on tour with the minstrel troupe of McIntyre and Heath. He wrote it for a march to be used by the minstrels in their street parade. In a Louisiana hamlet called Old Town, he saw a colored man's cabin blazing fiercely. That gave him his idea.

C. B. DICKERSON, AURORA JUSTICE, DIES OF STROKE

Charles B. Dickerson, 64 years old, veteran justice of the peace in Aurora, died yesterday in the Copley hospital, Aurora, where he had been a patient since he suffered a stroke more than a week ago. Mr. Dickerson was a world war veteran and a former commander of the 33rd Division Veterans' association. He is survived by a daughter. Funeral services will be held in Healy's chapel, Aurora, at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow.

C. A. BRAINARD, 90, N. Y. COMMANDER OF G. A. R., IS DEAD

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Calvin A. Brainard, 90, New York department commander and national senior vice commander of the G. A. R. in 1923, died here today.

He was a member of the guard of honor which watched over the body of President Lincoln while it lay in state.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

A real radio romance will be culminated this morning at Holy Name cathedral when Pat O'Malley, baritone and raconteur of Jack Hylton's CBS revue, marries Margaret Mullen, pianist of the British Broadcasting company in London. They met in British studios a year or so ago. Three months ago Pat came to Chicago with the Hylton troupe to play a 26 weeks radio engagement. Miss Mullen remained in England because of prior radio commitments.

A fortnight ago while in Detroit Pat heard her give a recital during an international relay. He cabled her congratulations and asked her to come to America as soon as she could. She arrived Friday on the Europa and flew here from the east Saturday. A wedding breakfast for 75 friends is to be given at the Blackstone hotel at noon today.

In addition to his sponsored Sunday evening show O'Malley will appear with the Hylton troupe at the Drake hotel and over W-G-N and Mutual nightly beginning Jan. 24. The MBS program will be the first carrying Hylton's music into New York as his current sponsor does not operate east of Detroit.

After advertising in THE TRIBUNE last week for a docile lion to use photographically, O'Malley received a host of offers. He finally settled on using a six month old cub offered him by "Gorilla" Jones, middleweight boxer. Jones acquired the kitty in Paris. It is a shade bigger than a chow dog. O'Malley's name has been linked to lions ever since he popularized the narrative "Albert and the Lion" which was on the way to becoming the local hit of the season until Mr. Hodgson started going "Round and Round."

That little Joliet station which Medford Maxwell operates got a lot of national ballyhoo on Fred Allen's hour the other evening. The Town Hall master did a satiric bit on its "Big House Revue," which it initiated from the state prison a couple of months ago.

Hal Kemp has been studying code so that he can give those staccato brass notes in his musical arrangements. If you can't decipher them you might enlist the aid of Freeman Gosden [Amos]. He was a radio operator during the war. . . . The new boy in the Don Ameche household has been named Ronald Johns. Don is the leading man of "First Nighter" and "Grand Hotel." The first show is to be moved to Hollywood in several months when Ameche answers the studio call. . . . Edgar A. Guest, by the way, has returned from Hollywood and picture making, and is back at local studios again.

ROUT THAT COLD
Let It Not Hang on Thru the Use of Half-way Measures!
Beware of the "common cold"! The "common cold," doctors will tell you, is the cause of more serious trouble than anything else.
Many a person who is in a pneumonia jacket today just had a "common cold" yesterday!
Neglect no cold. Take no chances with your treatment.
Treat a cold with a cold medicine, not a "cure-all." Treat it also with internal medicine. A cold is an internal infection!
Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is, first of all, a cold tablet, made expressly for colds. Secondly, it is internal medication, fourfold in effect.
Here is what it does:
First, it opens the bowels, an advisable step in treating a cold.
Second, it checks the fever in the system, a vital step.
Third, it relieves the headache and fever.
Fourth, it tones the system and helps fortify against further attack.
When you feel a cold coming on, resort to no makeshift methods. Play safe and take Bromo Quinine. Taken promptly, it will often break up a cold in 24 hours and that's the end of that.
Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is safe to take. It is sold by all drug stores. The few pennies' cost may save you a lot in worry and medical bills. Say "no" to a substitute.

Artist's Touch Adds Beauty to Brahms Sonata

Winifred Christie Plays Double Keyboard Piano.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Winifred Christie played the Moor double keyboard piano at the Civic theater yesterday. Hearing her, one is content to take the word of others that the instrument has chordal and polyphonic possibilities outside the range of the conventional piano. There is no point in occupying the mind with technical details when all of one's faculties should be bent to the task of enjoying to the full her superlative musicianship.

Judging by the Bach and Brahms, Miss Christie is an ideal pianist. The quiet poetry and beauty of her playing are very happily combined with adequate mechanical dexterity, but her fully adult intelligence prevents any confusion in her mind on the subject of the duties of an interpreter. There is never a moment of garish display, never a bar where the glow of the composer's idea is dimmed by the shadow of the performer.

Before this song turns into blank verse I should like to arrest some of its momentum and say very simply and honestly that I never before knew how lovely the Brahms sonata could be. What we heard at the Civic theater yesterday was the young Brahms himself, projected with sympathy and lyric sweetness.

Of course this does not mean that Winifred Christie stands outside of her music, and contents herself with a literal reproduction of the creator's ideas. She has much too deep a poetic well of her own, and in her capacity of middleman between composer and hearer she is able to gild and glorify without distortion or misunderstanding.

The tone of the Moor double keyboard piano [and of any good piano, probably, under these particularly competent hands] is solemn and dignified where the script calls for such qualities, and brilliant almost to the point of brazenness when the music approaches a climax. Somewhere in between is Winifred Christie's most magical effect, a sustained singing mezzo-piano which seems completely independent of any such process as a hammer striking strings.

This recurrent temptation to go off into blank verse can best be resisted by a fact or two about the double keyboard piano. The upper manual is set very close to the lower [much closer than on an organ] and is tuned a full octave higher. Thus the performer has under his hands about four octaves instead of two, and is able to play extended chords with ease. It is possible to hold an organ point on the lower manual with the thumb, while the four fingers of the same hand carry a voice an octave and a half away in pitch, but only a few inches in distance. There are about a dozen of these instruments in the United States; their use is fairly widespread in Europe.

The Woman's Symphony orchestra played the third concert of its tenth anniversary season at the Studebaker yesterday afternoon. The prelude to "Hansel and Gretel," the Second Symphony of Brahms, and Eleanor Everest Freer's "Ballet Fantasy" from the one act opera "Legend of Spain," composed the program.

In this last offering the orchestra had the assistance of the Olga Valentine ballet group. The music is sprightly and pleasant and the choreography simple and fitting. In addition to Olga Valentine, the ballet principals were D'Vera Joseph and David Ahdar. Mrs. Freer was in the audience and received Ebba Sundstrom's congratulations at the conclusion of the piece.

The Woman's Symphony orchestra is busy with its drive to obtain 75 salary sponsors for the remaining programs of this season. The figure stands somewhere around 25 at present.

Woman's Aid Gives Tea Today for Two Artists

The Chicago Woman's aid will hold an art salon tea for Miss Clara MacGowan, president of the Chicago Society of Artists, and for Edwin Boyd Johnson, artist, at 2:30 o'clock today in the club rooms at 185 North Wabash avenue. Mr. Johnson's paintings and lithographs will be on view until Feb. 8 at the club. Miss MacGowan will speak on "Modern Art."

Ice Carnival Postponed

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Beverly Roach and others who had expected to participate in the ice carnival at the Exmoor Country club yesterday were disappointed because lack of ice necessitated postponing the event until next Sunday. Miss Roach, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Roach of Highland Park, built a snow man while waiting in vain for a favorable change in weather.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

COMING into the hospital was like entering a well run hotel for an indefinite stay. One made a reservation; there was a boy in uniform to take up one's bag; and, except for the height of its yellow bed, the room was not at all reminiscent of the hospital rooms of one's imagination. Pale yellow walls; the sun pouring in between tailored draperies of daffodil yellow; a yellow spread on the bed; a pale yellow screen patterned in gold. There was even a great bouquet on the table—feathery yellow mimosa, daffodils, iris, and narcissi. It seemed, perhaps, a final thoughtful idea of a courteous management, but the card revealed it was an offering from a friend, not from Passavant hospital. Quite happily indeed we set about unpacking; books on the painted yellow hanging bookrack, gowns and bed jackets and toilet articles, and the little amethyst quartz rabbit that is always taken visiting.

Hospital—Pun.

IT was not so cheerful, waking at 7 the next morning, to see, in the gray morning light, white linen hospital jacket, boots and cap lying in a neat pile on the bureau, and to find an anæsthetist at one's side, stiffly starched and efficient. Her preliminary administrations mercifully blotted out the trip to the operating room and the taking of the anæsthetic. So the date with the surgeon was literally a "blind" date, and one woke up where one had gone to sleep, in the yellow bed.

NOT that one cared about the color then. One cared for nothing except to lie with closed eyes, and frequently, opening them and seeing the flaps of the nurse's cap silhouetted against the light, to beg for cold water through the glass siphon—merely to hold in one's mouth a few seconds.

But yesterday one began to consider laying aside the white linen hospital jacket in favor of one's own more flattering paraphernalia. And called for a mirror. And began to read the mail, if not yet to receive telephone calls or visitors.

PERHAPS it is our feeble condition that caused the following pun to threaten the new stitches. A bulletineer writes that his wife, seeing the picture caption, "Hitler Lunches on Doughnuts," observed, "Might one say, 'Out of the frying pan into the Fuehrer?'"

Iceboaters See Gala Week-End at Lake Zurich

Devise New Way to Clear Surface of Snow.

BY JUDITH CASS.

IT is unusual for winter sports enthusiasts to complain of too much snow, but when the particular group of enthusiasts is interested in ice boating then it is true that snow can be a hindrance. According to members of the Lake Zurich Ice Boating club, the winter has been a poor one so far for their sport, and while there has been a fair amount of sailing this winter, the most recent snow storm, which caused eight inches to fall on Lake Zurich's frozen surface, has been the despair of the group.

Even clearing broad lanes through the snow for the boats has failed against the sticky qualities of the latest snowfall. The next method to be tried for making sailing possible is that of flooding a portion of the surface.

The club, which was formed last fall, has taken over three houses on the shores of Lake Zurich, an hour's motoring time from the city. One is used as a dressing room for the man sailors, another is used by the women, and the third is a storehouse for necessary ice boating gear. The boats are E class, with 75 square feet of sail area.

Louis Ferguson Jr. Is Fleet Captain.

Edward E. Sheridan is chairman of the house committee, and the clubhouse boasts of one attendant; William B. Goltra has the difficult job of keeping the lake in good sailing condition, and Louis Ferguson Jr. is fleet captain.

John S. Manierre is commodore, and Alfred Brittain Jr. is secretary treasurer. Among the club's members are W. English Walling II. and George W. Harvey, who share an iceboat; J. Houstoun M. Clinch, Robert S. Laird, Daniel Leonard, William A. Magie II., Loren J. Massey, C. Porter Knight, Malcolm D. Vail, Arthur W. Wakely, Philip H. Schofield, Thomas C. Strachan Jr., Martin Lindsay, Mrs. Wilmarth Ickes, Beverly B. Veeder, Richard Roland, Harry Hunsberger, Arthur Kohlbusch, Frank W. Manegold, and R. K. Lockwood.

Many of these are ardent sailors in Lake Geneva and Lake Michigan during the warm weather months. The club's downtown headquarters is at the University club. There was no ice boating over the last week-end, but if Mr. Goltra is successful with his flooding and freezing experiment, there will be a gala week-end over the 19th.

Mrs. G. A. McKinlock Busy at Palm Beach.

And, by way of contrast to this "frozen" picture, a letter from Palm Beach brings word that Mrs. George A. McKinlock has started upon a round of activities there that bids fair to keep her days much occupied from now until after the annual flower show of the Palm Beach Garden club, which opens on Feb. 14. Mrs. McKinlock is president of the club and also is chairman of the town planning board, which last year landscaped Royal Palm way and this year plans to deal with swamp drainage, mosquito eradication, etc.

Mrs. McKinlock also is an active member of the Civic Art association, which has withdrawn from the Palm Beach Art league, with which it was affiliated last season. The association

Good Morning!

How can such a thing be with Claudette Colbert, Fred MacMurray, and Robert Young in the cast?

You tell me!

The story is idiotic to begin with. A silly, brassy, battle of the sexes thing without one clever line or situation. The rôles are so impossible that criticism of the acting is out of the question. I know that the three leading players bored me to tears and that for the first time in my life I thought that Claudette Colbert acted—cheap. William Collier Sr. and Richard Carle only aroused my pity. A shame to so mistreat such splendid veterans!

Direction is all that could be expected, c o n s i d e r i n g the scenario. Dialog—AWFUL!

[Whew. That's over.]

Read on!

VELOZ and YOLANDA in person, AND their orchestra with Shep Fields conducting head the stage show at the Chicago! So, you see, there's a mighty good reason for going to that theater this week—despite the picture. [It's a rare hive that has NO honey.]

Barbara Stanwyck Goes to Desert to Reduce for Movie

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 12.—[Special.] Barbara Stanwyck is on the Mojave desert trying to cut her weight from 115 to 105 pounds before Wednesday for her early scenes in "Volcano." She feels she must be extra slim for the early scenes, in which she has to wear bulky clothes in the Radio studio story. Later Miss Stanwyck can begin eating again, because the kind of clothes required by her part changes. Her recipe for dieting is: "I cut down on my food."

Richard Dix declined an $80,000 offer to go to Australia and appear in one film there for British Gaumont. "I can't leave the twins," he said. His 8 month old twin sons, Richard and Robert, weigh 25 pounds apiece.

"This is funny," said Dora Einzig, secretary to Carl Brisson, Danish actor and ex-heavyweight prizefighter. "Here's a cablegram from Copenhagen wishing you a happy New Year, and it's only signed Christian R.' Now who can Christian R—— be?" "Gimme that," shouted Brisson. "That's from King Christian—Christian Rex."

Martha Merrill, Chicago dancer and film actress, has changed her name for screen purposes to Ann Merril. She's playing under this name in "Showboat" at Universal. She's a former University High girl who studied at the Chicago Art institute and then took up dancing.

Several Small Exhibitions Worth a Visit by Art Lovers

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

There are several attractive little exhibitions scattered about town this month. In the Allerton gallery, 701 North Michigan avenue, are water colors by Melvin Douglas. They are fresh and colorful and youthful.

Farther south in the Katherine Kuh gallery, Michigan Square building, is an entirely different sort of exhibit with sophistication written large upon all four walls. Raymond Jonson is the one man here to contribute a sheaf of pure beauty. His abstractions have a harmony of color and pattern that is fascinating.

Of the three other painters exhibiting, Keith Martin, Charles Rain, and Charles Sebree, the first two give us compositions with figures, distinctly modern in treatment, and Sebree gives us exotic, half developed figures that resemble sliced bananas rather than human profiles.

Sebree is so intensely naïve that it is an effort to follow him into his realm of pseudo-prattle. Ostensibly his brush is pattering in the chatter of a 4 year old, and one of South sea Island blood. The touches of Gauguin are monotonously familiar.

In the Boulevard Book shop, 546 North Michigan avenue, is a tiny exhibit of work by Burma Burris. Miss Burris has a nude complex, but when it wears off she may do something worth while. The little portrait of a young girl in cap and coat is extremely good.

The Cordon club, Fine Arts building, has opened its first show of the new year. Paintings by May Hardman Gilruth fill the gallery. The paintings are charmingly modern in an impressionistic manner.

Mrs. Gilruth is clever at suggestion and never carries a good thing too far. Her "Study in Green" is capital and so is "At Ease." The paintings run with a ripple of color. They are gay and nonchalant. Flowers, interiors, landscapes, portraits and figures make up the show.

Suit and Coat Ensembles Hit New Style Peak

Three Piece Outfits Offer Swank, Warmth.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

New three piece ensembles that will assure the smartest getaway clothes you've ever worn on a trip are now ready for inspection. They are swanky combines of a sleek, super slim tailored two piece street suit, topped with a swagger coat used for color contrast as well as extra warmth and comfort.

The suits are miracles of simplicity with the new peaked lapels, sharply pressed inverted plaits in the skirt, straight of streamline, and with snappy little pockets with and without flaps, and featuring the newest and youngest of jacket lengths, just clearing the hipline.

Bankers' gray, oxford gray, and monotone colors in sapphire blue and beige and golden browns are the best colors. Over these the swinging, dashing coats of either checks or big plaids.

This year you'll see a new length for the swagger coats, a trifle shorter than the usual and called for all kinds of good reasons "swaggerette coats."

Look for the colored checked topcoats, a black and gold that is worn over an oxford gray suit, a chalky light blue and navy worn over a navy blue suit, a brown and beige worn over a brown or pale beige suit.

These models are especially exciting after days of other dull combines. The linings are dark and the coats can be used later on in the year with thin woolen dresses or over printed and plain silks.

Most of the shoulder lines are raglan type. The coats fit smoothly and have the swanky back flares that make them the best topcoat yet invented for wear over classically tailored two piece suits.

Fashion photograph—An outstandingly smart three piece ensemble in gray. The very tailored two piece suit is of dark stone gray flannel, the short jacket is made with double breasted closing, the straight skirt has a side plait. Over this duet a very wide and loose topcoat of plaid light gray and white wool. The brimmed hat is of gray with a dark gray band and trim. It is to be found in a Chicago shop.

I'll Never Tell

By Roy Vickers

SYNOPSIS.

Julius Saranack is murdered in his home, Hillfoot, in Callingham, England. Eight uncut diamonds of no great value are missing. Two days previously, Torrance Esdale, childhood sweetheart of Gerald Saranack, the murdered man's nephew, had appealed to her American employer, Hartlandt Massiter, to give Gerald an engineering job in Mexico. Gerald is expected back from Spain in two days. Massiter tells Torrance the job to be filled requires a married man. Though they had quarreled before he left, Torrance writes Gerald, in care of his uncle, her plans for their marriage. Next morning Uncle Julius calls on Torrance with the news that Gerald has married an English girl in Spain. Torrance asks Massiter to give Gerald the job regardless. That evening Torrance secretly gains entrance to Hillfoot and retrieves the letter. Then she hears voices, hides, and watches as a girl secretes something behind a brick in the fireplace. When the girl and her companion leave Torrance calls the police, then leaves, not wishing to explain her presence. When Gerald brings his bride to see her next day she recognizes Annabelle, his wife, as the same girl she had seen in Uncle Julius' house and at the hour it was later discovered he was murdered, though she keeps silent about it. Torrance asks Annabelle to breakfast with her.

INSTALMENT VII.

HER SECRET SMILE.

Torrance moved about the room while she talked, reheating the coffee, making fresh toast. It was not until she fetched another cup from the little mirror fronted cupboard that she saw the expression on her listener's face.

Annabelle was grinning. Not the dimpling curve of lips that suggested a shy child, but a wide, contemptuous grimace that was somehow—Torrance searched for the word—somehow cruel. The cup crashed to the floor.

"O dear, I hope it wasn't a special treasure? You're very shaky still, poor Torrance—let me ring for your maid to see to all this. I wish I could make coffee, but, you see, while my people were alive there was never any need——"

"You'll have to make plenty of coffee in Mexico."

"Shall I? I wonder—do you think that perhaps I should only be a burden to Gerald if I went with him? Wouldn't it perhaps be a truer sort of love if I stayed behind?"

"Unfortunately the job needs a married man. If you don't go, Gerald can't either."

The flowerlike head drooped submissively.

"Then I shall leave the choice entirely to him. And if he wants us to go, I shall learn to cook and clean and tie bandages—everything. You'll teach me, won't you?"

There was nothing now but a starry sweetness in the face bent over the fragments of china. She had come fussing and fluttering to help and, crouching there in her delicate dress, she seemed just a flower—a bird—a butterfly. Every symbol of innocence went rocketing through Torrance's mind and was met and confused by a separate, dogged memory. "She's an affectionate little fool, that's all. . . . But her secret smile wasn't affectionate, it was venomous."

"She wouldn't hurt a fly. . . . She killed Uncle Julius." "She couldn't have been in two places at once last night. . . . But she was. And she knows that another was in the house. And she's on guard about that and afraid, and dangerous."

"Never mind the cup," said Torrance faintly. "Here's another. Perhaps you'd pour out? My hands aren't reliable yet."

"That's just how I felt this morning at Hillfoot," sighed Annabelle. "I never was so frightened and miserable, never. I can't go back there, Torrance—and Gerald agrees—unless you'll come and stay with me."

"How can I serve you, Miss Esdale?"

Torrance gasped. She had not expected this.

"I can't possibly come." It sounded flat and churlish. She tried to make it better—and made it worse. "You and Gerald haven't been married long. You'll like to be alone."

"Alone with the policemen?" A flicker passed across the delicate little face, but whether of sarcasm or regret one simply could not say.

"And there's my work," added Torrance, battling with something akin to panic. "I must report to the agency tomorrow, at latest. So you see——"

"No, I don't see." Annabelle's pout was postively infantile. "You're Gerald's best friend and therefore mine, and you simply can't send me back to face all those policemen alone while Gerald talks to lawyers and people. O, do come! There's absolutely no one I can ask except you."

It was, on the face of it, a reasonable request. Torrance, obstinately shaking her head, could not discover even to herself whether she refused because of what had lain between her and Gerald or because of the baffled terror into which Annabelle's personality plunged her. "The fact is," she thought frantically, "when I believe she is the Hillfoot burglar I fear and hate her for a murderess and a crook, and when I believe it's only an accidental likeness, I rather like her for a lovable little goose."

"Here comes Gerald. He'll persuade you," fluted Annabelle, with the prettiest gesture of welcome Torrance had ever seen.

It was, however, not Gerald who came in, but Hartlandt K. Massiter.

Mr. Massiter had two newspapers under his arm and another protruding from his well tailored pocket. If he heard Annabelle's charming little squeak—"How silly of me! I thought you were my husband!"—he made no sign. He went straight to Torrance, took both her hands in his and said, with a simplicity unusual to him——"

"How can I serve you, Miss Esdale?"

To her dismay she felt her hands trembling in his clasp.

"I thought you were at Torquay till Friday," she said.

"I changed my mind and came up yesterday. In fact I left the hotel very shortly after you did. I found I just could not endure that hotel dining room without your company, and when that dirgelike gong sounded for——"

"This is Mrs. Gerald Saranack," cut in Torrance. She would prefer Mr. Massiter not to state, however indirectly, that his secretary had left Torquay before luncheon. "Annabelle, Mr. Hartlandt Massiter. I was working for him down in Torquay until yesterday." Annabelle bowed prettily.

"An American? How interesting! I admire you all so much. Isn't this a terrible business, about Gerald's uncle?"

"I could not believe my eyes when I read of this death." Mr. Massiter tapped the newspapers with a square finger tip. "What possible cause can there be for such a dastardly killing? He was a frail man, I should judge, for all his height. He would not be able to defend himself. He——"

"O, were you a friend of his?" exclaimed Annabelle. Her tone was quick with sympathy. Or was it suspicion? Mr. Massiter looked narrowly at her. Torrance struck in again.

"Uncle Julius came down to Torquay two days ago to see me, Annabelle. It was then that he told me about you and Gerald."

"Although I had not had the pleasure of meeting him before that occasion," added Mr. Massiter, "I could not feel that he was altogether a stranger to me. We had a mutual friend in a man of very great intellectual attainments. I refer to Prof. J. Ardus Ellister."

Annabelle's lashes fluttered—this time at Mr. Massiter. The same queer little telltale gesture that seemed to presage attack.

"Prof. Ellister! Why, what a coincidence!" she chirped.

"And might I ask where exactly is the coincidence, Mrs. Saranack?" demanded Massister, a rasp in his voice that Torrance had never heard before.

"O, you see, Prof. Ellister invited Gerald to dine with him last night. That was why we broke our journey in Paris. You'll know, of course, that Prof. Ellister is spending the summer there?"

"So they've met!" Massiter appeared to be impressed.

"They ought to have, but they didn't," asserted Annabelle. "Gerald kept the appointment, but the professor didn't."

Massiter deliberated, his face utterly expressionless.

"Yes," he said finally. And a curious silence fell.

Torrance's head throbbed, every nerve in her body quivered to the tension in the room. Who was Annabelle—what was she? If she was, in crazy truth, the girl whom Torrance's eyes and ears persisted in declaring her—if she were, then Mr. Massiter must be warned, he must not be allowed to drop the barest hint about Torrance's expedition to Hillfoot last night.

Away back over what seemed mists and seas of time Torrance heard herself vowing to hide that letter from living eyes. "She mustn't know about it. I'd rather—drown." Well, it was in ashes now. But since then the world had turned upside down. The police were hunting the voice that had summoned them to the scene of a murder. Uncle Julius was brutally and horribly dead.

Independence of Mind Vital to Parenthood

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

In bringing up your children you've got to have a certain amount of independence in regard to what other people think. This applies in many ways.

Sometimes advice is wise and worth listening to. Sometimes it's just of the interfering and busybody variety. Don't be a weathervane that turns with every word. If you're pretty sure you're right in your way of rearing your children, have the courage of your convictions.

Then there's another way of being independent. That consists of not trying to force your child into a conventional pattern of management. Be strong enough to accept him as an individual and to handle him in a way that is best for him, even if it's unusual and causes comment.

The third way in which I want to urge you to be independent is one of the most important of all. It is the basis of loyalty—the basis of loyalty to your child—something we don't hear much about. There are many loyalties that are among the qualities we cherish, but loyalty to one's children is seldom mentioned.

Don't, for instance, take the word of a neighbor or relative against that of your child just because that person is grown up. Don't dissect your child's personality, his failings, or, worse still, his confidences, with any one and every one, even if other parents are doing it. But especially, of these two dont's, observe the first one. Be sure to get your child's version of any happening when a grown person comes to you with a story or complaint. And don't necessarily do it in public, either.

I have in mind a woman in her late seventies who adored her mother, but who, to this day, feels an old hurt when she tells how she was whipped because her mother believed the lie of a malicious neighbor against the young daughter's protestations of innocence. Some people find it hard to say, in effect, to a grown person, "I believe my child and not you." But be independent enough to do it if the occasion calls for such a statement.

"Is Quarreling Necessary?" is the subject of our new leaflet. It will be sent out to readers on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Four Corners.

BY NANCY CABOT.

One of those neat, dainty patterns which are not too difficult for the beginner, and one which every quilt maker likes to have in her collection, is "The Four Corners." Being an old timer in the quilt field, it is included in a great many households and is used in an all-over design. The finished block measures 12 inches square and is made of yellow, blue, white, and red.

For a limited period Nancy Cabot offers 10 quilt patterns of her own choice at a price of 10 cents for the group (12 cents by mail). Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street, or Tribune Tower.

"Modern Meat Lore," a 52 page booklet containing the most recent information on selection of meat cuts, the most modern methods of cooking meat, and many recipes for economical meat dishes to ease the budget problem, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices: 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 20 cents. By mail, 23 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

Once a sardine cuts loose from the repression of his crowded tin, he's a creature of whim and caprice! You know his prankish way in a sandwich, or atop a canape, of course, or his mischievous zip in a salad. But—d'y'know the way of a sardine in a hot and hearty main dish?

Since few people recognize sardines except as a cold, tongue teasing "specialty" food, it's small wonder that these more substantial sardine dishes need publicity. Sturdy, but far from stodgy, they're h[illegible] for some mighty special winter luncheons and dinners.

Whether you buy sardines in tomato sauce, mustard, or oil for these dishes depends upon your own particular taste in sardine fixings. And another note: These recipes are based on the 10 ounce can, and they all are planned to serve four people—adjust as you will!

Sea Devil Toast.

4 trimmed toast squares
1 can sardines
2 tablespoons minced onion
3 tablespoons minced pimiento
4 teaspoons lemon juice
½ cup grated American cheese

Place the toast squares on individual serving plates, oven-proof, and cover with the sardines. Mix the onion, pimiento, and lemon juice, and spread over the fish. Top with a sprinkling of the grated cheese and heat thoroughly in a moderate oven. Serve immediately.

Rice Sardine Casserole.

½ cup uncooked rice
1 can sardines
1 tablespoon fat
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup tomato juice
Salt, pepper
⅓ cup fine bread crums
2 tablespoons butter

Cook the rice until tender in boiling salted water. Drain and fluff. Blend the fat and flour, thicken the tomato juice, and combine with the fluffed rice and flaked sardines. Turn into a buttered baking dish, season to taste, top with crums, and dot with butter. Bake at 400 degrees F. for 15 minutes.

Sardine Loaf.

1 can sardines
2 eggs
3 tablespoons melted butter
2 cups bread crums
3 tablespoons minced pimiento
2 tablespoons minced onion
Salt, pepper
4 hard cooked eggs

Mix the sardines with the slightly beaten eggs, melted butter, crums, pimiento, onion, and seasonings. Pack in a loaf with the hard cooked eggs in the center, lying lengthwise and completely covered by the sardine mixture. Cover, place the loaf pan in a large pan of hot water, and bake in a moderate oven for one hour. Serve hot with tomato sauce, slicing to show hard cooked eggs in center of slices.

Cheese Diablé.

2 tablespoons butter
Salt, paprika
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 cup milk
1 cup sharp cheese
½ can sardines

Melt butter and blend with seasonings. Add the milk and heat slowly. Add the chopped or grated cheese, stir until melted, and then the whole sardines. Serve hot on hot toast or crackers.

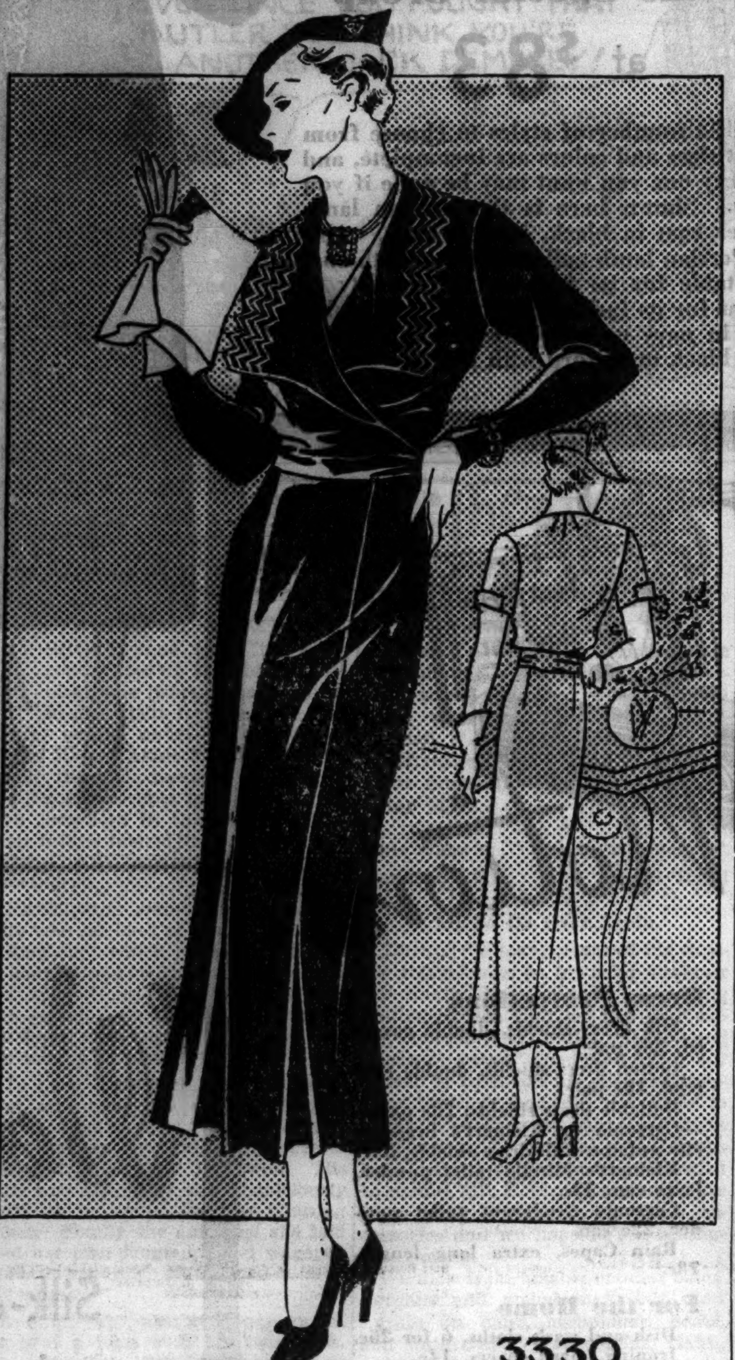
HAROLD TEEN—THE JOY OF WORRYING

Flattery for Heavy Figure



WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Here is smart camouflage for heavy figures! Matrons and younger women alike will appreciate the soft draping of the waistline, the smart, jaunty revers at the neckline, and the straight, slim skirt. Created in dark silk crêpe, like the original, this attractive dress will provide chic for many an afternoon occasion.

Not the least of the virtues of this dress is its simplicity. Even the amateur needle worker may attempt it with assurance of smart results. Although it was designed especially for the woman of mature figure, this dress is flattering also to slimmer silhouettes. Besides the dark crêpe suggested, lightweight woolen and sheer crêpe also are effective mediums.

Style No. 3330 is designed for sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch material, with 3½ yards of braid trimming.

plans to have several exhibitions at its galleries in the Spanish Provincial building in Royal Palm way this season.

Anchored in Lake Worth last week was the Lucius Mannings' yacht, Alamo, and aboard it were the Mannings, the John J. Mitchells, the John Beals and the Kenneth Curtises. On Sunday evening Mr. Manning had a birthday party at The Patio, and among the guests were the Kenneth Smiths, who already have opened their winter home in Via del Mar.

The Bruce Strongs of Chicago and their little daughter, Cara, are visiting Mrs. Strong's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin M. Miller, at the villa the Millers have for the season in Palm Beach. Mrs. Henry H. Windsor Sr. is at the Breakers, where she expects to be joined later by her son, Henry H. Jr., and his wife and family.

Business Men's Orchestra Concert Next Sunday.

The Chicago Business Men's orchestra, which gives one concert each year at Orchestra hall, will give its concert for 1936 next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The orchestra, which was founded by the late George Lytton in 1921, was made up last year of 115 members, all of whom took music as an avocation and not as a profession, and in this group are bankers, lawyers, dentists, physicians, and representatives from every business and profession.

A pleasant surprise for this year's concert is the inclusion of Parthenia Vogelback, pianist, as soloist on the program. Mrs. Vogelback and her husband, William E. Vogelback, will be at home from 5 until 7 o'clock after the concert in their apartment at 220 East Walton place.

Mrs. Vogelback sold most of the boxes for the performance next Sunday, and among those who have purchased them are Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. Americus Callahan, Mrs. Henry Vanzwoll, Mrs. Welch Dickinson, Mrs. Charles S. Davis, Mrs. Royden J. Keith, Mrs. Daniel Taylor, Mrs. John Mauff, Mrs. Oliver Picher, Mrs. Clifford Caldwell, Mrs. Bowman C. Lingle, Mrs. James S. Kemper, Mrs. Carl Defebaugh, Mrs. Herbert M. Barker, Mrs. Fred Gerlach, Mrs. Ralph Greenlee, Mrs. Archbald Cronkrite, Mrs. Dudley Buck, and, of course, Mr. Vogelback.

Avern Scolnik is president of the orchestra.

It is Lloyd Laflin's turn this year to play the host at the party which every year marks his birthday and those of Mrs. Paul B. Magnuson and Mrs. Stuart Otis. The three were born within a few minutes of each other on Jan. 12 in Lake Forest, and since they were small children they have celebrated their birthdays together whenever possible. Just what form the party will take this year is being kept a secret. Mr. and Mrs. Laflin simply have asked their guests to arrive at 7:30 o'clock this evening at their Lake Forest home, and they have not been told what is on the program after that hour.

Many Parties to Precede Johnston-Butler Wedding.

There are several parties planned for Miss Deborah Butler and her fiancé, Hugh M. Johnston, who are to be married on Jan. 25 in Lake Forest. Miss Ethel Johnston, a sister of the bridegroom and one of Miss Butler's wedding attendants, will give a dinner at home next Saturday night, and the following Sunday an uncle and aunt of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. De Forest Hulburd, will give a luncheon in Lake Forest for their nephew and Miss Butler.

On Tuesday, the 21st, Miss Cornelia Ranney and her brother, George A. Ranney Jr., will be host and hostess at a dinner at home in town, and the following evening Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody will give a dinner-dance at the Racquet club. On the Thursday before the wedding Miss Butler will give a spinster dinner in the Peabody home, and that same evening Mr. Johnston will give a bachelor dinner at the Racquet club.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Peabody Butler will give the bridal dinner for their daughter and Mr. Johnston at the Deerpath inn on the night before the wedding and on the day of the wedding the bridegroom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Conway H. Olmsted, and her aunt, Mrs. Morris Leidy Johnston, will give a luncheon at the Deerpath inn.

The wedding will take place at the Church of the Holy Spirit, with a reception afterward in the Butlers' Lake Forest home. Mr. Johnston and his bride will go to Honolulu on their wedding trip and will live in Lake Forest.

Most of the public spirited young women in society face a busy day today, for both the Chicago Junior league and the Service club are holding important meetings today. At their annual meeting and luncheon at 12:30 o'clock at the Woman's Athletic club members of the Service club will set about electing a successor to Mrs. Frank G. Osborne, the outgoing president. New officers are to be nominated from the floor.

For the first time in several years the Junior league is taking time this morning to evaluate its work thus far and to contemplate future activities. Provisional members have been asked to come to the ballroom of the Drake hotel at 10:30 o'clock, and other members will assemble at 11 o'clock. Afterward luncheon will be served to those who wish it.

The Illinois Children's Home and Aid society is holding its 52d annual meeting today at Hotel Sherman. There will be a luncheon at 12:15 o'clock, and Wilfred S. Reynolds, director of the Chicago Council of Social Agencies, will speak on "The Place of the Private Agency in the Developing Welfare Program." Chauncey McCormick will preside.

The 51st annual board meeting of the Margaret Etter creche will take place today at the Lake Shore Drive hotel. Mrs. John Nash will preside.

According to CULBERTSON

Monday is Student day in Ely Culbertson's column. Write your bridge troubles and questions to him, care of The Tribune. Remember to inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

RAISES OF PARTNER'S BID BY THE OPENING BIDDER.

When you have opened the bidding with a suit bid of one and your partner has responded with either a one-over-one bid or two in a lower ranking suit, your immediate problem is whether to rebid your first suit or to show a new biddable suit [both of these situations were analyzed last Monday] or, finally, whether to raise partner's bid.

You should raise your partner's suit once if you have adequate trump support and one added winner [a doubleton with an additional ½ honor trick, a doubleton with four of his trumps, or a singleton]. With about one winner more give your partner a double raise.

You have bid one heart; your partner's response was one spade.

Bid two spades holding

♠K 8 4	♠9 6 5 2
♥A Q 9 5	♥K Q J 7
♦Q 6	♦A 5
♣A 8 7 4	♣K 6 2
3½ honor tricks and a doubleton.	Four trumps and a doubleton.

Bid three spades holding

♠10 7 4 3	♠A 9 7 6
♥A K 9 3	♥A K 7 4
♦K 5	♦9
♣A Q 8	♣Q J 6 2
Four trumps, a doubleton, and 1 extra honor trick.	Four trumps, a singleton, and ½ extra honor trick.

Double Safety Play.

Considering the substantial profits to be made from successful vulnerable games, safety methods in the play should be observed to the highest possible degree.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH

SOUTH	WEST	NORTH	EAST
1♦	Pass	1♥	Pass
3♥	Pass	4♦	Pass
4NT	Pass	5♦ [final bid]

One spade would have been the correct opening bid.

West opened the club queen. East's ace won, and a spade was returned in the hope of taking out the king entry in dummy. South, however, prevented this by going up with an honor.

If the trumps were divided as well as 3 and 1, straight leads would drop them, and if West had all four he could not be deprived of a trump trick by any play. But if East held all four, careful play would shut him out and declarer properly acted on this theory. He led the four of trump to dummy's ace. West showed out, and a small trump was led from dummy. East split his honors and declarer's king won. Now the ace, king, and small heart were played, East winning and returning another spade. North's king won; a third trump was led, and East's trumps finessed and drawn. Dummy was put in the lead by a club ruff for the play of the good hearts.

Had declarer failed to use the trump safety play or had he tried to ruff a spade in the dummy instead of establishing the heart suit, the game contract would have been lost.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: My partner bid one spade, vulnerable. Next hand passed. I held ♠3, ♥J986532, ♦753, ♣86. What should I bid?

Answer: You should bid two hearts. Your seven card length compensates for the lack of the conventional ½ honor trick.

Improving Circulation Is Aid to Cold Feet During Winter

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Cold hands and cold feet are prominent among the season's ailments. A red nose usually hangs out as signal of what's going on in the rest of the system. None of which adds particularly to the beauty of a girl. Indeed, this business of cold feet becomes more than a personalized problem, if you may believe what you read in court records. In a certain case before a justice of the Supreme court of a western state, the learned jurist wrote: "If, as claimed by the plaintif in this action, she, owing to the contact of the feet of the defendant, which were of persistent low temperature, was caused inconvenience, discomfort, and suffering to the extent of having had induced an acute disease of the chest, as testified by the medical attendant, then it may be stated as the opinion of this court that the plaintif has just cause...."

Suggesting that there are ways of keeping within the law on this cold feet business. We all know that the circulation is at fault when the cold feet sufferers begin their moanin' low. There isn't enough good circulation to reach the farthest extremities, hands and feet. But a point that may not be commonly recognized is that quality of blood has a great deal to do with it.

The anemic person is the great sufferer from cold feet and hands. Here, your physician must come in with his iron replenishment or whatever he sees fit for your system. That is outside our province. But the impoverished blood leaves the tissues improperly nourished to prevent, among other symptoms, coldness of hands and feet.

Ordinarily, however, the mild sufferer can do much in the way of warming up by deep breathing out in the cold air and by getting out in the air often enough to get enough deep breaths for the curative work. Letting cold water run over the feet after the warm bath, followed with a good brisk rubbing with a coarse towel, often is helpful. Incidentally the other winter ill, gooseflesh, can be fought with the cold water and harsh towel rubbing better than any other known way.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Ordinarily the very sight of anything gadgety makes us run. It offends our taste and also our pride. We're clumsy and invariably knock the things to pieces. But one new gadget has won us completely as a dressing table fixture.

This is a round bakelite container for manicure necessities, compact, attractive, and useful. From the outside looking on it appears to be a black based jar with a colored dome top. Flip back the dome top and you see, each in its own compartment, a bottle of cuticle remover, a bottle of polish remover, one of polish, cotton in a neat compartment, and a whitening pencil. Rather a nifty arrangement and certainly an efficient one.

To make it even more tricky and more useful, all these manicure aids are set in one tray, which may be removed. This done, you have a smart powder jar and a nice deep one—a fine thing to have around the house at any time and particularly on those occasions when you're entertaining droves of women.

With all this chat about the container it might appear that the products themselves were secondary. They aren't. The cuticle remover is an efficient one—and these are days when you need to coddle your cuticle. The cold weather makes it more trying even than usual. The polish remover won't damage the nails—as those that are of poor quality will—since it's oily there's no acid to make the nails brittle.

And of course you have that pencil handy at all times. It seems to us that this is an item of hand grooming too many of us overlook. We'd like to start a campaign for one in every purse. In a pinch, when a manicure is out of the question, just whitening the nail tip will make the nails so presentable that you can forget them. ELEANOR NANGLE.

BLONDES with DARKENED HAIR

SHAMPOO-RINSE washes hair 2 to 4 shades lighter
BLONDES, has your hair darkened to an unattractive, brownish shade? Don't let it stay that way. Do what millions of other natural light blondes do. Bring back to dull, faded hair the fascinating, alluring lights so natural to the true blonde. Now the new shampoo-rinse, BLONDEX, washes hair 2 to 4 shades lighter—IN JUST ONE SHAMPOO. And safely, too, for Blondex is not a harsh chemical or dye. Try Blondex today. And once again have hair that gleams with radiance and beauty. Get the new shampoo-rinse today, BLONDEX. At any good drug or department store.

INDUSTRY GROUP RENEWS WAR ON CRAFT UNIONISM

Showdown Demanded on A. F. of L. Policy.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor's belligerent industrial unionists warned their craft union brethren today that there would be another round this week in their battle over how mass production workers should be organized.

In a letter to William Green, federation president, the committee for industrial organization said it would demand "serious and immediate steps" to promote organization of auto, steel, rubber, and radio workers along industrial lines when the A. F. of L. executive council assembles Wednesday in Miami, Fla.

"In urging favorable consideration of the requests for organization that come from the workers in mass production industries, we also would warn of the serious consequences which may result if the council does not remove the present barriers to organization of these workers in the type of unions which they desire and which fit their needs," said the letter, signed by John Brophy, committee director.

Outnumbered 16 to 1.

David Dubinsky, president of the Ladies Garment Workers, will be the only committee member at the council meeting. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers and chairman of the committee, resigned from the council last fall because, he said, he was "tired of looking out the window" at its meetings.

Although the industrial unionists polled 10,000 of the 28,000 votes cast on the industrial union issue at the Atlantic City convention last fall, they are outnumbered, 16 to 1, on the council.

Vigorous organization campaigns plus adoption of the industrial form of organization for autos, steel, rubber, and radios, the letter said, would wipe out rival unions in those industries.

In steel, Brophy maintained, "rebellious company unions have expressed a desire to join forces with organized labor if they can do so in a body."

"Speedy Action" Urged.

"In the automobile industry, whose masters match those of steel in their arrogant defiance of labor's right to bargain collectively, union organization confronts a crisis," his letter added.

"Speedy and energetic action, on an industrial union basis, is needed to bring organization in this key industry. . . .

"Not only are steel, auto, radio, and rubber workers looking to Miami for active aid—or at least permission—to organize, but similar requests will be heard from gas and coke and other groups of workers," the letter concluded.

"If their wishes are flouted and existing divisions are perpetuated, the council will inflict a blow on all of labor—a blow that will be all the harder as coming from the hands of labor's leaders."

Old World Coin Machine Men to Attend Conclave

Registrants from South America, South Africa, and several European countries will arrive today for the convention of the National Association of Coin Operated Machine Manufacturers at the Hotel Sherman, officials announced yesterday. Eighty-five exhibitors will demonstrate the latest tricks of coin machines in booths on the mezzanine floor and in the exhibition hall. Sponsors of the show said that coin machine manufacturers have grown from a $15,000,000 industry in 1933 to $35,000,000.

JOLIAT SCORES TWICE WITHIN TWO MINUTES

Kendall Makes Only Chicago Point.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks last night put on the third of their series of Sunday night fade outs when they waited until the late minutes of play to toss off a 1 to 0 lead over the struggling Montreal Canadiens and wind up with a 2 to 1 licking. It was just a week ago that the Hawks blew a 2 to 0 lead to lose to the Canadiens' fellow townsmen, the Maroons, 3 to 2. The first of the series of collapses of this type was on Dec. 22, when they blew a 2 to 1 lead over the Americans in the last 30 seconds, then lost in overtime.

AUREL JOLIAT.

Both of the victors' goals were made by Aurel Joliat, a 34 year old gent, one of the tiniest in hocky, who wears a funny little cap. The first and tying shot was made by Joliat, unassisted, in 15:30 of the final period. The second and winning counter was made by the little man with the funny skypiece in 17:10. Gagnon drew an assist on this one.

That Noise? Ah, a Boo or Two.

The Hawks fought hard having thus had second place in the American division snatched from them. But there was no use and they skated from the rink amdist the concerted booing of many hundreds of the crowd of 11,000 who had hope their Thursday night victory in New York had awaked the erstwhile heroes.

If it had ended 1 to 0 in favor of Chicago much would have been said and written about Cowboy Bill Kendall, just back from the frozen wastes of London, Ont., and vicinity. Bill employed rodeo technique to score the first goal of the evening in 17:10 of the second period. Going at full speed he picked up a lateral pass from Tommy Cook. He cut loose with his shot just as he was about

THE GUMPS—A CHIP ON HIS SHOULDER

WAGERS BY PROXY.

A SHORT time ago The Wake commented on the risk of criticism one runs in attempting to place bets for some one else. Truer words never were spoken, writes Helper Aimie Kosak, who adds —and the risk becomes deadlier if the placer attempts to use his or her own judgment in the matter rather than follow instructions. I was eyewitness to an incident of this kind at Hawthorne.

Participants were a man and his wife who sat back of me. He selected a long shot which apparently hadn't a chance and wished to wager $5. His wife attempted to dissuade him, but failed. As the ladies' mutuel windows were nearer, he gave her the money to place.

To make the story good, his horse won and paid one of the longest prices of the meeting. He was almost hysterical as he figured the several hundred dollars he had won. His wife was strangely and suspiciously quiet as he asked for the winning ticket. Finally she admitted she had used her own judgment and wagered on another nag which finished outside the money.

Another time, also at Hawthorne, I sat near a man with his twin sons, very attractive little boys about 9 or 10 years old. He was showing off his equine knowledge and told them to play Dolly's Polly, but they liked another for their $2 of savings, dimes and nickels for which he gave them a $2 bill.

This yarn had a happier ending. He bought their ticket for them under protest, but he bought it, and it returned $20 for their $2, while Dolly's Polly was nowhere. They were little gentlemen and didn't say "Don't you wish you had played our one?"

However, as the horses were exercising for the next race, one of them said seriously, "O, daddy, do you know who that horse is?" "Why, no," replied the father, surprised, "do you?"

"Sure," answered the little chap, still solemn as an owl. "That's Dolly's Polly. She's just getting in."

A Bunkless World.

O, it's right to expose politicians,
For most of their stuff is the bunk,
And we need a debunker to tell us
What's honest-to-Pete and what's punk.
For mayhap old Darwin was kidding
Us all or the innocent monk,
And maybe the cowardly rabbit
Has in him a morsel of spunk.

And perhaps the great Dad of our country
Never butchered a cherry tree's trunk,
And perhaps that the old Constitution
Isn't merely a pageful o' junk.
So, you see, it is fine to have some one
To tell us what's right and what's punk—
Ah, but who will debunk the debunker
When there's no more bunk to debunk?
CAL.

Logical Enough.

Wake: A couple of Germans here in Dubuque were discussing America's scenic wonders, when Niagara falls was mentioned. Fritz commented, "Id's remargable how dot vater rushes ofer dot bluff," to which Hans retorted, "Vell, vot iss dere to shtop id?" Alf-are-em.

All To Do Over Again.

During the many years of his capable incumbency as township assessor we finally succeeded in convincing Nathan Roach that we had no "cattle, horses and mules, sheep and goats, or swine" concealed about our person or premises for personal property taxation, and did not have to prove it anew each year. Now John F. Hahn, an Evanston pioneer, has been named successor and we wish to assure Mr. Hahn we maintain the same position concerning those accessories and we hope he's a reasonable person.

We miss from taxable articles listed "organs and melodeons," but find "grain on hand, aeroplanes, boats, and watercraft." Indeed, Mr. Hahn, we also have no little aeroplane in the Wake family.

FIVE BIG TEN GAMES TONIGHT; GOPHERS AT N. U.

Three Big Ten basketball teams, Purdue, Indiana, and Iowa, continued to pace the conference Saturday night, and at least two of these quintets have better than an even chance to continue undefeated after tonight's engagements. The third team, Iowa, which upset Ohio State and Illinois last week, although scoring only three more points than their opponents, can be no more than an even choice in tonight's battle at Wisconsin.

Purdue appears to be better than Michigan in their game at Lafayette, and Indiana should not have much trouble beating Chicago on the Hoosiers' home floor. Northwestern plays Minnesota in the only Big Ten game here. Illinois meets Ohio State at Champaign.

Hawks Can Use Own Figures.

Iowa has had the advantage of playing Illinois and Ohio State at Iowa City. Tonight, the Hawkeyes will be on a foreign Big Ten court, where the Illini defeated the Badgers by only two points, 29 to 27, in a penalty throwing contest after the score had been deadlocked eight times. Illinois scored nine free throws in 15 chances, while Wisconsin made seven of 12. After the eighth scoring tie, at 25 to 25, all remaining points in the game were free throws. Illinois came from behind to tie at the half, 13 to 13.

Iowa may not like this line of reasoning which calls this contest even, because of the Hawkeyes' one point victory over the Illini and Illinois' two point victory over the Badgers. If not, the Hawks may point out that Ohio State whipped Wisconsin, 44 to 23 at Columbus, and Iowa defeated Ohio State Saturday night, 25 to 23.

Chicago probably is busy figuring what success they may have at Bloomington tonight. And certainly, Michigan, already defeated by Indiana, is bothered by the prospect of meeting Purdue at Lafayette.

Free Thows Win for Hoosiers.

Purdue ran over the Maroons Saturday night, 44 to 21, scoring all but one of 20 field goals from under or within a few steps of the backboard. Purdue's speed, which makes fast breaks a feature of Boilermaker scoring, proved too much for the Buckeyes and Chicago. It would seem that Purdue should win tonight on the basis of Indiana's victory at Michigan, but Capt. Chelso Tamagno, of the Wolverines, did not play in that game. He participated in the victory Saturday night over Minne-

OWENS DECIDES NOT TO RACE IN INDOOR MEETS

Columbus, O., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Jesse Owens, Ohio State university track star and captain, decided today that he will take part in no indoor meets this season.

Owens, holder of the world broad jump, hurdles, and 220 yard dash records, was declared ineligible for intercollegiate competition for the winter quarter because of scholastic difficulties.

The faculty ruling did not bar him from participation in open meets, but Owens said today he would obey the spirit of the edict as well as the letter.

DON'T READ THIS, RETZLAFF! LOUIS IS BACK IN FORM

Joe Louis, for the first time since he opened training nine days ago for a 15 round bout with Charley Retzlaff at the Chicago Stadium Friday, yesterday displayed some of the speed and power which have sent him skyrocketing to the top of the heavyweight boxing division.

This likely will be bad news to Retzlaff, who did no training yesterday. In previous workouts Louis, the 1934 Chicago Golden Gloves champion, appeared sluggish, thus causing his timing and punching skill to suffer, and his handlers to worry.

Gets Even with Thomas.

Yesterday it was different, Joe flashing his usual form on several occasions during a six round drill against three sparmates—Otis Thomas, Tom Jones, and Tiger Henderson. Against Thomas, teammate on the international Golden Gloves team which defeated Poland at the Stadium, Joe appeared best. He scored with several solid left hooks to the body as Thomas, who had given Joe a beating on previous occasions, rushed in to punch with both hands to the face and stomach. Louis also floored Jones with a rocker in the second round.

Still, Louis' coördination was not what it should have been. Time and again he was too late with counter punches, his best bet, or missed his target altogether. And that should be good news to Retzlaff. For it is perfect coördination of mind and muscle, combined with speed and timing, which has made Joe a great fighter, a fighter who has thrown fear into such boxers as Max Baer, Primo Carnera, and King Levinsky, and caused them to become panicky.

Barney Explains It.

That is the opinion of Barney Ross, welterweight champion, and other experts.

"What would you do if your opponent kept coming toward you and every time you lashed out to hit him he landed first?" the champion said "That's the secret of Louis' success. He shuffles after his opponent, both hands and feet in position and the moment the opponent indicates by the slightest movement that he is going to strike, Louis strikes first. That is no accident. He continues in the same manner until his opponent is knocked out or is about ready to quit. That's superior coördination and speed and power."

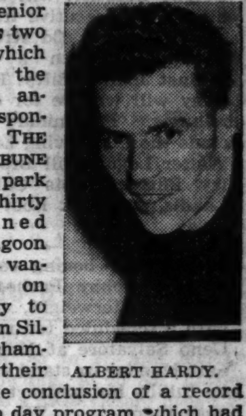
Retzlaff will resume training this afternoon at Madison Square loop gymnasium while the Brown Bomber will continue workouts at Trafton's gymnasium.

ALBERT HARDY, CANADIAN STAR, SENIOR WINNER

C. Y. O. Takes Team Honors.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Albert Hardy of Falcon Bridge, Ont., holder of the United States indoor championship in 1935, won the men's senior Silver Skates two mile Derby which climaxed the nineteenth annual races sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE at Garfield park yesterday. Thirty thousand lined the park lagoon or sought vantage points on the refectory to see the seven Silver Skates champions win their honors at the conclusion of a record breaking two day program which had attracted a field of 4,596 entrants.



ALBERT HARDY.

Three Put on Thriller.

There have been many thrilling Silver Skates races since the inception of the Derbies in 1917, but none was more exciting than the duel between Hardy and Frank Stack and Victor Ronchetti after John Serro dropped back at the end of four laps during which time he had set the pace. First Stack, then Hardy, and Ronchetti, who won the boys' juvenile Silver Skates Derby in 1931, led the field. At the beginning of the twelfth and last lap Hardy took the lead and had superior strength to come home winner by 25 yards.

Ronchetti finished second, but Stack fell back to fifth place, with George Shimek of Cedar Rapids, Ia., third, and Art Scully of the C. Y. O. fourth. The first three to cross the finish line received solid silver, silver, and bronze skates. Fourth and fifth place

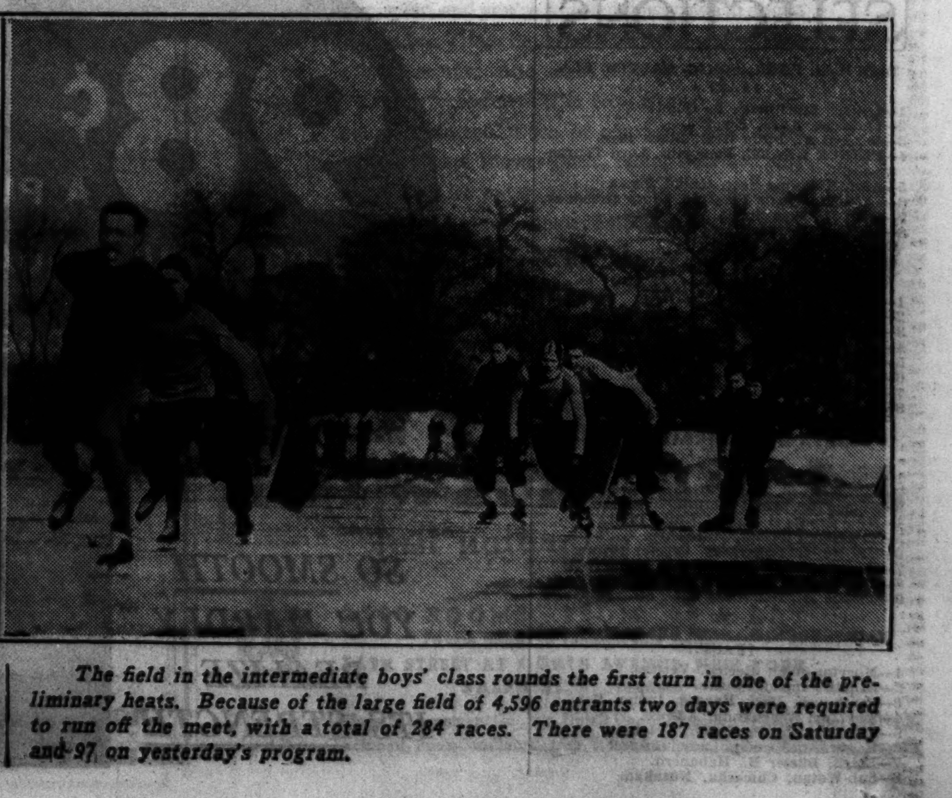
A general view of the skating rink on the Garfield park lagoon yesterday showing a part of the crowd of 30,000 that watched the running of The Chicago Tribune's nineteenth annual Silver Skates Derbies. Despite warm weather the meet was the most successful in the event's history.



The field in the intermediate boys' class rounds the first turn in one of the preliminary heats. Because of the large field of 4,596 entrants two days were required to run off the meet, with a total of 284 races. There were 187 races on Saturday and 97 on yesterday's program.

ENGEL, LA MONTE BATTLE AGAIN IN MARIGOLD RING

Boys Clash for 3d Time at 10 Rounds Tonight.

George Engel and Bob La Monte, aggressive welterweight rivals, tonight will meet for the third time in six months at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Each won in eight rounds in previous meetings. Tonight's encounter is set for ten rounds. Engel appears to possess more stamina, and for that reason is expected to win if the contest goes the limit.

Edwin Waling, Detroit junior lightweight, will clash with Tony Michaels, Ashtabula, O., slugger, in the five round semi-final. Waling, who has scored two knockouts in two appearances here, may receive stronger opposition from Michaels. Harold Brown, Chicago Golden Gloves product, will meet Ray Drake; Tommy Howell is paired with Sammy Verse, and Carl Scalise will encounter Ben Irving at four rounds. A wrestling bout also is scheduled.

Al Williams, Fox Lake light heavyweight wrestler, will be in quest of his third consecutive triumph tonight at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, in a windup bout against Johnny Silvy, Hamilton, Ont. They will wrestle for one fall or 60 minutes. Preliminary matches include those involving Lefty Pacer and Walter Logan, Bill Brooks and Charley Pfister, Toots Culver and Jim Landis, and Jack Root and Del Harris.

The state boxing commission has ordered Bobby Pacho, Los Angeles junior welterweight, to go through with a scheduled ten rounder against Geno Salvatore at Marigold Gardens next Monday or stand suspended until he fulfills his contract for an appearance there. . . . The announcement followed information that Pacho, booked to fight Cleto Locatelli at Madison Square Garden Friday, does not intend to go through with the assignment Monday. . . . Jack Kranz of Gary has been matched to meet Harry Williams at ten rounds at Peoria Jan. 21. . . . Sailor Born, Chicago lightweight, will oppose Jimmy Durso for ten rounds at Louisville, Ky., tonight. . . . Frank Androff, Minneapolis heavyweight, has been forced out of action for several weeks by illness. . . . Tommy Freeman, former welterweight champion, and Bruce Brown will be opponents in a ten round bout at Kansas City, Mo., one week from tonight. . . . Pat Kissinger will meet Jimmy Garrison at ten rounds in a lightweight encounter on the card.

Eight amateur bouts will be presented at Coulon gymnasium, 1154 East 63d street, tonight. They include:

The Central association of the A. A. U. has approved the fourth annual boxing tournament offered by the Illinois Athletic club at the I. A. C., Jan. 22 and 23. . . . Johnny Behr, athletic director, is in charge of the meet.

CHATT CAPTURES TWO EVENTS IN CASTING MEET

Howard Chatt won top honors at the Illinois Casting club tournament yesterday at the University of Chicago fieldhouse by winning first in two out of three events. The results follow:

DRY FLY ACCURACY—Won by Howard Chatt, 99; Harvey Lang, second, 97, and Edward Schyman, third, 90.

THREE-EIGHTHS OUNCE ACCURACY BAIT—Won by Howard Chatt, 98; Charles Donaldson and Noel Weaver tied for second with scores of 97.

St. Louis Beats Olympia Soccer Team, 10 to 2

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 12.—(AP)—The national soccer champion, St. Louis Shamrocks, overwhelmed Chicago's Olympias today, 10 to 2. As the Shamrocks showed their best form of the season to date, the visitors had only brief moments of brilliance, their outstanding performer being George Kratochvil, goal tender. Kratochvil had the singular distinction of being cheered although he let ten goals past.

Skipper, He's a Kra Monkey, Is Great Visitor

BY BOB BECKER.

If you visit the Chicago Zoölogical gardens in Brookfield any time this week be sure and look up Skipper, the little Kra monkey that is the champion visitor of the monkey house. The keeper in the building where the monkeys are exhibited will be glad to point out Skipper to you, because he thinks this baby monkey is the best little personality salesman in the building.

Skipper was born Aug. 19. Ever since he has been old enough to play around he has been worrying his mother no end by slipping through the bars of the cage and then going visiting. This little fellow may decide to travel up and down monkey row a dozen times a day. He drops in to say hello to the langurs a few houses away, and he even slips into the cage holding the pig tailed monkeys which have an awful reputation for temper and a mean disposition.

Skipper Worries Mother.

It's a wonder they haven't made trouble for Skipper, because, as Robert Bean, assistant director of the zoo pointed out to us the other day when we were watching Skipper, the pig tailed monkeys are not to be fooled with. But Skipper frolics around, slipping in and out of cages, and has the time of his life, while his mother anxiously presses her face against the bars watching for the wanderer's return.

Another thing about this young Kra monkey that was extremely amusing to us was his funny "haircut." We recommend a close scrutiny of Skipper's head of hair, because it looks as if somebody had taken a comb to part it in the middle and rolled it back from his eyebrows in a style that must be new. When Skipper came out of his cage and sat down in front of us he looked as if he had just come from the barber shop.

Just Like a Circus.

We were especially interested in the big cage in the center of the building, where there are a number of species of monkeys. It's worth while to stand near this cage for several minutes to watch the animals rough house with each other.

PURDUE, INDIANA AND IOWA LEAD IN BIG TEN RACE

Five Games Are Up for Decision Tonight.

The Hoosiers got past Northwestern Saturday night on their home floor in a brilliant battle in which the Wildcats held a two point lead at the intermission.

Indiana's scoring from the free throw line clinched the contest, for Northwestern outscored the winners from the field, nine goals to seven. The lead changed frequently up to the last five minutes. After Fred Trenkle had given Northwestern a 24 to 23 advantage, Platt tied the count with a free throw and Stout's followup produced a margin which permitted Indiana to use a delayed stalling offense for the final three minutes, during which time neither quintet scored.

Jake Nagode, Northwestern's regular center, only played in the closing minutes when Jean Smith was sent from the game on personal fouls. Nagode is suffering from an injured foot and probably will not start against Minnesota at Patten gymnasium. The Wildcats should be too strong for Minnesota. They need this game if they are to threaten the conference leaders in the future.

Wildcats to Invade Champaign.

Illinois, now within striking distance of the lead, faces Ohio State at Champaign tonight. With the advantage of the home court, the Illini may come through successfully. Both teams were fully extended Saturday night and both traveled so there can be no particular advantage for either in those respects.

Next Saturday night's schedule will have Northwestern's invasion of Champaign as the headliner of the four games, with Iowa's contest at Ohio State second choice. Northwestern, like Purdue, always has difficulty at Champaign. The Buckeyes will be seeking to even the series with the Hawkeyes.

BERNIE BIERMAN DECIDES TO STAY AT MINNESOTA

Turns Down $15,000 Bid from Tulane.

Bernie Bierman has decided to remain at the University of Minnesota as head football coach, turning down an offer of $15,000 a year to return to Tulane university.

This was learned last night, as a conference involving Bierman, Dr. Wilbur C. Smith, director of athletics at Tulane, and Frank McCormick, athletic director at the University of Minnesota, broke up. Bierman and McCormick returned to Minneapolis, while Dr. Smith went back to New Orleans.

Has Exceptional Record.

Bierman coached at Tulane before going to Minnesota three years ago. A former Gopher football star, Bierman has developed teams at Minnesota which have been undefeated since 1932. The Gophers lost to Michigan, 3 to 0, in that year and since Bierman took charge they have swept through all opposition without a defeat, although tied four times.

Dr. Smith named Bierman head coach at Tulane after Clark Shaughnessy, now head coach at the University of Chicago, went to Loyola, also at New Orleans.

The Tulane position was left vacant shortly after the close of the 1935 football season by the dismissal of Ted Cox, who succeeded Bierman.

Bierman, already looking forward to the 1936 season, will have one of the most rugged freshmen squads in the history of the University of Minnesota to replace seniors lost by graduation. Outstanding among the group are John Kulbitski, 200 pounder of Virginia, Minn.; Robert Larson, 185 pounds, of Rockford, Ill.; Gaydon Godward of Minneapolis, 186 pounds, and George Nash, also of Minneapolis. All linemen.

MacMillan to Stick.

Director McCormick denied reports that Dave McMillan, basketball coach at Minnesota, would be removed because of the disappointing showing the Gophers had made this season.

"We've lost a few games," McCormick said, "but that's not MacMillan's fault. He is a good coach and he will remain. I suppose the reason for our defeats has been poor material. But the boys are trying and that's all we can expect."

Detroit Lions Swamp Coast Eleven, 67-14

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—The Detroit Lions, National professional football champions, romped to a 67 to 14 victory over the Westwood Cubs, titleholders of Los Angeles league before 16,000 fans today.

Scoring their first touchdown within five plays of the opening kickoff, when Caddel ran sixty yards to the goal on a reverse from Ace Gutowsky, the Detroiters entertained the crowd with a fund of trick plays ranging from double lateral-forwards to Dutch Clark's two unsuccessful attempts to drop kick converting points with his left, instead of right foot.

The Lions totaled twelve first downs to none. With Ernie Caddel doing most of the fast foot work they scored three times on touchdowns by Caddel, three times when Presnell crossed the line, twice on bucks by Gutowsky with one touchdown apiece by Christensen and Clark.

The two touchdowns by the Cubs were scored on flukes. In the third quarter with the score 54 to 0 Presnell fumbled on a trick play, and Boyer, a guard for Westwood, recovered and ran it six yards to the 1 yard line. Joe Keeble bucked over on next play. Red Sargent recovered a loose ball within eight yards of the Lions' goal in the fourth period and ran it across for another touchdown.

PACKERS WIN, 61-7.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Trailing after less than four minutes of play, the Green Bay Packers professional football team put on the pressure and administered a 61 to 7 beating to Victor McLaglen's Lighthorse team of Los Angeles today.

Irvine [Cotton] Warburton, former Southern California star, put the Lighthorse eleven out in front when he picked up a Packer fumble on his own 7 yard line, and, with a brilliant bit of open field running, galloped ninety-three yards to a touchdown.

BROTHER-IN-LAW OF RUTH DIES IN 15 STORY PLUNGE

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Eugene Merrett, a brother-in-law of George Herman [Babe] Ruth, fell to his death today from a bedroom window of Ruth's 15th floor apartment on Riverside drive.

The Ruths, Merrett and another brother-in-law, Hubert Merrett, had been living in the apartment, an eleven room establishment, for the last four months. The Ruths now are in Florida.

Merrett, 43 years old and single, had been employed by the Manhattan and Hudson railroad. Detective William Harris said he had been informed Merrett was ill of pleurisy and grippe. Police surmised he went to the window for air, became dizzy, and fell.

The body, clad in pajamas, was found in a rear courtyard.

Jimmy Hines Wins $5,000 Coast Open

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Jimmy Hines of Garden City, N. Y., won the Los Angeles $5,000 open golf championship today wit ha 72 hole total of 280. It was even par.

With a gallery of 5,000 watching him, Hines came in four strokes ahead of Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., professional, and Jimmy Thomson of Ridgewood, N. J.

Hines' victory was worth $1,500 and was his second in a week in southern California's winter tournaments. He won the Riverside $3,000 open last Sunday.

Mark Fray, Oakland, Cal., and Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., had 285, and a stroke behind was Horton Smith, Chicago.

Fades Near End.

Hines played subpar golf during 54 holes of the tournament, then fell off. He entered the last 36 holes with 137 and shot a sparkling 69 in the morning round, but overshot par by four strokes this afternoon.

Highly nervous, Hines landed in traps on the long 17th and 18th holes, losing a stroke on the former and two on the latter.

Picard, missing a chance to overcome the wilting leader, took a 75 on the final 18. One of the low scorers among the nation's pros in 1935, he split $1,300, second and third place money, with Thomson.

Ghezzi, the defending Los Angeles open champion, rallied after a dismal second round, and turned in a 72—69 for the final 36. He divided $700 with Fry, the only west coast golfer to land in the money.

Smith Gets $250.

Smith collected $250 in sixth place and Byron Nelson got $200.

Driving over a tough course lengthened 350 yards from the first day of play, two other favorites fell by the wayside. Harry Cooper and Harold McSpaden, who went into the championship round in the runner-up bracket, finished with 289 and 290, respectively.

Windsor and C. Y. O. Hocky Teams Tie, 3-3

The C. Y. O. Shamrocks, playing the first of their six amateur hocky games at the Chicago Stadium, yesterday tied the Windsor, Ontario, Motors, 3 to 3, before a crowd of 12,000.

With thirty seconds remaining, Eddie Janelle drove in the third Shamrock goal and sent the battle into ten minutes of overtime, which merely provided the crowd with a little more action than they anticipated.

Windsor Opens Scoring.

The Windsors scored in 4:05 of the first period and from then on the Shamrocks had to spend their time trying to catch up. Before the opening period was over the C. Y. O. evened the score at one all. In the second period the Windsors netted the puck in 8:50, and thirty seconds later the Chicago team again tied the score. Four minutes later Windsor was back in front and then came Janelle's last second goal.

Two Shamrocks Injured.

Wilber Savela of the Shamrocks was carried off the ice with a spine injury. X-rays will be taken today to learn the extent of his hurts. Gerald Democko of the Shamrocks suffered a broken nose in the first period, but played to the finish. Lineup:

A weekly program of midget auto racing will be inaugurated at the Chicago Riding club, 333 East Erie street, Wednesday evening, Jan. 22, according to an announcement made yesterday by Charles Goldblatt, secretary of the newly formed race drivers association. Ten events will be run with a forty lap race as the main attraction.

Boston Whips Rangers, 6-3, Before 14,000

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins turned on the favored New York Rangers tonight and scored a decisive 6 to 3 triumph. A crowd of 14,000 saw the Beantown skaters ring up two goals in the first period and then add three more in the second. They held a 3 to 0 lead before Frank Boucher scored the first Ranger goal and were never headed. Lineup:

Women Tennis Stars to Meet in Pro Battle

The appearance of Mrs. Ethel Burkhart Arnold and Jane Sharp at the International amphitheater Wednesday as members of the Bill Tilden tennis troupe will mark the first time in a decade that women professionals have appeared here. Ten years ago Suzanne Lenglen and Mary K. Browne made their professional debut at the Coliseum, and a capacity crowd turned out to witness the match.

Mrs. Arnold and Miss Sharp will be silhouetted against a background of such world court figures as Tilden, Ellsworth Vines, George Lott, and Lester Stoefen. The remainder of the cast comprises Bruce Barnes and Berkeley Bell, a pair of Texans. Bell quit the amateur ranks a month ago.

Vines to Play Stoefen.

Much interest is attached to the match between Mrs. Arnold and Miss Sharp, although the singles encounter featuring Vines and Stoefen is booked as the top event.

Mrs. Arnold gained international fame last summer when she defeated England's Kay Stammers to clinch American defense of the Wightman cup. However, she has had little experience on boards, and has been having difficulty adapting her game to the hard surface.

Mrs. Arnold Ranked No. 2.

Miss Sharp, on the other hand, won the 1935 national indoor tournament. The rankings announced the other day by the U. S. L. T. A. placed Mrs. Arnold No. 2 and Miss Sharp No. 15.

Maccabees Beat Viennas, 2-0, in Tourney Final

The Macabees of the Chicago Soccer league defeated the Viennas of the international division, 2 to 0, in the finals of the seven-a-side indoor soccer tournament yesterday at the 132d Infantry armory, Madison and Rockwell streets. Sixteen teams competed on the miss and out system.

Play was even for the first 10 minutes. Then Molvey took advantage of a slip by Otte to score from a scrimmage. The Viennas pressed hard to tie in the early part of the second period, Fisher saving several hard drives. With only two minutes to play, the Macabees clinched the game as Pearlman beat Handler for the second goal. Lineup:

MACABEES [2].		VIENNAS [0].
Fisher	G	Handler
Henney	R. B.	Otte
Art. Waldron	L. B.	Preiss

New York Rovers Beat Pittsburgh Hocky Team

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The New York Rovers defeated the Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets here today, in an Eastern Amateur Hocky league game, 3 to 1, before a crowd of more than 12,000.

39 ARE PICKED ON U. S. OLYMPIC FENCING SQUAD

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—A squad of 39 members, composed largely of eastern fencers, has been selected as the nucleus of the team which will represent the United States in the fencing competition of the eleventh Olympic games at Berlin Aug. 1 to 16.

In selecting the squad, the Olympic fencing committee rated the eastern candidates on the basis of their showing in the last two national meets. Additional credit will be given to fencers rating high in this year's nationals and the Olympic tryouts.

Midwestern or far western candidates, who were not selected on the point scoring system, will be entitled to a place on the Olympic team if they place first to sixth in the national meets. There will be no Olympic tryouts for the western members of the squad.

ST. CYR WINS 8TH IN ROW; DEFEATS SETTERS, 18-17

Hughes Beats Damen in K. of C. League.

St. Cyr started its drive for the second half title in the West Division Knights of Columbus Basketball league yesterday by defeating Setters, 18 to 17, before a capacity crowd at St. Philip's gym. It was the eighth in a row for St. Cyr. Ray Delarme, Setters forward, was fouled at the final gun and awarded two free throws. He made the first, but the second, which would have tied the score, rolled out. Carroll, Cardinal and Hughes also won, the latter defeating Damen, 37 to 26. Scores:

30,000 CHEER FINAL RACES FOR SILVER SKATES

Albert Hardy Wins Men's Senior Event.

awards were silver and bronze medals. These also were the prizes in the other six Derbies.

Hardy's time for the two miles was 7 minutes 34 seconds, remarkably fast for the condition of the ice after hundreds of skaters had slashed the six lap to the mile course with their sharp blades.

Oconomowoc Girl Wins.

Silver Skates in the girls' senior division were won by Maddy Horn from Oconomowoc, Wis. The other winners were from the Chicago area. Honors in the girls' junior division went to Bunny Lawlor of the Catholic Youth organization. Joe Verbeke, also of the C. Y. O., won in the boys' junior division.

In the boys' intermediate class Bob Heckenbach of the Northwest Skating club came home first, and the boys' juvenile division was led by Walter Baron, unattached, of Wilmette. Kenner S. Sale Jr. of the Norwegian-American Athletic association, won in the boys' midget class.

C. Y. O. Wins Nine Prizes.

The C. Y. O. squad, which was coached by Pete Miller, won nine of the 35 major prizes, including two pairs of silver skates. Team strength defeated the Northwest Skating club and the Norwegian-American A. A., each of which won one championship.

Particularly pleasing to the sponsors of the Derbies was the showing of Chicago's younger skaters. Frank Connors of Meyering playground took second place in the boys' midget Derby and Irving Wickman of Byrne Athletic field was second in the boys' junior class. Hawthorne playground and Pickard playground also were represented in the award of major prizes. Sixteen teams and cities were represented in the standings and only four of the 35 places in the finals went to unattached Chicago contestants.

Run Off 97 Races.

Yesterday's races began promptly at 1 o'clock with the first of 27 preliminaries in the boys' intermediate division. Between that hour and 5:45, when the men's senior championship was decided as huge lights flooded the course, there were 75 preliminaries run off, 15 semi-finals and the seven title events. That these 97 races took longer than the program of 187 on Saturday afternoon was due entirely to the distances, since the younger boys did not skate farther than 440 yards on Saturday.

In the two days 284 races were held in which 2,274 boys and girls of the registered 4,596 competed. The number of races and number of contestants far exceed any previous record in the 19 year history of Silver Skates.

Ideal for Fans.

This mark might have been better, since 57 per cent of the contestants reported on Saturday, except for the warm weather. Only hours of diligent work by a force of 100 workmen in the morning prevented postponement. The warm sun, however, was ideal for the spectators. A brisk wind helped keep the course free of water, but the more inexperienced skaters had difficulty with the rough ice.

The peak of attendance was reached at the time Gen. John V. Clinnin, referee of the meet, called the first of the semi-finalists to the mark.

Following the championships the prizes and team trophy were presented to the winners by Judge Walter P. Steffen. George W. Sonnenleiter, who has served at every Silver Skates race, was custodian of prizes.

SNYDER WINS 40 LAP AUTO RACE; MILLS IS SECOND

Jimmy Snyder beat Curly Mills to win the forty lap feature auto race last night at the 124th Field Artillery armory before a crowd of 6,500. Snyder, Mills, and Warren all were bunched for five laps, then Snyder pulled out by a slight margin when Mills and Warren bumped their cars on the north end. The latter lost a half lap and Snyder went on to win. Harry McQuin took third money and Warren made up much ground to finish fourth.

Only four cars finished in the sixth race, with Chuck Niesel winning the heat. Eight cars started and four were eliminated because of accidents. Dan Burns turned over on the north turn, wrecking his car, but escaping with only a few scratches.

Results:

First race—12 laps—Won by Jimmy Snyder; Pat Warren, second; Curly Mills, third. Time, 2:47.

Second race—12 laps—Won by Tony Willman; Wally Zale, second; Paul Russo, third. Time, 2:49.

to sprawl. As the puck hit the nets Kendall went headlong into the end boards. He was stunned, but after a time arose to acknowledge the plaudits of the crowd, which later booed his team.

One Good Alibi Wasted.

While Kendall sparkled in the aforesaid maneuver, he, to some extent, joined the herd of goats, for he passed out to Joliat from behind the cage to enable Joliat to make that unassisted, tying goal.

The Hawks played the game without the services of Paul Thopmson, their leading scorer, and Art Wiebe, listed as a defense man. Both were injured in a game last Thursday. If the Hawks never had been ahead you might blame it on the absence of Paul and Art. But as the game was played, just skip that alibi, please.

If the Hawks had held their lead, they would have passed the Rangers for second place. As it was they bogged further in third, a mere half game behind the cellar occupants, the Bruins, who rose up to lick the Rangers, 6 to 3.

Quite Swift, eh Abner?

The lads skated with considerable speed during the first period, but neither side could accomplish a goal. The Hawks were especially disappointed at not being able to score for the Canadiens were operating with Goldsworthy and Frew in the penalty box simultaneously.

Karakas made 12 stops to six for Cude during the first period, but the Hawks developed the more exciting chances. In fact Gottselig slapped the puck into the net only to learn that the red light so touched off didn't count. Referee Rodden had tooted his whistle.

The second period prior to Kendall's accomplishment was rather tame. For instance, Karakas had to make only three stops. Cude made only seven.

The third period was tragic for Maj. F. McLaughlin, Mgr. C. Loughlin and others wrapped up in the Hawks.

BLUE RIBBONS TAKE BOWLING LEAD WITH 3,184

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—The Pabst Blue Ribbons of Chicago took first place in the nineteenth annual interstate bowling tournament today with 3,184. They replaced the Monarch Beers, also of Chicago, who had taken the lead earlier in the day with 3,033.

Adolph Carlson led the Blue Ribbons with 727. Their games were 1,098, 1,045, and 1,041.

GOLDEN GLOVES EXAMINATIONS TO OPEN NEXT WEEK

Boxers to Be Notified by Letter.

The first medical examination for Golden Gloves boxers who have registered for the ninth annual sectional tournaments sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE will be held one week from tomorrow evening [Jan. 21] at Trafton's gymnasium, 180 West Randolph street. Unless you receive a letter of instructions this week do not report for this examination.

Letters will be mailed out on Wednesday or Thursday to the boxers who must report Jan. 21. The hours of the examination and other directions will be given.

Approximately 700 boys will be assigned to this first examination. Each will receive, in addition to the letter of instructions, a blank which must be signed by parent or guardian giving permission for competition in Golden Gloves. No boxer will be examined without turning in this card properly signed.

Entries Close Jan. 31.

Those boys who are unable to report when assigned may report for any other examination as long as parental consent cards are brought to that examination.

At least one and possibly two more medical examinations will be held next week at Trafton's gymnasium. Two examinations will be held the following week and one of these probably will be for entries from the Catholic Youth organization. No entry will be accepted after Jan. 31 and all contestants will be examined by Feb. 4, so that programs may be prepared for the west side and south side sectional tournaments.

West Side First.

The west side tournament will open Feb. 10 at the Madison Athletic club, 4711 West Madison street. The south side tournament will start Feb. 11 at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. Both tournaments will require five days and will be continued the following week. The north side trials are scheduled for Loyola university gymnasium, Loyola avenue and Sheridan road, on Feb. 18, 19, and 20.

The Golden Gloves medical examinations will be conducted by the staf of physicians which has been responsible for this phase of the tournaments for several years. Among this group are Dr. William Rothman, Dr. Edward H. Rategan, Dr. Harold Marsh, Dr. Clarence T. Plaut, Dr. James J. Callahan, Dr. Ernest R. Stoehr, Dr. James Walsh, Dr. George W. Andrews, Dr. J. V. Russell, and Dr. Benjamin Turman.

STELLA WALSH REFUSES TO RUN IN A. A. U. MEET

Cleveland, O., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Stella Walsh, famed track star, asserted today she would not compete next month in the national A. A. U. indoor meet at St. Louis.

She further declared she never again would participate in events directed by Dr. Norman Rathert, president of the St. Louis Girls' Athletic club.

"I am not taking part in indoor meets because of the Olympics," said Miss Walsh. "There is the chance I might go stale. I don't want to train too early."

She recalled unsuccessful efforts of St. Louis meet officials last year to have her suspended from further A. A. U. competition because she canceled a return engagement with Helen Stephens, Fulton, Mo., schoolgirl, who defeated her in the 50 meter dash.

"I don't want anything to do with Dr. Rathert," she said. "He put out a lot of false stories about me. I will never compete in meets he has anything to do with."

Miss Walsh maintained she declined the return engagement with Miss Stephens because the event would have interrupted her studies for final school examinations.

YALE SQUAD TO NUMBER 5 FOR ARTILLERY GAME

Yale university will bring a squad of five players for its polo game with Fort Sheridan at the 124th Field Artillery armory Jan. 30, according to advices received here yesterday by Col. C. C. Haffner Jr., western vice president of the Indoor Polo Association of America. The Yale roster will include Robert E. Lee Wilson, team captain; Peter and Bayard Dominick, William B. Rand Jr., and Harry C. Royale.

Wilson and Pete Dominick were members of the team which won the national collegiate outdoor title last year. Bayard Dominick's indoor performance recently earned him a boost in ratings from one goal to three.

PLAN AND AGREEMENT OF REORGANIZATION
General Theatres Equipment, Inc.

DATED AUGUST 31, 1935.

Notice of Extension

The Reorganization Committee has extended the time for making deposits under the above Plan to February 1, 1936. Those who have not yet deposited may avail themselves of the benefits of the Plan by depositing their securities within such period. Only holders of securities and claims who deposit under the Plan will be entitled to the benefits thereof.

As previously advised, the Plan has received the approval of the Chancery Court of Delaware, and is subject to the continuing supervision of that Court.

None of the holders of certificates of deposit for debentures deposited under the Deposit Agreement dated February 10, 1932 has withdrawn from the Plan. More than 56% of the debentures are now subject to the Plan and the holders of over 90% of the unsecured claims have deposited or agreed to deposit under the Plan. The total of such debentures and claims and of the claims of the Chase National Bank (which has agreed to participate in the Plan on the conditions stated therein) is more than 73% of all allowable claims against the Company to be adjusted under the Plan. Voting trust certificates for preferred stock and common stock of the Company have also been deposited under the Plan in substantial amounts.

The Plan has received general commendation and approval. Standard Statistics Company, Inc. and The Fitch Investors Service have recommended to their subscribers the deposit of securities under the Plan and it is understood that Moody's Investors Service has also recommended the Plan to its subscribers.

It is the opinion of the Reorganization Committee that debentureholders and other creditors who participate in the Plan and Agreement will realize much more than they would receive in distribution in the receivership proceedings in Delaware, and that holders of voting trust certificates for stock of the Company will receive nothing in any such distribution.

The Committee urges the holders of securities and claims not yet deposited to deposit the same promptly.

Copies of the Plan and Agreement of Reorganization and of the forms to be used in making deposits may be obtained from the Committee's Secretary or its Depositary.

WILSON & CO. YEAR'S PROFIT BEST ON RECORD

Earnings Equal to $1.08 a Share.

Wilson & Co., last of the "Big Four" packers to issue its annual report, last night reported earnings of $4,109,539, or $1.08 a share on the common stock after preferred dividend requirements in the fiscal year ended Oct. 26, 1935. This was the largest profit since the present company was organized in 1926. It compares with $3,833,461, or 94 cents a share on the common for the preceding year.

E. F. WILSON.

Edward Foss Wilson, president, in a letter to stockholders, said that physical volume handled was less than 5 per cent lower despite a reduction of 18 per cent from the previous year in the total quantity of live stock available.

Sales aggregated $223,000,000, the best since 1930, and 24 per cent more than the $180,000,000 reported a year ago.

Cheers Court's AAA Ruling.

The Supreme court decision of Jan. 6 knocking out the agricultural adjustment act and the processing taxes on hogs, said Wilson, should make possible an early settlement of the company's injunction suit against collection of the taxes and "should remove the uncertainties that have existed in pork operations.

"The processing tax, together with a reduction of 35 per cent in hog volume, disturbed conditions in this industry during the past year. Early in the year some pork packers and other processors seemed inclined to doubt the validity of the taxes and apparently neglected to consider the tax in their operations.

"As hundreds of suits were commenced and injunctions issued, these doubts in many cases became a conviction that the current processing taxes would never be collected. These and other circumstances made it extremely difficult, and at times impossible, to carry on pork operations on a profitable basis."

Taxes Set Aside.

"We have set aside each month the full amount of processing taxes accruing," he added, calling attention to the balance sheet which shows $4,017,924 accrued including interest, with $3,501,348 cash deposited in escrow, and a balance of $516,576 as a liability at the end of the fiscal year.

As of Jan. 1, accrued processing taxes amounted to approximately $5,500,000. If this huge fund should be retrieved by the company it would be equivalent to $1.80 a share on the common stock after allowance for a full year's interest on the $6 preferred stock issued in the recapitalization a year ago.

Current assets of $36,547,330 included $23,226,479 inventories and $2,570,694 cash, compared with $34,289,841 a year ago, including $21,444,675 inventories and $3,090,589 cash. Current liabilities aggregated $9,338,957, compared with $8,260,613 a year ago.

Gross Earnings Rise.

Gross earnings for the year were $6,966,476, compared with $6,802,446 the preceding year. Depreciation charges were $1,367,666, against $1,317,169. Interest charges, to be reduced by the refunding, were $1,121,209, against $1,127,472 the preceding year.

Wilson said that important developments have been made in the company's research laboratories during the year in production of gelatine, improvement of casings and new uses for them, use of blood in plastics, use of animal hair for insulation and filtration purposes as well as in pharmaceutical fields in connection with animal glandular derivatives. A complete new bakery laboratory was opened here during the year.

M. A. Dunham, Former SEC Agent, Joins Chicago Firm

Mark A. Dunham, formerly assistant chief accountant investigator of the securities and exchange commission, has become associated with Tylman, Pond & Co., Chicago accountants, it was announced yesterday. Dunham, who prior to going with the SEC was engaged in the practice of accountancy in Boston, last year participated in a number of Chicago SEC hearings.

Cost of Living Reported in 0.6 Per Cent Increase

The national industrial conference board estimates that living costs showed a further increase of 0.6 per cent from November to December, the largest advance being noted in food prices. At the close of 1935, declared the survey, living costs were 5 per cent higher than in December, 1934, and 18.6 per cent higher than in April, 1933.

Jewel Tea Sales for Four Weeks Rise 9.47 Per Cent

Sales of the Jewel Tea company, Inc., for the four weeks ended Dec. 28 were $1,557,101, an increase of 9.47 per cent over the $1,422,412 for the corresponding weeks of 1934. For the full year the company's sales amounted to $18,731,525, compared with $17,161,452 in 1934, an increase of 9.15 per cent.

Silver Policy of U. S. Called Costly Failure

New York, Jan. 12.—[Special.]—The silver purchase act of 1934 has accomplished none of the purposes that it was supposed to accomplish and should be revised or repealed, according to Handy & Harman, leading bullion brokers, whose annual review of the silver market will be published tomorrow.

"If one desires a record of complete failure to bring about international coöperation in the wider use of silver as a monetary metal, it is only necessary to review the happenings of the past year," the review declares. "Demonetization of silver coinage occurred, or was threatened throughout the world, and China and Hongkong, the only important adherents to the silver standard, abandoned that standard in favor of managed currencies.

Plays Commodity Rôle.

"In the matter of stabilizing foreign exchange, it is no doubt true that large purchases of silver by the United States, in lieu of other imports from abroad, tended to counteract a rising tendency on the part of the dollar in terms of foreign currencies. But the part played by silver in this connection was merely that of a commodity. Considered as an exchange medium, we question whether even the most rabid proponent of silver for such purpose would argue that stability had been created by the use of a metal whose price went from 55 cents to 81 cents during the first four months of 1935 and down to 49¾ cents by the end of the year.

"With regard to world trade, statistics indicate that our commerce with China has declined as a result of the Chinese financial and commodity price situation, occasioned chiefly by silver purchases. Even more important is the fact that the United States buying program has alienated from this country the good will of China, the cultivation of which has been fostered for many years.

Effect on Tobacco.

"That the silver purchase act was not accomplishing its avowed purpose in furthering the export of American farm produce was recognized by the Tobacco Association of the United States in its protest recorded last summer.

"With the exception of the mining group, domestic industrial activity has not been stimulated by higher silver prices; in fact, the silversmiths and jewelers have been adversely affected, and they attempted to protect themselves against a rising market by proposing an amendment to the silver purchase act. A comparison of amounts of silver consumed by the arts and industries in the United States and Canada during 1935 and 1934 supports this statement.

"There is no evidence that the large accretions of silver in the United States monetary stocks have affected either the currency or the domestic price level. To the contrary, those who advocated inflation by the silver route have complained that the silver purchase act is ineffective from this standpoint.

No Ends Attained.

"Which, then, of the many purposes that this act was supposed to accomplish, have been attained? Our answer is, none; unless, perhaps, the increased subsidy to domestic producers should be included. But what a price to pay in terms of foreign financial dislocations and loss of good will, when the same result could have been achieved so much more cheaply.

"Even in the matter of complying with the mandate of the law, to increase the United States' silver holdings until they equal one-third of the gold stocks, but little progress has been made. At the time of the inception of the silver purchase act, the treasury was short of the required amount by some 1,308,000,000 ounces. Nineteen months later, after buying over 843,000,000 ounces the silver holdings were still short of the goal by 1,075,000,000 ounces, based on year-end gold stocks of $10,122,880,000."

CHICAGO TRADE RISES AFTER SUPREME COURT KNOCKS OUT AAA ACT

The Supreme court knockout of the Agricultural Adjustment act acted as a temporary damper on buying at the current wholesale markets but the effect lasted only a day or two and orders came pouring in at a rapid pace thereafter, observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday.

Heavy orders cleared over the desks of Chicago wholesalers for furniture, draperies, floor coverings and other wares featured in the current trade exhibits. Both the American Furniture Mart and the Merchandise Mart reported unusually large registrations of buyers, attendance in the single week being heavier than for the entire two weeks of the events last year. Likewise, sales were decidedly up, despite the first reaction to the AAA decision.

Retail trade again struck a faster pace after the letdown caused by unfavorable weather in the preceding week. Essentials such as clothing and shoes were in particularly good demand.

Pay rolls continued to mount as Chicago forged ahead industrially. Electrical manufacturers, steel producers and others in durable goods lines were considerably more optimistic. Railroads and utilities serving the city reported volume ahead of this time a year ago.

UTILITIES ACT APPEAL WILL BE HEARD TODAY

Charlotte, N. C., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Government and utilities will match wits again tomorrow in their legal chess game over the public utilities holding company act.

The Circuit Court of Appeals will hear an appeal of Burco, Inc., from a Baltimore decision upholding the contention of American States Public Service company that the act is unconstitutional. The government, as "friend of the court," will argue the court has no jurisdiction to hear the case.

While the utilities hope to place the act's constitutionality before the Supreme court in the American States case "in March," the government is pressing its suit against the Electric Bond and Share company in New York.

Government lawyers said today they plan to challenge the jurisdiction of the Supreme court in the American States case, and hope to bring the Electric Bond and Share case as the first high court test of the law "late this session or early in the next session of the court."

Grains Rally After AAA Death Ruling

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Junking of the agricultural adjustment program by the United States Supreme court and the definite limitations which the decision placed on future farm relief schemes overshadowed all other developments last week in Chicago grain markets.

The first result of the decision was general confusion on the Chicago Board of Trade. Before the full import of the ruling was apparent prices of wheat and other grains declined moderately. On the day following the decision, however, the market recovered its balance and radical price readjustments which were predicted in some quarters if an adverse decision was given, failed to materialize.

Removal of the processing tax on wheat had no noticeable effect on the prices of cash wheat nor on the May future, which will mature before another crop is harvested in this country.

Price Spread Widens.

The most significant development was the widening of the price spread between the May future and new crop deliveries. The May contract, an old crop month, had been selling at a substantial premium over the July and September futures because of the favorable prospects for the winter wheat crop, which will be harvested in another six months.

It was generally believed that the lifting of restrictions on acreage would result in the seeding of a larger area to spring wheat. There now exists an acute shortage of the types of wheat grown in the spring wheat territory and this is likely to act as an added incentive for larger plantings this year.

The decision was followed by an immediate reduction in flour prices to give effect to the removal of the tax which amounted to approximately $1.38 a barrel. The price cut, however, failed to stimulate flour sales to the extent that had been anticipated.

Sales Increased.

Sales of flour increased and millers removed hedges through purchases of wheat in the futures markets but these operations were not as important a market factor as they were expected to be.

Closing prices for the week were moderately below final quotations on the preceding Saturday. The changes, however, were not so decisive as to indicate any drastic readjustment in values as a result of the invalidation of the AAA.

4 MORE RAILROADS TO START PICKUP, DELIVERY SERVICE

Four more railroads operating out of Chicago will start free pickup and delivery service for freight on Jan. 20, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday. The roads offering the service are the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, the Monon, Wabash and the Alton. The Illinois Central system had previously announced pickup and delivery service to all points on its lines.

Extension of the service to the roads mentioned will afford delivery service for Chicago shippers to all points on the Louisville and Nashville, Mobile and Ohio, Frisco, Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, Illinois Central and several short lines.

The commerce association said that other carriers are expected to establish the service soon. Under the arrangement the Belt Railway of Chicago will pick up freight of any weight without charge from any industry in the Chicago industrial area regardless of destination. The association has worked for several years to bring about such a coördinated service.

STEEL COMPANY CLEARS ARREARS ON PREFERRED

Continental Steel corporation announced yesterday that directors on Saturday cleared up arrears on the preferred stock by declaring a dividend of $10 a share, payable Feb. 15. While no official action was taken, it was reported that a dividend of 50 cents a share on the common stock will be declared on or before April 1.

Officials said that sales during 1935 were as large as in the peak year of 1929 and that earnings were approximately the same as in 1928, which were the largest in the company's history.

WALL ST. AGAIN IN SPECULATIVE FRAME OF MIND

Many Factors Unite to Aid Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 12.—Various developments of a "constructive" nature, among them, the Supreme court decision upsetting the New Deal agricultural program as represented by the AAA, passage of the "inflationary" soldier bonus bill by the house, and trade indices evidencing continued business recovery have combined over the week to put the Wall street speculative community once more in a predominantly bullish frame of mind.

The stock market averages rose 2⅝ points after the announcement of the high court's latest decision on administration recovery schemes, rounding out the week within a fraction of the high level they reached at the apex of the long five months' advance last November. The ruling raised hopes in some quarters that the TVA, which represents the New Deal experiment in government production and sale of electric power, would go the way of other New Deal policies to reach a final constitutional test when the court meets again Monday.

Stirs Interest in Utilities.

The immediate effect of this anticipation was to revive speculative interest in public utility issues, particularly in the shares of corporations directly in the line of judgment, such as Commonwealth and Southern, which faces the prospect of being wiped off the books unless the so called "death sentence" clause of the control act is set aside.

The bonus bill, with its implications of an early and substantial increase in the amount of money in circulation, had a particularly stimulating effect on the shares of corporations in the farm implement, mail order, and other fields where a good part of the bonus funds are expected to be spent.

Devaluation Rumor.

Another development contributing to the fresh upsurge of inflationary sentiment during the week was a cable report from abroad to the effect that President Roosevelt was preparing further devaluation of the dollar. Some color was lent to this rumor a day or two later when Mr. Roosevelt issued a proclamation extending the period granted by congress for debasing the monetary unit if he deems such a move fit.

Trading in stocks was on the broadest front since 1929. On Wednesday a total of 967 separate issues were traded in, an aggregate which compares with the record of 974 made in November, 1929.

Industrials were again the leaders. The rails perked up and the mining shares improved substantially.

STANDARD BANK PAYS DEPOSITORS IN FULL TODAY

Checks for a final payment of 17 per cent to depositors of the Standard National bank, 7919 South Ashland avenue, will be available today on presentation of receiver's certificates.

Depositors previously had received 90 per cent of their claims, the extra 7 per cent above full payment being for interest since the bank closed June 21, 1932. All checks not called for within 10 days will be forwarded to the office of the controler of the currency in Washington, according to Receiver H. E. Hallenbeck.

Stockholders, who paid $49,312 on a liability assessment of $150,000, will receive $25,000 cash plus other assets not liquidated. The latter has a book value of $68,000 but their actual value is believed to be considerably less.

New York Bank Deposits Gain 14% Last Year

New York, Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Deposits of leading New York banks rose 13.8 per cent and their total resources increased 11.6 per cent in 1935, a comparison of the aggregate figures of seventeen clearing house banks as of Dec. 31, with the figures for the same banks as of the close of 1934, show. In the final quarter of the year the banks gained 4.4 per cent in deposits and 4.2 per cent in total resources.

Deposits of the seventeen banks at the end of last year were $10,833,761,153, an increase of $453,790,153 compared with Sept. 30 last, and a gain of $1,317,215,000 compared with Dec. 31, 1934. The banks reported aggregate resources of $13,568,383,000, a rise of $501,522,000 in the last quarter of the year and an advance of $1,307,891,000 in the entire year.

Resources Little Changed.

The proportion of total assets held as cash at the end of last year was 30.1 per cent, compared with 28.4 per cent Sept. 30, and 26.3 per cent including government guaranteed obligations on Dec. 31, 1934. Holdings of United States government securities accounted for 29.4 per cent of total assets on Dec. 31, last, against 30.6 per cent Sept. 30, and 30.4 per cent on Dec. 31, 1934.

In spite of the decline in the percentage of assets held as United States government securities and government guaranteed securities, the actual amount of such holdings increased moderately in the year from $3,421,260,000 at the end of 1934 to $3,690,830,000 at the end of 1935. This marked a small decline in the final quarter of the year from $3,696,178,000 on Sept. 30.

Loans, Discounts Big Item.

Next to cash and "governments" the largest asset item was loans and discounts, which equalled 28.9 per cent of total resources at the end of last year, against 28.3 per cent at the end of September, and 28.0 per cent at the close of 1934. The volume of loans and discounts was $3,626,162,000, a gain of $216,760,000 in the last quarter and of $468,568,000 in the year.

Investments other than United States government obligations accounted for 8.4 per cent of total assets on Dec. 31, last, against 9.4 per cent three months earlier and 9.5 per cent a year before. Real estate and allied items came to 2.7 per cent of total assets, against 2.9 per cent at the end of September, and 3.1 per cent a year ago.

Hart Schaffner & Marx Names Richer to Ad Post

Appointment of E. R. Richer as advertising director of Hart, Schaffner & Marx was announced yesterday by Mark Cresap, president and chairman of the board of the clothing concern. Richer resigned last week as sales promotion manager of the Brunswick, Balke, Collender company. Previous to this, he was an assistant advertising manager for Marshall Field & Co. He will assume his new Hart Schaffner & Marx position Feb. 1.

TRACTOR SALES GAIN DESPITE DEATH OF AAA

Steel Output Rises 2 Points to 51½%.

Despite invalidation of the AAA there has been an actual increase in steel releases for tractor and implement makers over the preceding week, the magazine Steel reports.

Production in this field is scheduled at about 350,000 units for January, which is 10 to 15 per cent below December. The industry benefited through late fall production of new models, when the farm market, which takes about one-fourth the output, was at its height.

"The AAA has been a strong factor in bolstering sales of iron and steel products, such as implements, tractors and automobiles," the journal says.

See Loss Neutralized.

"The general opinion is that unless farm prices collapse, which at the moment appears improbable, and if consumption of grains and meats increases with general business improvement, farm income still will remain sufficiently high to neutralize the loss of government checks. Also, the soldiers' bonus is expected to reinforce purchasing of many consumer goods."

Steel demand in general has recovered rapidly since the holidays, operations last week rising 2 points to 51½ per cent of capacity. Chicago reported a gain of 4½ points to 51½ per cent; Pittsburgh, 2 to 40; eastern Pennsylvania, 1½ to 35½, and New England, 8 to 83. Birmingham dropped 15 points to 41 per cent; Cleveland, 12 to 60, and Wheeling, 2 to 68. Other districts were unchanged.

A decline in pig iron production this month is inevitable, the journal says, with producers estimating shipments will be 60 per cent of December.

Market Strength Indicated.

Consumers' stocks are expected to be liquidated my mid-February which will permit resumption of normal buying. While scrap is moving slowly the journal says that in view of the fact that its composite price remains unchanged for the fourth consecutive week, general market strength is indicated and a fresh demand may again lift prices.

Final figures on December steel production show a daily ingot average of 123,272 tons, up 1.6 per cent, the highest for the month since 1928.

Structural shape awards last week increased to 24,216 tons, including 4,500 tons for Inland Steel company's new open harth building at Indiana Harbor, Ind. Bids on 3,000 tons for 17 Illinois bridges have been rejected on the grounds that prices are too high.

The magazine's iron and steel price composite is 2 cents higher at $33.33, due to adjustments in scrap, but the finished steel index remains at $53.70 a ton.

BONDS ADVANCE; REINVESTMENT DEMAND HEAVY

Many New Highs Touched During Week.

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The bond market forged ahead over a broad front during the first full week of 1936. Prices unsurpassed in several years were established by numerous issues in the industrial and utility division, and low priced rails continued to attract buyers at substantially higher levels.

Prominent among the factors credited with sustaining the market in its upward movement was the heavy pressure of year-end funds seeking investment, which were believed in responsible quarters to be the largest since the early days of the depression.

Developments Lack Effect.

Governmental and legislative developments were prominent most of the week, but were not disturbing. The Supreme court upset of AAA lent considerable encouragement to those who look for a similar verdict in the Tennessee valley authority case, shortly to be decided by the high tribunal. Passage of the bonus bill by the house was followed by an extended rally all over the list.

The Associated Press averages for the five major groups took on the form of a sharply rising curve. The 20 rails used in the compilation established new 1935-'36 highs on 4 days in succession and ended the week almost at the top. The 10 utilities did almost as well, and the other groups displayed marked firmness.

U. S. List Neglected.

United States government securities were almost wholly neglected in the great rush of business in the corporate section, but prices maintained a generally steady tone. Indications that the treasury would have to dig up the $1,000,000,000 or so necessary to pay the soldiers' bonus created only a mild flurry of excitement, as did extension of the President's power to devalue the dollar.

Foreign bonds advanced. The Italian group underwent a series of ups and downs in response to war news, but other European and South American issues were mostly higher.

American Superpower Net Income Shows Gain

American Superpower corporation of Delaware had a net income of $460,233 for the year ended Dec. 31, 1935, compared with $346,235 in 1934 and $624,330 in 1933, according to the annual report just released. Total assets on Dec. 31 amounted to $41,075,259, against $42,027,247 a year ago.

Childs Company.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate it very much if you could possibly find time to send me a report on Childs company 5s, due 1943. Thank you for your trouble.—W. J. G.

Answer: Childs company operates 101 restaurants in the United States, including 47 in New York City, and in Canada. Although operations have shown improvement during the last two years, as the result of reduction in lease rentals, discarding of unprofitable outlets and addition of liquor to menus, the company still is faced with a deficiency of working capital and the inability to adjust sales prices upward in proportion to increased costs.

Loss in the first nine months of 1935 was cut to $45,000 from the $81,000 loss reported in the corresponding 1934 period.

In 1934 the company earned only 92 per cent of fixed charges, against a 54 per cent coverage in 1933. In 1932 the company earned 72 per cent of fixed charges, and in 1931 fixed charges were earned 1.34 times.

On Dec. 31, 1934, current assets were $1,191,000, and current liabilities were $1,429,000. The $5,271,000 of 5s, due 1942, are unsecured. Parent company and subsidiary real estate mortgages total $3,229,000.

The debentures are more a speculation than an investment.

Butte and Arizona Copper Mining.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me some information? I bought 115 shares of Butte and Arizona Copper Mining company in 1908. I never hear from them. Thank you in advance.—A. F.

Answer: Butte and Arizona Copper Mining company had 1,250,000 shares of $1 par capital stock outstanding, of which 450,000 shares were issued for its property. It owned 14 claims near Hereford, Ariz. Operations discontinued in 1908. The company was carried along by directors for several years. They advanced the money required to pay taxes and maintain the property.

The company went out of business in 1916, and the land "reverted to the public domain."

We regard the stock as worthless.

Commonwealths Distribution, Inc.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me the address of Commonwealths Distribution, Inc.? It is the new name of the former American Commonwealths Power corporation.—K. G.

Answer: The main office of Commonwealths Distribution, Inc., is 120 Broadway, New York City.

1935 LIVE STOCK IMPORTS OF U. S. GAIN SHARPLY

Cattle Total Is Largest Since 1930.

With the possible exception of 1928, 1929 and 1930, aggregate imports of foreign live stock and meats during 1935 were the greatest since shortly after the world war. Official figures for the entire year are not yet available but it is estimated 400,000 cattle and calves came over the tarif wall in 1935, the largest imports since 1930.

The eleven months' total at 352,000 compared with only 54,700 in the corresponding period in 1934, an increase of 543 per cent. Most of these cattle consisted of feeder stock under 700 pounds, brought in from Canada and Mexico to be fattened on American farms.

Hog Imports Soar.

Hog imports for the eleven months totaled 2,426,755 pounds, the largest since 1928. This compared with only 1,601 pounds imported in 1934. Exports of live hogs for 1935 were less than 1,000 head, the smallest on record.

Imports of meats and meat products in the first eleven months of the year totaled 327,925,974 pounds, against 74,589,449 in the same period of 1934, a gain of 339 per cent. The greatest increase was in beef, imports of which for the eleven months totaled 9,449,720 pounds, compared with 917,309 a year ago, a gain of 930 per cent.

Pork increased over 500 per cent, the 1935 total of 9,257,841 pounds comparing with 1,411,742 in 1934. Canned meat imports soared to 69,774,427 pounds, against 39,500,284 in 1934.

America imported 236,525,481 pounds of beef and mutton tallow in the first eleven months of 1935 and 30,922,740 in 1934, a rise of 665 per cent.

These huge imports of meats and meat products cost American consumers $21,470,071 in 1935, against $5,005,067 in 1934.

Total Down Slightly.

Imports for November at 22,404,922 pounds of meat and meat products compared with 23,530,993 in October and a high of 42,433,420 pounds in May, 1935, when the flow of foreign meats into this country was at its height.

Beef imports in November at 497,410 pounds showed a drop of less than 50,000 pounds from the October total, but were more than 1,000,000 pounds below the high month last summer. Pork imports in November at 1,265,767 pounds compared with 1,212,713 pounds in October and with 1,356,463 pounds at the high time of the summer.

FRANCE SEEKING WAYS TO FOSTER TRADE OF WORLD

Hope for Pact with U. S.; Study Exchange Plan.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 12.—French financial circles are preoccupied at present with the question of promoting international commerce by various means. Wishing for a commercial treaty with the United States, they are listening wistfully to the news of America's final negotiations with Holland, Switzerland and other countries, hoping the next commercial treaty will be Franco-American.

A curious proposal for stimulating international trade is being made by the government adviser for foreign trade, Robert Alterman. He suggests an international check for paying imports. His idea is based on the assumption that stabilizations of American, English, and other moneys are not near.

Rejects Bilateral Pacts.

Alterman rejects bilateral clearing house proceedings between creditor and debtor nations as being nationalistic measures which have for an inevitable result a shrinkage of exchanges. The conclusion, he asserts, is that annihilation of world commerce is on the way.

"Will the world," he asks, "allow world commerce to perish for lack of money, without a medium of exchange and refusal of creditor nations to accept payment in kind?"

A plan to care for this situation has been introduced to the league of nations by Prof. Milhaud. It is called "pluri compensation." Alterman approves it and says: "What at present do governments anxious to preserve commercial balance wish? They want assurance that every dollar of import from abroad is matched by export. This arrangement has been found impossible under bilateral agreements.

Urges System of Exchanges.

"Milhaud's system solves this problem by a return to plurilateral exchanges. Formerly these exchanges were managed by an international clearing house at London. Now they are paralyzed by nonexistence of a means of payment of international scope.

"This latter has been created by Milhaud under the appellation of a compensation check, which is a sort of letter of exchange, negotiable and guaranteed in the originating country by a deposit in the national compensation bank."

For instance, if a Jugo-Slav wished to buy a Spanish product, he would deposit sufficient money, then get in touch with his Spanish representative. The latter, to cash in on the deal, would swap paper with a Spanish dealer wishing to buy a Jugo-Slav product. The proposal is obviously meant to replace the present bilateral clearings with a general international arrangement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, Jan. 12.—The United States government owned Panama railroad had an income of nearly a quarter of a million dollars in the last fiscal year from its properties and land in the cities of Panama and Colon. This shows an increase of more than $3,000 over 1934. A total of 1,453 leases are in effect today.

COTTON MILLS ASKED TO SIGN CODE PROVISIONS

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Dr. Claudius T. Murchison, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, Inc., said tonight that pledges of adherence to provisions of the invalidated NRA cotton code are being sent to operators of some 1,200 cotton mills.

Signatory operators will promise not to exceed the two forty hour shifts a week maximum for productive machinery, not to exceed the forty hour maximum work week for employés, to pay at least code minimum wages, and not to employ child labor.

Dr. Murchison said that in the eight months since the NRA collapse 90 per cent of the active spindles of the industry had preserved the code provisions.

The pledge will be "definite assurance to cotton mill workers that the preponderant majority of the industry is unwilling to return to those manufacturing conditions which resulted in unstable markets, heavy business losses, and periodic unemployment for workers," he asserted. The code cut the industry's average work week from fifty-five to forty hours and boosted hourly wage rates 76 per cent, he said.

FARM MACHINE SALES GAIN.

Sales of agricultural machinery manufacturers during 1935 are estimated to have exceeded 1934 by about 75 per cent, according to the Standard Statistics company, which also states that leading tractor and farm equipment producers are now making plans to take care of additional sales in 1936 of around 25 per cent.

A 1936 OPPORTUNITY TO ENTER Y-O-U-R O-W-N B-U-S-I-N-E-S-S

Would you be interested in starting in business for yourself without one cent of investment on your part?

Well, that is exactly what we have done for many men in this territory.

These men are previous storekeepers, doctors, lawyers, shop workers, mechanics, etc., and are now earning and receiving in percentage as much as $50 a single day.

We are an old line, nationally known manufacturer of electrical units that defy competition and for which there is a constant increasing demand.

Now, here are our requirements: You must be under 50, preferably married, honest, reliable, possess a neat appearance, and possess at least a grammar school education.

At this time we will only interview men living on the South Side of Chicago, northern Indiana, and northeastern Illinois.

Every man answering this advertisement will be given a confidential interview and, if selected, will be trained at our expense in our methods, which are successful.

There are no strings attached to this offer as we even pay rent, light, heat, telephone girl hire, consign your merchandise, and finance your accounts.

Apply Monday only between 1 and 3 p. m. Ask for Mr. Leonard, Suite 404, Maryland Bldg., 63d-st. and Maryland-av.

Are YOU Ready? WE Are!

We're all set to expand and fight for more business in 1936 than we had in 1935, in spite of the fact that 1935 was our biggest year in 12 years.

Our men shared with us bigger percentages than ever before and we know that this will continue. Some made from $40 to $60 a week and many made 3 or 4 times that.

Naturally this required diligent effort, but we are careful to hire those who seek a business of their own and expect to work hard. The elec. unit business has shown tremendous gains and our national reputation has given us a substantial share in those gains. See us today. We have what you want! Mr. Swift will interview you at 10:30 promptly or 2 p. m. promptly, 9 W. Madison-st., Oak Park, corner Austin-blvd. and Madison-st., Suite 250, Prairie State Bank Bldg.

BURNHAM'S
Will Enable You to EARN MORE

The easy-to-learn Burnham System quickly enables you to become a skilled beauty operator. Plenty of living models. You learn by doing rather than by studying. Each teacher a specialist. Fewer pupils per teacher.

SEE FOR YOURSELF WHY MORE GIRLS ENROLL IN BURNHAM'S THAN IN ANY OTHER BEAUTY SCHOOL.

DAY OR EVENING CLASSES.
Pay for MOST of your tuition after graduation. It is to your advantage to register now, even if you cannot start until later. Open every day and on Monday, Wednesday, Friday evenings until 9 p. m.

How to Become a BEAUTY EXPERT

What are your ambitions to be? An "ordinary" mediocre beauty operator trained to work only in the "cheapest" shops at minimum wages? Or—wouldn't you rather be a genuine beauty expert with sufficient training, practical experience and technical knowledge to qualify you for a good paying position in a high class shop?

Unquestionably you want to be an expert and earn more money. DeLEE trains its students to be real experts.

At DeLEE you will receive individual personal instruction, under Madame Louise. You will learn the really fine points of beauty culture and hairdressing in the shortest possible time. Visit DeLEE today.
